HYDE BRANDS FARM FINANCE A "BOOBY" ACT

Robinson Flares at the Epithet.

Washington, D. C., March 29.—[Special.] — Secretary of Agriculture Arthur M. Hyde today called his department the "prize boob in the history of finance," because of its policy of making virtually unsecured loans to farmers in the face of rapidly mounting crop surpluses.

"Under present conditions," Secretary Hyde said "my department is now lending more money on thinner security and sustaining more losses than any organization ever has done before in the history of the world. Loans now being made by my department to small farmers who otherwise could not finance themselves could not by the furthest stretch of the imagination be called good business."

Assails Loan Policy.

The Hyde statement, which promptly elicited a scathing rejoinder from Senator Joseph T. Robinson [Dem., Ark.] senate minority leader, was directed at the farm loan policy under which the agriculture department makes loans to small farmers for economic reasons. He asserted that the government should not go into the business of making loans to farmers except in cases of drought, or floods or calamities growing out of natural causes. The current type of loans are unjustifiable, he said.

At present the department of agriculture is making loans from funds turned over to the department by the reconstruction finance corporation in accordance with the terms of that administration bill when finally approved by congress. According to Mr. Hyde the department is making the loans because of its willingness to give lenient terms whereas the finance corporation refuses to make loans except on a business basis.

The secretary suggested that he was making the agricultural loans rather than the finance corporation because "the finance corporation is doing business on a business basis while loans now being made by my department cannot be called good business."

Would Sell Surpluses.

In loosing his long pent-up indignation Secretary Hyde said he objected to having his department put in the business of making economic loans. He said that he could not see the advantage of making government loans to farmers at a time when the farms are piling up huge surpluses which must be dealt with. His idea, he said, would be to refuse loans to farmers and spend available money in getting rid of the huge surpluses already accumulated.

"The secretary's statement," Senator Robinson said, "indicates that he is not in sympathy with the provisions of the Reconstruction Finance corporation act allotting $50,000,000 of the stock of the corporation to him to be expended for the purpose of making loans and advances to farmers in case of emergency, as a result of which the farmers are unable to obtain loans for crop productions during the year 1932.

"Notwithstanding the secretary's apparent attitude loans to farmers are a material and an essential part of the reconstruction legislation. Manifestly, the security available for such loans is quite different from that usually given in connection with commercial loans. Nevertheless, experience has shown the value of emergency relief through loans to farmers. Of course, the making of such loans will be dispensed with as soon as the emergency has passed."

Sticks to His Guns.

Mr. Hyde stuck by his guns in an interview later when he added to his denunciation of the present farm loan policy by saying that it would stimulate the production of cotton and wheat just at the moment when the nation is satiated with surpluses.

Mr. Hyde pointed out that last year his department loaned $47,500,000 to 250,000 different farmers. Of this amount the farmers have paid back $15,423,000 and the government holds warehouse receipts for $10,413,000. Thus about 55 per cent has been returned.

The secretary declared that the money this year made available for farm loans by congress under the reconstruction finance act may amount to 200 million dollars. He estimated 550,000 loans, totaling $75,000,000, would be made to farmers.

"If these loans are made to small farmers some thought must be given to market conditions next year when these crops are harvested," Mr. Hyde said. "The bulk of the money will

HOUSE REBELS HEED GARNER; TO VOTE LEVIES

TRADE LEADERS FIGHT DISEASE OF OVERTAXING

Send Sharp Warning to Congress.

With a vigorous denunciation of the "disease of overtaxation," business leaders of the middle west yesterday joined in a protest against excessive appropriations by congress. Federal waste and extravagance were attacked in no uncertain terms.

Some fifty representatives of cities in seventeen states attended the meeting which was called by the Chicago Association of Commerce. At the close of the conference in the Hotel La Salle a resolution was adopted which called upon congress to recognize the emergency in national affairs and to avoid taking any steps which might jeopardize the credit of the government.

Sargent Principal Speaker.

Fred W. Sargent, president of the North Western railway, made the principal address. A number of speakers declared that the business and commerce of the nation could not recover unless a balanced federal budget is adopted. The resolution adopted read in part:

"The number of citizens on the public pay rolls and the extraconstitutional activities of governments have grown to a point where the cost in taxes is all out of proportion t. the tax paying ability of the people.

"The income of the people of the United States has declined from 90 billions in 1929 to 52 billions in 1931, and may drop to 30 billions in 1932, while total taxes assessed [federal, state, and local] have increased from 2 billions in 1913 to more than 11 billions in 1931, and may exceed 13 billions in 1.32.

Forty Per Cent for Taxes.

"In other words, total taxes give promise of consuming 40 cents out of every dollar of national income in 1932, against 22 cents in 1931 and 6½ cents in 1913.

"History shows that pauperism and bankruptcy have come to every country which permits its tax burden to become out of proportion to the income of the people. The credit of the United States is being injured by failure to balance the budget through the cutting of expenses rather than increasing of taxes.

"Foreign and domestic trade are languishing because of bewilderment wrought in the minds of the people by the tax burden. Government regulation of and competition with its citizens is rapidly removing billions of dollars of wealth producing property from private ownership, which now pays taxes, to government ownership that is exempt from taxes yet requires an increase of taxes on remaining private property for its maintenance.

Abuse of Overborrowing.

"From time immemorial governments have failed because authorities have abused government credit by overborrowing and because they have refused to reduce government activities and taxes. The disease of overtaxation, competition with and overregulation of the business and private lives of its citizens is an indissoluble factor which is preventing the return of normal spending by the people and the return of prosperity."

A copy of the resolution will be sent to President Hoover and all members of congress. In addition, a com-

Dean Promises Delayed but Happy Ending

New York, March 29.—[Special.]—Declaring that Col. Charles A. Lindbergh "seemed much impressed" with the information he took to the flyer's home at Hopewell, N. J., the Rev. H. Dobson Peacock said today in Norfolk, Va., that he had been authorized to continue negotiations for the recovery of the kidnaped Lindbergh baby.

Despite the statement of the Episcopal clergyman, Col. H. Norman Schwarzkopf, superintendent of New Jersey state police, stood on his assertion that the father of the 21 month old infant, who was stolen from his crib four weeks ago tonight, believes the activities of Mr. Peacock and his associates "of no specific importance in the investigation."

Federal Agents Search Hills.

As the search for the missing infant entered its fifth week, the police had only failure to report in their efforts to locate the hiding place of the kidnapers and it became known that agents of the department of justice had begun an active investigation among residents of the Sourland mountains near Hopewell, where the 352 acre Lindbergh estate is located.

While the federal agents have been engaged in the search since it started, they did not appear in the neighborhood of Hopewell until today when they began examining witnesses, many of whom have been questioned already by state troopers and city detectives coöperating with them.

Night's Work a Mystery.

At each house they visited, the department of justice men informed the occupants that while no one under that roof was suspected a detailed account of what they had done and observed on the night of the kidnaping was wanted. Among those who made depositions during the day were Donald Guinness, a former student of Columbia university, and Miss Teresa Dersi, who said she saw three men, later found to be newsreel photographers, bogged in the lane to the Lindbergh house several days before the commission of the crime on the night of March 1.

While the authorities at Hopewell appeared to be more active than they have been for several days, interest continued to center about the activities of Mr. Peacock and his associates, Rear Admiral Guy H. Burrage, retired, and John H. Curtis, a shipbuilder at Norfolk.

Flies Back to Norfolk.

Mr. Peacock, who spent half an hour with Col. Lindbergh Monday in an effort to convince him that he and his friends were in actual touch with the kidnapers and not victims of a cruel hoax, as the police profess to believe, appeared at the Philadelphia navy yard a little before noon.

From there he took off a little later for Norfolk in a navy plane piloted by Lieut. George L. Richard, who had accompanied him to Hopewell.

The minister did not reveal where he had spent the night but his cryptic replies to questions gave interviewers the impression that he had continued his efforts to get back the missing child during the night.

"Lieut. Richard and I got together during the night," he said, "and as a result of our efforts, I feel that we have accomplished something."

Happy Ending Delayed.

Admitting that the "happy ending" for which he hoped, might be delayed a few days, Mr. Peacock said he might return to Hopewell soon, adding that if he did it would mean "that I have something definite." A few minutes later his plane took off for Norfolk.

His optimism seemed to grow on the

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 29.—[Special.]—Harmony, like a lid, was clapped today upon the house of representatives and its boiling agitation over the new revenue bill.

Speaker John N. Garner was the man who quelled the wrangling membership and put them to work again, with the radicals and the recalcitrant Democrats professing willingness to step into line, temporarily at least, and rest upon the havoc they wrought during their days of revolt.

The speaker took the floor in person, to deliver a speech that was a combination of tempered argument, impassioned plea and camp-meeting exhortation. As he whirled into his peroration, an exalted house membership answered his appeal for those resolved to lead a new life to arise. En masse the congressmen surged to their feet and took the pledge to pass a tax measure that will balance the budget.

Little Debate Over New Taxes.

In this regenerated spirit of rectitude the house received the ways and means committee's list of new taxes to take the place of the defeated sales tax. And before the day was over, taxes designed to produce 196 million, 500 thousand dollars of additional revenue had been approved with little or no argument.

Republican Leader Snell followed the speaker to add a promise that the minority members would do their share of coöperating. And Representatives LaGuardia of New York, Rankin of Mississippi and Doughton of North Carolina, the radical wrecking crew that derailed the original committee bill and turned it into a "soak the rich" bill, now that their work was over, were ready to promise, too, that they would support a budget balancing measure.

O. K. Amendments to Bill.

In quick succession—so quick indeed that Acting Chairman Crisp of the ways and means committee had to stop offering amendments because the drafting clerks had not had time to draw them up—the following new taxes were approved:

On cosmetics, furs, jewelry, sporting goods and cameras, yachts and motor boats, a tax of 10 per cent; on passenger automobiles, trucks, and accessories, taxes of 3, 2 and 1 per cent respectively; on chewing gum, radios, and phonographs and parts, and candy, a tax of 5 per cent, and on matches a tax of four cents per thousand.

These taxes are to fall on manufacturers, producers and importers. They are expected to bring in a total of 168 million 500 thousand dollars, with the taxes on motor vehicles and parts furnishing 57 millions, cosmetics 25 millions, furs 20 millions, jewelry 15 millions, radio and phonographs 11 millions, candy 12 millions, and matches 10 millions of that amount.

Undivided Profits Tapped.

The house also approved the committee's recommendation for the repeal of the provisions in the present tax laws exempting from tax undivided profits acquired prior to 1913. The repeal is expected to bring in another 11 million dollars.

For the amendments still to be passed on include a lowering of the surtax limit which will make surtaxes begin at 1 per cent on incomes of $6,000, instead of $10,000; a lowering of the corporation exemption to $1,000; the repeal of the net loss provisions as applied to the years 1931 to 1933, by which a surplus deficit in one year may be carried over as a deduction from income for two subsequent years.

Levy on Bond Transfers.

Sales of stocks, according to the committee program, are to be taxed at a rate of ¼ of 1 per cent but not less than 4 cents per share; bond transfers are to be taxed at the rate of ½ of 1 per cent; a tax of 10 cents per $100 is to be imposed on capital bond and stock issues, and a tax of 50 cents on conveyances of more than

British Church Tries Pastor as Philanderer

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 29. — The Rev. Harold Davidson, middle aged rector of Stiffkey and father of five children, was brought before the Norwich diocesan court today to answer charges that for ten years he had molested and pursued young girls.

The prosecution in a two-hour opening statement told a story of the preacher haunting tea rooms and holding waitresses' hands and, during a two-year period, of making immoral advances to a girl whom he had picked up in the street when she was 16, friendless and unemployed.

Rector Denies Charges.

The rector entered a complete denial of the charges, which were brought by the Bishop of Norwich. The rector sticks to the story which he used to gain girls' friendships. He styled himself the "stage people's padre," and his reply to the charges is that his work was all for uplift and reform among young girls and women of the street.

Church authorities had the rector trailed by private detectives for months. The prosecution ridiculed the minister's claims and entered a long account of caresses bestowed on unwilling girls in cafés and restaurants and neglect of his home and church. He maintained a room in London, the prosecution charged, to which he came early Monday morning and remained until Saturday night, only appearing in Stiffkey to conduct divine services on the Sabbath. His family is almost destitute and Davidson is an undischarged bankrupt.

A Pretty Blond Is Involved.

The chief charge involves a pretty blond, Barbara Harris. The rector is charged with having accosted her, asking if she was not a film actress, then posing as the girl's uncle, paying her room rent and finally inducing her to live in his room. The girl denies immoral relations with the preacher, but, according to her testimony, Davidson pestered her while she was living in his room.

Another charge involves a girl named Rose Ellis. Davidson is charged with having taken her and Miss Harris to his rectory to work as domestics for his wife without wages. They were forced to walk nearly 100 miles back to London. Miss Harris sought and obtained the protection of a woman, who will be called as a witness, the prosecutor said.

The rector was dressed in street clothes when he met Miss Harris, but made no attempt to conceal his calling.

WITTY EDUCATION ISN'T ANYTHING TO LAUGH OVER!

Victor Witty's school of interior decorating has been broken up, temporarily at least, because all the pupils complained that they never got past the kindergarten stage.

Witty, who is 45 and resides at 5519 Kenwood avenue, was arrested yesterday by Detective Joseph P. Young of the state's attorney's staff, on two charges of operating a confidence game. He will appear today in the Felony court.

The complainants were C. S. Hall, 1331 West 32d street, and Louis Abbott, 7029 Yale avenue. They asserted Witty advertised that for a fee of $15 he would train any able bodied man in the intricacies of interior decorating. After obtaining the fees, they claimed, he took decorating contracts and let his pupils wash walls and sandpaper floors. When it came time to spread paint and hang paper, however, they asserted it was the Witty custom to collect all the professor could from the building owner and leave, forgetting to pay for the labor or to refund the $15 payments.

Democrats in Iowa Ask for Wet-Dry Test

Davenport, Ia., March 29.—[Special.]—The state Democratic convention in session here tonight indorsed a resolution favoring the submission of the prohibition issue to state constitutional conventions.

The resolution was adopted shortly after the state's 26 delegates were instructed to vote for Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York for President at the national convention in Chicago.

Would Abolish Farm Board.

Other resolutions adopted pledge the state's representatives in congress to aid agriculture by tariff revision and reciprocal treaties to open foreign markets to American products and advocate repeal of the farm marketing act and abolition of the federal farm board.

Adoption of the resolution indorsing Roosevelt came after a stormy session in which some members of the convention hurled cries of "railroading."

Ed McManus, Keokuk, said he regarded Roosevelt as a favorable candidate, but demanded to know by what authority the convention could "tie the hands and bind the consciences of the delegates."

Murray Forces Beaten.

The forces of Gov. W. H. [Alfalfa Bill] Murray of Oklahoma offered little opposition. After Roosevelt's victory Murray supporters attempted to make the Oklahoma governor second choice. But the speaker offering the resolution from the floor was howled down. G. A. Stephens of Des Moines, Murray's campaign manager, attended the meeting, but made no direct plea for Murray support.

The national delegation was also instructed to work for the nomination of Gen. M. A. Tinley of Council Bluffs for Vice President.

JOHNS HOPKINS DOCTOR, NURSE TAKE POISON, DIE

Baltimore, Md., March 29.—(AP)—Dr. Fred B. Jennings Jr., 42, an instructor in the medical school of Johns Hopkins university, and Miss Mona O. Rittenhouse, 27, a nurse, who had been caring for him, committed suicide in the physician's apartment tonight by taking a powerful poison. Dr. John J. Morrissey, coroner, gave a suicide verdict in both cases.

The physician, according to the authorities, took poison. The nurse summoned two doctors. As soon as Dr. Jennings was pronounced dead the nurse took some of the same poison and died almost immediately.

$500 in value; sales of produce and farm commodities on exchanges are to be taxed 5 cents per $100; safety deposit box rentals at 10 per cent.

Mechanical refrigerators are to be subject to a 5 per cent excise and the 1921 tax rates on beverages are to be restored.

In addition to the 30 million which it is estimated will be saved by administrative changes in the postal laws, the committee proposed increasing the first class postage rate from 2 to 3 cents, probably with a two year limitation, to obtain an estimated additional 135 million.

Decrease on Admissions.

The committee recommended one decrease. That was in the tax on admissions to amusements. Instead of taxing all admissions of 25 cents and over, which it was estimated would bring in 90 million, it recommended that the tax begin at admissions of 45 cents, with an estimated revenue of 40 million.

And the house, during debate, made a cut on its own account. Reversing its action of a few days ago, it voted down, 64 to 80, an amendment by Representative Robert D. Johnson [Dem., Mo.] which would have done away with allowances for taxes paid abroad.

Boosting previous estimates, the committee, Chairman Crisp announced is counting now on decreases in expenditures of 243 million to make the government's income stretch sufficiently. As the tax bill stood at the end of the day, the original bill as amended to date stood to bring in 427 million, 500 thousand; today's ways and means committee recommendations adopted made a total of 169 million, 500 thousand; or an aggregate of items calculated to produce 597 million so far approved.

Still to Be Approved.

The committee recommendations still to be approved total 218 million, 500 thousand; postal changes total 165 million; revision of the consolidated returns provision, 9 million, a total of 392 million, 500 thousand, yet to be passed on.

With the 243 million to be saved, the grand total is 1 billion, 232 million, 500 thousand, to meet an expected deficit, exclusive of sinking fund requirements, at the end of the fiscal year 1933 of approximately 1 billion, 241 million.

The drama of the day was, of course, when Speaker Garner stepped forward and called out "Mr. Chairman." Republicans and Democrats alike rose and applauded him.

"I have believed and I believe now," said the speaker, "that the highest possible duty that the house could perform for the people of the country during this session was to levy sufficient taxes to sustain the financial integrity of the republic."

That was the message that he gave them, that he hammered at them until they cheered and applauded him for it. He talked without flourishes, scarcely raising his voice. But the house was so still that even the listeners in the back rows of the galleries could hear. He told how the ways and means committee had fixed on a sales tax.

"My reply to that," said the speaker, "was that I had been opposed to a sales tax ever since I had been a member of congress. I am now opposed to a sales tax, but, gentlemen, if I find it impossible to balance this budget and restore the confidence of the world and our own people in our government I would levy any tax, sales or any other kind, in order to do that."

Mr. Garner cast restraint aside. His voice rose in hoarse crescendo as he went on:

"I think more of my country than I do of any theory of taxation that I may have, and the country at this time is in a condition where the worst taxes you could possibly levy would be better than no taxes at all.

Picture Loss of Confidence.

"I appeal to you not only in the name of my party but in the name of my country, that in view of the fact that there has been stricken from this bill more than 500 million dollars of taxation it is your duty, your paramount duty, now to help this house and and this committee to restore some taxes to that bill in order that this country's financial integrity may be maintained."

The speaker pictured the loss of confidence, in the country and throughout the world, that would follow a failure to balance the budget. From now on, he said, he would participate in the debate on the bill. And then he reached the high point of his exhortation.

"Mr. chairman," he said, "may I do an unusual thing? I may be criticized for it, but I want every man and woman in this house who hopes to balance this budget and who is willing to go along with the effort to balance the budget to rise in their seats."

And they did rise, cheering—all except Representative Byrns [Dem., Tenn.], who was to resign before the day was over from the chairmanship of the economy committee, his reason being, it was reported, because he could not secure the coöperation of Speaker Garner and other leaders.

"Now," Mr. Garner went on triumphantly, "those who do not want to balance the budget can rise." No one arose.

"I think this ought to restore to the American people confidence in our country."

TAX ON INCOMES OF $1,000 URGED BY SILAS STRAWN

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 29.—(AP)—Silas H. Strawn, president of the chamber of commerce of the United States, today urged readjustment of the income tax to reach the man with a $1,000 income.

Speaking at a luncheon, Strawn stressed the need of the government meeting its budget and said there is a growing disposition on the part of individuals to resist payment of taxes to the government.

He approved the reconstruction finance corporation's policy of loans.

TRADE LEADERS FIGHT DISEASE OF OVERTAXING

mittee was appointed which will constantly function in an endeavor to further the purposes set forth in the resolution.

The conference indorsed a resolution passed by the board of directors of the United States Chamber of Commerce last week which urged congress to balance its budget by strict economy in expenditures.

"All Europe is waiting to see what this country does," Mr. Sargent told the business leaders. "Unless the people of the United States have the courage to make sacrifices to balance the national budgets we don't know what the ultimate outcome of the depression will be.

"If the United States fails to balance the budget there will be the worst dumping of United States securities, both public and private, in history. If government credits fail, credit of industry must fail.

Must Cut Expenses.

"We have been running riot, allowing criminal negligence in government expeditures. To balance the budget we must cut expenses and appropriations. Fifty per cent of the government's budget is for fixed charges. The other 50 per cent must be slashed.

"Due to unemployment and wage reductions, the income of wage earners in private business in the United States dropped more than 49 per cent between 1929 and 1931. Salaries dropped 44 per cent. Yet in the same period wages and salaries of government employés increased 14.37 per cent."

In concluding, Mr. Sargent advised all attending the conference to read three speeches made by Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of THE TRIBUNE, which, he said, presented the situation confronting business in trenchant form.

"All you men should read the speeches of Col. McCormick on this subject," Mr. Sargent said. "They tell faithfully and accurately of the conditions which must be met and the need for trimming governmental costs."

Criticizes U. S. Bulletins.

Mr. Sargent and other speakers criticized certain of the bulletins issued by federal bureaus.

George W. Rossetter, president of the Chicago Association of Commerce, told how a committee of the association, acting jointly with the Illinois Manufacturers' association, had gone to Washington in behalf of economy.

"We told congressmen that business had retrenched but that business men felt that the government hadn't retrenched," he said. "We did not go to Washington just as a gesture, but to start something, and we hope that other business men will take similar action."

Other addresses on the same note as that stressed by Mr. Sargent were made by Charles Barham of Nashville, Tenn.; Howard L. Volgenan of Cleveland, William H. Book of Indianapolis, C. E. Jenks of East St. Louis, Ill.; John Van der Vries, middle western representative of the United States chamber of commerce; A. J. Horn of Toledo, O., and Oscar H. Morris of Milwaukee.

The Illinois Wholesale Grocers' association yesterday announced a campaign to impress upon congress the necessity for cutting federal expendtures. In a letter to the Association of Commerce the association urged concerted action by all corporations and trade associations in the economy movement.

House Economy Committee Makes No Drastic Savings

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 29.—[Special.]—The Hoover budget will be slashed a quarter of a billion dollars if the house accepts the recommendations already made and to be made by its appropriations and economy committees, Chairman Joseph W. Byrns [Dem., Tenn.] of the house appropriations committee asserted today.

Just prior to announcing his resignation, on a plea of overwork, from the chairmanship of the special economy committee, Mr. Byrns said that body will submit recommendations calling for consolidations and economies totaling at least $75,000,000 and possibly a sum two or three times that figure.

Chairman Byrns said that hearings thus far conducted by the various committees handling governmental supply bills disclosed that at least 150 millions could be shaved off the budget figures submitted by President Hoover without in any way impairing the efficiency of the government. The committees plan to slash an additional $30,000,000 from national defense appropriations, Mr. Byrns said, without going into details.

Hope of Slash in Senate.

In event the Byrns estimates prove correct the various house committees handling governmental expenditures will fail after all to make any substantial dent in the rising cost of the federal government which annually takes more than four billion dollars of the taxpayers' money. Should the senate reduce the house figures by another 10 per cent as one senate group is attempting to do, then the total budgetary savings would amount to a sizable figure which would exceed half a billion dollars and which would contribute substantially to balancing the budget next year.

While Chairman Byrns discussed possible budgetary savings, President Hoover was issuing a warning at the White House indicating he would veto additional soldiers' bonus legislation if approved by the present congress.

Speaking at his regular press conference, the President said informal polls of the house have created apprehension in the country that a further bonus bill of two billion dollars or thereabouts for world war veterans would be passed.

Repeats Opposition to Bonus.

"I wish to state again I am absolutely opposed to any such legislation," the President said, "I made this position clear at the meeting of the American Legion in Detroit last Sept. 21 and the Legion has consistently supported that position. I do not believe any such legislation can become law. Such action would undo every effort that is being made to reduce government expenditures and balance the budget."

Asked to specify where savings were to be effected in the operation of the government Chairman Byrns said reductions would be made all along the line with the exception of prohibition enforcement. He said the army and navy probably would be slashed about $30,000,000 in addition to the cuts made by President Hoover before he submitted the budget.

Chairman Byrns said he was hopeful it would be possible to prevent the enactment of bonus legislation. He said it was highly possible the senate would kill the house bill arranging for the expenditure of more than $100,000,000 on roads construction.

Pay Cuts in Doubt.

As for government pay cut legislation, Chairman Byrns said it was impossible at this time to say whether such a law would be enacted. He said it was possible $67,000,000 might be cut from the budget by cutting salaries of government officials and employés.

The economy committee has received letters from virtually all cabinet officers indicating how savings could be effected through coördinations and other methods, Mr. Byrns said. It was learned, however, that the White House has failed to propose any cut in its budget figure.

"Government printing is one activity we will prune," Chairman Byrns said. "We want to consolidate government printing and cut the printing bill. Far too much money is now expended on printing by government departments, especially the commerce and agricultural departments."

UNION OFFICIAL QUOTED TO PROVE GANG INFLUENCE

The Employers' association yesterday sent a telegram to Senator William E. Borah, chairman of the judiciary sub-committee which is to recommend action on Federal Judge Wilkerson's promotion to the circuit court of appeals, replying to Victor A. Olander's denial that gangsters influence labor unions. The telegram quotes Robert G. Fitchie, former president of the state federation of labor and president of the Milk Wagon Drivers' union, as saying in a speech that gangsters are wresting control of the union treasuries. "On Dec. 21, 1931, Mr. Fitchie was kidnaped and held in $50,000 ransom, which was paid from the treasury of the Milk Wagon Drivers' union," said the telegram.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 20 years, and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They help cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation—you should find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets.

Carlstrom and Igoe Tell Their Qualifications.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Two candidates for the governorship of Illinois, one a Republican, the other a Democrat, carried their campaigns into Chicago loop theaters for noon meetings yesterday. Each emphasized his contention that his experience in public office has fitted him particularly for the executive chair.

Attorney General Carlstrom, the Republican, made this point in reference to his work as attorney general for the last eight years. He spoke at the Grand Opera house. Michael L. Igoe, the Democrat, speaking at the Garrick, said that his long experience in the legislature, working on bills concerning the many departments and divisions, their duties and powers and their appropriations, has given him a familiarity with the state structure possessed by no other candidate.

Other Candidates Battle.

In the meantime other aspirants for the governorship were talking about each other either in speeches or statements. Omer N. Custer fired back at Edward J. Brundage on the racketeer issue and Brundage charged that Custer is benefiting from the imposition of political assessments on state employés for campaign purposes.

"Since the Supreme court decision in the Fergus case," Attorney General Carlstrom told an overcrowded house, "the attorney general's office has handled all matters of law for all state officers and all state departments. In that way the attorney general must acquaint himself with all the operations of the state government and is the only officer who has that duty. Not even the governor is required to familiarize himself with the departments of the other constitutional officers."

Shows Extent of His Work.

The attorney general cited figures showing the large number of cases that have passed through his office in the last biennium, the vast extent of the opinions he has been called upon to deliver, and the amount of money he has saved for the state or brought into its coffers.

"In spite of the great increase in work and the growth of population," he said, "the expenses of my office have increased only 9 per cent since 1915, while the expenditures of the state government as a whole have gone up 500 per cent in the same period."

"Take one truth from Igoe," said that candidate in his Garrick speech. "Igoe knows Illinois. He knows it from Lake county down to the southernmost tip where the Mississippi and the Ohio meet. And he knows the statehouse and all its branches from the vaults to the copper dome."

Several uninvited independent candidates walked on the platform at the Igoe meeting, but his headquarters said their presence was not to be construed as meaning support for them from the Igoe camp.

Sheriff Meyering presided at the meeting. Other speakers were Scott W. Lucas, candidate for United States senator, and Judge Matthew D. Hartigan, candidate for state's attorney.

Brundage Rips Into Custer.

"Political assessments upon public employés are not an innovation," said Brundage at a luncheon of women supporters in the Hotel La Salle, "but never before have I received so many complaints from the victims. Every person on the state pay roll is being threatened with dismissal unless he contributes.

"Mr. Custer is the champion of the system which perpetuates itself by the contributions and activities of the pay rollers. He tells the public he will reduce pay rolls. How can he do it if he is grateful to the pay rollers to whom he is looking for victory?

"The enlarged pay rolls and the increased cost of government are the direct result of a system wherein a few men in control pick one of their number to be the director. Mr. Custer is one of the statehouse crowd alternating from one office to another, but always keeping control of the state's exchequer.

"He has been a member of Gov. Emmerson's kitchen cabinet. If the pay rolls have been shocking to him, why has he not advised his chief to be more economical? There has been no reduction of the Len Small pay rolls under Gov. Emmerson."

Custer Charges Demagoguery.

"This is about the most brazen example of demagoguery I have ever seen," said the Custer statement replying to Brundage's repetition of the charge that Capone men are supporting ward committeemen identified with the Custer campaign. "Any candidate who tries to ride into office on a false appeal to popular prejudice, particularly at this time, by this very act proves his unfitness for the office he seeks."

Custer also took a kick at the campaign being conducted by the supporters of Len Small.

"This campaign," he said, "is one of hokum and buncombe. If the former governor and his political bedfellows have a panacea to cure the present depression, they ought to tell us what it is. But they are going to be disappointed, because the voters this year are not thoughtless.

"Probably no primary in Illinois for many years to come will be fraught with so many potentialities for good or evil for the party or for the people of the state as a whole as this one."

Malone Attacks Rivals.

At the City club William H. Malone, Republican, charged that all four of his governorship opponents "have been found together" in stopping the enactment of just revenue laws. He said that Custer joined with Gov. Emmerson in opposing changes he [Malone] proposed; that Len Small followers in the assembly lined up with Emmerson and that Brundage's law firm "has waxed fat" upon fees from tax cases.

Bruce A. Campbell, Democratic aspirant for governor, made his first public appearance in Cook county last night when he addressed a meeting of the La Grange League of Women Voters at the Masonic temple in that suburb. Much of his speech was devoted to what he termed practical retrenchment proposals.

He advocated the consolidation of the three big park systems of Chicago with the county forest preserve. He also advocated the reduction of waste in the state government, saying that the cost of carrying on the ordinary affairs of the state has increased 106 per cent in twelve years.

FARMER-LABOR PARTY MAY RUN SET OF ELECTORS

St. Paul, Minn., March 29.—(AP)—Minnesota Farmer-Laborites created a committee to study the advisability of nominating a slate of presidential electors today on the first day of a two day state convention.

Proponents of a plan to name electors in the hope that if elected they might hold the balance of power in the electoral college in event of a deadlock between Republican and Democratic presidential choices, led the fight for creation of the committee.

Efforts of another group who favor having the state party join in the support of Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York in event he is selected as the Democratic presidential nominee were defeated in their effort to have the matter placed in the hands of the party's state central committee.

Spring dashed into Chicago yesterday. Although the sun shone only at intervals, the mercury climbed from 38 at 7 a. m. to a maximum of 66 degrees at 5 p. m. The weather bureau forecast, however, indicates that spring is going to dash out again today. Mostly unsettled, with showers in the afternoon turning to snow flurries at night, is the outlook. It is expected that temperatures will be much lower tonight and tomorrow, although the snow flurries will be followed by clear weather.

K. OF C. MARKS 50TH YEAR OF ITS EXISTENCE

The Knights of Columbus, in cities and towns throughout the United States and its possessions and in Canada, last night held services commemorating the founding of the order 50 years ago. The golden anniversary was observed in most of the 79 councils in Cook county. Two of the largest gatherings were at 2458 West 38th street, where a program was given by the Daniel Dowling council, and at 4306 West North avenue, where the Lafayette council gave a program and dance.

Before a crowd of 700 at the Dowling council Congressman Harry P. Beam sketched the history of the order. Founded in New Haven, Conn., on March 29, 1882, by the Rev. Michael J. McGivney, the organization has grown until it has 600,000 members in 2,500 councils, Beam said.

In addition to the programs of songs, speeches and dances given by individual councils, a radio program was broadcast over a national network. Martin H. Carmody of Grand Rapids, Mich., supreme knight of the order, recounted its history and Anna Case Mackay, soprano, and Charles Hackett, tenor, sang. Mr. Carmody announced that the Knights of Columbus had found work for 80,000 persons during the depression.

Hummel, receiver for the concern. Mr. Hummel announced that ten of the company's shops were sold yesterday for $13,750 and that he expected the remaining stores would bring approximately $85,000.

POLICEMAN KILLS OAK PARK BANDIT AND CAPTURES 2D

Policeman Earl Olson of Oak Park last night shot and killed a middle aged robber who tried to hold up the Western Union telegraph office at 1022 North boulevard, and then pursued and captured a confederate of the man slain.

The office had been robbed four times in a year and Olson was stationed there. When the robber entered he told Miss Gertrude Ortscheid, the night manager, to remain quiet, and went back to a rear room, where he encountered Olson. The robber pulled the trigger of his pistol, but it failed to discharge. Olson fired three times as the bandit fled to the door, one bullet striking the fugitive in the neck.

As he ran out the policeman followed. A man was sprinting east in North boulevard. Olson pursued and caught him. A few minutes later the robbers' automobile was found parked only about 100 feet from the Oak Park police station. In it was the body of the man who had tried to kill Olson and who had managed to reach the car before he died from the bullet wound in his neck. The captured man identified the dead one as George Young, 45 years old, 549 Aldine street. The captive gave his own name as Floyd Cox, 3838 Broadway.

A COP'S DEATH BRINGS GUNMAN BACK TO LIFE

For more than a year Leo Mongoven, midget gunman, and one of the original public enemies, has been listed as dead on the records of the Chicago Crime commission. Last night it was learned definitely that he is alive.

Attorney Milton Smith notified Chief of Detectives Schoemaker that Mongoven was in his office yesterday and desires to surrender on a charge of carrying concealed weapons and another of bond forfeiture. "He will be in Felony court tomorrow," said Smith.

Police, wondering why Mongoven should give up after successfully hiding for almost two years, last night searched the records and found these facts: Mongoven was arrested on May 22, 1930, when he entered the Madison-Kedzie State bank with $5,000 in bonds and two .45 caliber revolvers. It was asserted he intended to use the weapons to force bank officials to pay him cash for the bonds. He was indicted for carrying the weapons largely on the testimony of Sergt. Frank Burke of Warren avenue police, who made the arrest.

Two weeks ago Burke died. Members of the state's attorney's staff said that conviction of Mongoven on the gun charge would be difficult now.

Judge Replies in Fight for Prosecutor's Job.

State's Attorney Swanson and one of his two opponents, Judge Michael Feinberg, traded charges last night as the battle over the prosecutorship grew hotter.

The state's attorney denied Judge Feinberg's assertion that he [Swanson] had addressed a meeting of hoodlums in the Lexington hotel on Monday night. The Deneen headquarters also aided its candidate in a barrage directed against Feinberg's record as a Criminal court judge.

Judge Feinberg's speech against the prosecutor demanded to know the names of all of Swanson's campaign contributors and collectors, and also asked, "How, in these days when money is scarce, the present state's attorney can afford to maintain three separate campaign headquarters?"

Answer for Swanson.

Prosecutor Swanson's reply to the charge that he addressed a meeting of gangsters was issued by J. F. Cornelius, president of the Business Men's Non-Partisan league, which is supporting Mr. Swanson. The statement was approved by the state's attorney.

"At the time Feinberg was making these untrue statements, the state's attorney was addressing the Hyde Park League of Women Voters at 57th street and Woodlawn avenue," it declared.

"He later spoke at 11411 South Michigan avenue and at the Armenian church, 120th street and Wallace avenue. These are the only meetings he attended Monday evening. Doesn't it seem strange that Feinberg could 'know' about such a meeting supposed to be held at the Lexington?

"We have talked with the management of the hotel," added Cornelius, "and they declare that Judge Swanson addressed no meeting there on Monday or any other night." Cornelius also denied another statement attributed to Feinberg—that Serritella and "Red" Barker, a racketeer, were authorized to collect contributions for the state's attorney.

Assails Feinberg's Record.

William Busse, Deneen county chairman, attacked Feinberg on his judicial record. He based his charges, he said, upon records available in the office of the clerk of the Criminal court.

"Judge Feinberg, in instance after instance, has violated the probation law by placing defendants on probation without the required investigation," said Busse.

"His record on the criminal bench, on which he sat from Nov. 7, 1927, to and including Dec. 23, 1927, shows that a total of 251 indictments came before him.

"The disposition of the cases before him shows a lenient, if not a lax, enforcement of the law in these cases. Of the defendants, but one was sentenced to the penitentiary and two to the House of Correction.

"Take, for example, the case against Dominic Valentino, charged with robbery and rape, which was dismissed with leave to reinstate. No reasons were assigned for such dismissal of the defendant, who in company with two other hoodlums raped and robbed a married woman, leaving her helpless in an alley."

Attacks Rival's Campaign Expense.

Judge Feinberg last night made a statement in reply to his foes, in which he said:

"The money expended in my behalf consists of meager contributions from intimate personal friends. Mr. Swanson is indulging in expensive billboard advertising, and, I am reliably informed, has ready for distribution half a million lithographed pictures of himself and more than 50,000 tire covers. He is also preparing a large and expensive pamphlet. Where does the money come from?

"Will the state's attorney give the public the names of all who are contributing to and all who are collecting for his campaign? I have no objection to doing this and it would not make a long list. The state's attorney has found it necessary to issue a statement warning the public against unauthorized solicitors said to be seeking funds in his behalf. I wish he would tell who is authorized. Personally, no one has authority to solicit funds for me."

FAINTS AT WINDOW; KILLED.

4 G. O. P. WOMEN MAKE HYDE PARK ASSEMBLY RACE

3 Are Wets and One Dry; None Is Feminist.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

Four women are running for the two nominations in the Republican primary for state representative from the Fifth, or Hyde Park, district. There are 15 other candidates in the Republican race.

The women are running actively, tooth and nail. As one of them put it: "Some women said it was not ladylike for women to run against each other. It might look like a squabble, they said. Well, if women can't fight they've no business in politics."

Three Are Wets.

Three of the women candidates are wets. They are Mrs. Rose K. Rolfe, 5344 Woodlawn avenue, mother of four children and grandmother of three; Mrs. Gertrude H. Campbell, 5143 Harper avenue, mother of three children, and Ruth Brannan, 6150 Greenwood avenue.

Interviewed in their homes the women said they did not enter politics to purify them, or to reform society. None of them admitted being devotedly, or even fairly, domestic. Not one is a feminist.

Miss Josephine Perry, 6145 Woodlawn avenue, who now holds one of the three house seats from this district, is one of the five Cook county representatives who voted against the repeal of the state dry law. She defended her stand by declaring that she did not believe the referendum was an expression of the real sentiment of the voters at large.

Booze in Dry Kansas.

"That's why I'm a wet," she said. "I come from Washington, Kas., where every other building on Main street was a wide open saloon. I never had much use for prohibition after that."

Gray haired, pink of cheek, Mrs. Rolfe explained that one reason she's going to run for office for the first time is that "it takes a woman out of a rut; it's fun."

"Of course I'm a wet," said Mrs. Rolfe. "Prohibition cannot be enforced. It is making boys and girls hard boiled. If you tell a child something is a sin, he wants to investigate it. Liquors should be served openly. Making forbidden fruit of them is fatal."

CAN'T FIRE TEACHERS FOR GETTING MARRIED, INDIANA COURT RULES

Indianapolis, Ind., March 29.—[Special.]—The Indiana Supreme court held tonight that a school board has no authority to dismiss a teacher because she is married.

The decision was made in an appeal brought by the Elwood school board from a ruling of the Madison county Circuit court ordering the board to reinstate Mrs. Mattie Griffin, Mrs. Grace Doerman, and Mrs. Mary L. Records. These women were discharged as teachers in February, 1931, on the ground they were married.

SALVADOR URGES HALT ON SEEKING U. S. RECOGNITION

SAN SALVADOR, March 29.—(AP)—A petition, signed by more than 20,000 Salvadoreans, supporting Provisional President Martinez, was presented to the president today. It suggested that unsuccessful negotiations for the recognition of his government by other countries cease and that he "conserve yourself for your position, supported wholly by the good will of the Salvadorean people, as long as there exist the difficult conditions through which the country is now passing."

The petition, signed by members of various political parties, mentioned the failure of other republics, including the United States, to recognize the Martinez régime, because of the Washington treaties of 1923. Under those treaties, Central American governments agreed to recognize only constitutional régimes.

The petition said the government, which took office by a coup d'etat that overthrew former President Araujo last December, was legal "within the spirit of the constitution."

JOHN A. SWANSON IS RECOMMENDED TO G. O. P. VOTERS

Courtney Is Indorsed in Democratic Primary.

The Tribune now takes up presentation of reports on the candidates for nomination for county offices in the April 12 primaries. Where it has a recommendation to make to the voters of a party it is included in the discussion of that candidate's record.

STATE'S ATTORNEY.
REPUBLICAN.

State's Attorney John A. Swanson is a candidate for renomination at the close of his first four year term. THE TRIBUNE recommends that voters in the Republican primary vote for him.

The Chicago Bar association's committee on candidates, which consists of the former presidents of the organization, says of him in its current report:

"He is honest in purpose and sincerely desires to render good public service. He has been an earnest public servant in the administration of a difficult office. He should be nominated."

Swanson was elected a state representative in 1911 and a state senator in 1915. In 1916 he was elected to the Municipal court, and in 1921, the year of the famous fight against the city hall machine's attempt to raid the Circuit court, he was elected to that bench. In 1927 he was reëlected as a Circuit judge, and in the following year, as the result of a general uprising against existing conditions, he was elected state's attorney.

During the three years and three months that have ensued State's Attorney Swanson has established himself in the public mind as one who has refused to compromise or temporize with the forces of gangdom.

Crowe Runs Feinberg.

Swanson's chief opponent is Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg, the candidate of Robert E. Crowe, former state's attorney, who placed him on the bench in 1927 as the result of a "coalition" agreement with George E. Brennan, who was in as full command of the Democratic forces at that time as Crowe was in control of the Republican organization.

Crowe was decisively defeated in the 1928 primary, and this spring he is devoting his entire energy to the nomination of Judge Feinberg.

A third candidate is Municipal Judge John H. Lyle, who last year was decisively beaten for the Republican mayoralty nomination. He is now using in his present campaign the same material he employed in the city fight, is confining himself almost exclusively to radio and postal efforts and has little, if any, organized support. It is believed what vote he receives will cut down the normal Swanson total.

STATE'S ATTORNEY.
DEMOCRATIC.

State Senator Thomas J. Courtney is the regular Democratic candidate. THE TRIBUNE recommends to Democrats that they vote for him.

"He has had a commendable public career," says the report of the Chicago Bar association prepared by a committee of its former presidents. "His work in the state senate has been marked by close attention to duty, effectiveness and a sincere effort to act in the public interest. While his professional experience has been limited, he is capable, vigorous, courageous and independent. He should be nominated."

Senator Courtney is only 37 years old, but he has had an unusual amount of experience in public service. The report of the Chicago Bar association lists chronologically the different periods of his employment in various offices and by the citation of dates gives the lie to charges that he was on several pay rolls at once.

In the same way there are denials from everybody concerned that he was selected as a "setup" for State's Attorney Swanson in the November election. His chief opponent has made charges to this effect, but they are not received seriously by those in a position to know the facts concerning his candidacy.

Hartigan on Igoe Slate.

Municipal Judge Matthew D. Hartigan is a candidate for this office on the Igoe governorship hookup. His tactics up to this time have consisted largely of charges against Courtney, such as those concerning which the Chicago Bar association conducted an inquiry.

"He is patient, courteous and ambitious," said the association's report. "He has not demonstrated that he possesses the essential qualifications for this office."

A third candidate for this office is Barratt O'Hara, whose campaign has been based on his opposition to capital punishment and the number of defendants he has succeeded in having acquitted.

COUNTY RECORDER.
REPUBLICAN.

THE TRIBUNE recommends that Republicans in the primary vote for John H. Passmore, former alderman and former clerk of the Criminal court, whose record in those offices proved him independent of party and factionel politics.

He was one of the younger men who stepped into politics in 1912 as a progressive. He opposed the dictation of the Thompson machine as attorney for the city treasurer and continued to make record for himself as alderman of the old Third ward. It is conceded that throughout his career he served the public faithfully and honestly.

Harry E. Hoff is the Deneen candidate, a son-in-law of the late Joseph F. Haas and for twelve years chief deputy recorder under Haas. In addition to this service he was chief clerk of the sanitary district and was said to be a material aid in the carrying out of the Elmore economy policies.

COUNTY RECORDER.
DEMOCRATIC.

Clayton F. Smith, the incumbent, is a candidate for renomination in the Democratic primary without opposition. THE TRIBUNE recommends that Democrats vote for him as a reward for capable, hard work which has left his administration free from adverse criticism for his first term.

SUPERIOR COURT CLERK.
REPUBLICAN.

THE TRIBUNE recommends that Republicans in the primary vote for

Society Woman Sues Movie Actress

CLAIRE WINDSOR.

Charges Alienation

San Francisco, Cal., March 29. —[Special.]—Claire Windsor of the motion pictures, was named defendant in a $100,000 alienation of affection suit brought in the Superior ourt at Oakland today. Mrs. Maria Y. Read, Oakland society woman, charge that the blonde movie star enticed her husband, Alfred C. Read Jr., stock broker, away from her. She alleges her husband first met Miss Windsor on Sept. 1, 1931, and immediately "began running around with her." Miss Windsor, she accuses, "enticed the young husband away from his wife and family and associated with him openly in public places."

Jacob D. Allen, executive manager of the Deneen organization for several campaigns. This is the first time that he has sought public office.

When the world war began, although his campaign material is silent on this and several other points that follow, Allen helped organize company D of the 2d California infantry. He went with it to the Mexican border where it participated in the Pershing punitive expedition. He had enlisted as a private, but he went to France with the 40th division and emerged as a captain.

Following the war, Allen went in for the organization and financing of chambers of commerce and similar organizations. It led to his engagement as organization manager of a Detroit mayoralty campaign which wound up successfully and resulted in his being brought to Chicago by the Deneen organization. He is now the head of two financing companies engaged in organization work.

Ald. William H. Feigenbutz of the 40th ward, long a docile follower of the last Republican administration, is the Crowe candidate against Allen. As a ward committeeman his trail has been difficult to follow, but it is said that, having started out with Custer for governor, he is now with Small. He is not popular with the ward leaders because of his shiftiness.

SUPERIOR COURT CLERK.
DEMOCRATIC.

Frank V. Zintak is the regular Democratic candidate. He was elected by the judges of the Superior court to the vacancy created by the resignation of M. S. Szymczak after the latter had accepted appointment to the city controllership by Mayor Cermak. He was elected ward committeeman of the 12th ward last year, and shortly thereafter his home was bombed "for political reasons" that never were explained publicly.

There are seven other candidates, mostly with Irish names.

HORNER DERIDES BOSSISM CHARGE MADE BY RIVALS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Peoria, Ill., March 29.—[Special.]—Judge Henry Horner, candidate for the Democratic nomination for governor, told two audiences tonight that he acknowledged no "bosses" but the will of the people and his own sense of right and that there was "no man alive" who would be able to dictate his actions in office.

He spoke first to a crowded rally of Tazewell county Democrats at Pekin, ten miles away, and later to an assemblage of Peoria citizens that overflowed the Rialto theater here. In both speeches he lashed back at his opponents for what he termed their unfair and unsportsmanlike attempts to create division between Cook county and the rest of the state.

"These fellows who are going about this state talking about a 'dictatorship' which will be my boss when I am governor don't do it in Cook county where the people know me and they won't dare talk about it to you after you know me as governor.

Prohibition Stand Applauded.

"These men who are making these false charges are doing their best to rend the Democratic party of this state apart; they are ready to see the party go down to defeat in November rather than forego their own selfish ambitions. As governor I shall make it my first duty to undo the mischief they have done and put an end to sectionalism."

Both at Pekin and in this city, both of which are predominently wet, he brought salvos of applause from his hearers when he denounced federal prohibition as "the worst foe true temperance ever had," and declared for the return to the state of the power to regulate the habits and customs of their people.

"I have been advised in some localities to keep silent on this question," he said, "for fear that it might lose me some votes. But I am conducting my campaign on a basis of truth and not of evasion. I am going to win on that basis or I don't want the governorship."

Congressman William H. Dieterich, candidate for United States senator, joined the party at Peoria today after an absence of several days in Washington, where he was called by his congressional duties. He spoke at both meetings tonight, stressing the failure of the Republican program of farm relief and promising the farmers real assistance under a Democratic administration in nation and state.

Compared as Vote Getters.

Thomas F. Donovan, candidate for lieutenant governor, told the crowds at Pekin and Peoria that the state committee's endorsement of Judge Horner and the rest of the regular ticket had been the accepted practice of the party for many years.

Donovan compared the vote getting records of Igoe and Horner as follows:

"The last time Judge Horner ran for office in 1930 he received 62 per cent of the entire vote cast in Cook county by all parties, piling up a record total of over 690,000 and was returned by a plurality of over 286,000.

"Mr. Igoe, on the other hand, was defeated twice for the office of state's attorney, in 1920 by 205,000 votes and in 1924 by nearly 300,000.

"The state committee wanted to select a qualified candidate whose natural vote getting strength would insure the party victory in November. In considering the two men, there could be but one choice and the committee wisely selected Judge Horner."

COLUMBIA RIVER PROJECT TO COST 772 MILLIONS

Engineer's Report Bares Plan's Weaknesses.

Washington, D. C., March 29.—[Special.]—A recommendation against development of the navigation and irrigation phases of the 772 million dollar Columbia river development project at this time was included in a report submitted to the secretary of war for transmission to congress by Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of engineers, today.

While recommending that the sum of $16,000,000 should be expended by the government for the construction of locks and other aids to navigation in the Columbia river when private or state interests are ready to develop water power, Maj. Gen. Brown took the position that the time was not ripe for the spending of any considerable amount of federal money on this huge project.

"The Columbia river and its tributaries are susceptible of being developed into the greatest system for water power to be found anywhere in the United States," Maj. Gen. Brown said.

Cost at Least 711 Millions.

"The cost of this development will exceed that of any other single development of any kind for power that has ever been made. Assuming money at 4 per cent the estimated cost of these power installations including interest during construction are as follows: Grand Coulee, $204,500,000; Foster Creek, $49,000,000; Chelan, $39,000,000; Rocky Reach, $38,000,000; Priest Rapids, $63,000,000; Umatilla Rapids, $60,000,000; John Day Rapids, $110,000,000; The Dalles, $89,000,000; Warrendale, $59,000,000. The total of these developments is about $711,000,000. If money is six per cent the total would be about $772,000,000. The Grand Coulee and the Dalles installations are outstanding because of size.

The ultimate development to be foreseen would have an installed capacity of about 8,000,000 kilowatts. The Grand Coulee development alone would be able to meet any probable increase in power needs of the accessible area for a period of thirty years in the future."

Irrigates Unneeded Land.

About two million acres of land along the Columbia river can be added to the nation's already overexpanded crop producing areas, the Brown report disclosed.

"Local reports demonstrate that the irrigation of land as pertains to the Columbia river area under consideration is not an economical proposition at this time and should await the future," Maj. Gen. Brown said. "The policy of bringing more land under cultivation at present by large expenditures of general funds and in competition with other lands already under cultivation is questioned by agricultural authorities of the general government."

That the interior department is not incomplete accord with the war department's views on holding up the irrigation projects was disclosed by a letter written to Maj. Gen. Brown by Elwood Mead, commissioner of reclamation. He urged an early beginning of the development. Just how much of the 772 millions involved in the Columbia project would be paid for by the government was not made clear.

Illinois Mine Pact Expires Tomorrow; May Shut Down

The existing contract between the Illinois Coal Operators' association and district 12 of the United Mine Workers expires tomorrow without a new contract even in a tentative stage. The subcommittee of four members, appointed a week ago by the joint scale committee of the miners and operators now meeting in Chicago, last night has not yet made a report to the general body. Little hope was expressed that a tentative program would be adopted today. Operators have indicated that a general shutdown of Illinois mines will take place as soon as the old contract expires.

Jay Tompkins, 70 years old, of Ann Arbor, Mich., a conductor employed by the Michigan Central railroad, made his last run on the Wolverine to Detroit last night. He will be retired on a pension after 44 years' service with the road. Before the train left the Park Row station last night E. E. Wright, superintendent of the western division of the railroad, gave Tompkins a watch and a traveling bag in behalf of the other conductors.

ge into wheat and cotton. We already have huge surpluses of cotton and wheat. If we make loans to large farmers we shall stimulate production of wheat and cotton and thus defeat the aims of congress. For that reason I have suggested the extra money be used to export the products rather than to stimulate the production.

"Farm loans are normally made through multitudes of local banks in local areas and are on a selective basis. Neither we nor any other government department can make this selection. We can't determine security or anything else except the matter of whether the loan applicant has land and is a farmer. Inevitably we make bad loans. Therefore, I said we are the world's prize boob as a lender."

As answer to a question of what he thought of the whole government farm loan policy, Mr. Hyde quoted a letter from a South Dakota farmer's wife who said that mortgages on the future of the farmers and their children "will never in the world return prosperity."

"You don't think these loans were justified?" he was asked.

"No, I don't," he said, "but I am going to make them because I am under orders."

Parents of Two Suburbs Warned of Scarlet Fever

Health authorities in La Grange and La Grange Park yesterday asked parents to keep their children from public gatherings during the spring vacation next week, because of the prevalence of scarlet fever in the suburbs. Twenty-six light cases have been reported to date.

BATTLE PRACTICE OF NAVY BARRED TO ALL CIVILIANS

San Pedro, Cal., March 29.—[Special.]—Navy department orders were received today directing that no civilians will be permitted to witness the annual battle practice and firing practice off the coast of California the week of April 11. Publication of all photographs or articles about the drill also is forbidden.

This is a reversal of past navy policy, and according to a dispatch from Admiral W. V. Pratt, chief of naval operations, at Washington, D. C., the action is taken because of the special character of force practice this year. The combined fleet will put to sea Monday morning from its two bases at San Pedro and San Diego for battle torpedo practice and simulated fleet action featured by a concerted torpedo attack by sixty destroyers.

SENATORS AWAIT WILKERSON VIEW ON CAPONE PLEA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 29.—[Special.]—As soon as it receives a letter from Judge James H. Wilkerson of Chicago, explaining his connection with Al Capone's plea of guilty, the senate judiciary subcommittee considering the Wilkerson appointment to the Circuit court will make its report on the confirmation to the full committee, Senator Borah [Rep., Idaho.], subcommittee chairman, announced today.

That report will probably be made by the end of this week, for the letter, asked for last Friday, is expected tomorrow or Thursday.

Oral Hearings Closed.

Oral hearings closed today when United States District Attorney George E. Q. Johnson, Capone's prosecutor, spent five hours, behind closed doors, telling the subcommittee about the negotiations between him and Capone's attorney, whereby Capone, on a plea of guilty, was to receive two and a half years' sentence for income tax evasion.

He also went into particular detail about Judge Wilkerson's connection with that plea and its subsequent withdrawal following Wilkerson's statement that he "refused to be bound by it."

"There have been charges," Senator Borah said after the hearing, "that Wilkerson broke faith with the district attorney in this matter. Since it is the desire of the committee to leave nothing undone, we summoned Mr. Johnson before us. He stated all the facts with reference to the original recommendations for two and a half years' sentence."

Tells of Conferences.

It is understood that Attorney Johnson told the committee that he had talked with both Judge Wilkerson and with Attorney General Mitchell during the plea of guilty negotiations. Attorney Johnson, however, did not charge Wilkerson with having broken faith with him.

He told the subcommittee that Judge Wilkerson, informed last June 16 of the possible plea of guilty, had said he would give it due consideration, but that he would not be bound by it, nor would he waive a hearing. June 29, the Johnson testimony today pointed out, when Capone came into court, Judge Wilkerson repeated what he had previously told the attorneys and again stressed the fact that he would hold a hearing and ask Capone some questions. The following day the Capone lawyers petitioned to withdraw their plea.

Urges Roosevelt, Smith Divide Connecticut Vote

Hartford, Conn., March 29.—(AP)—Division of Connecticut votes at the national Democratic convention between Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt and Alfred E. Smith was advocated by Gov. Wilbur L. Cross today as the only means of preventing factional discord. The governor, who has been advanced as a favorite son candidate both for the presidential and vice presidential nominations, sent a message to leaders of the "old guard" and "reorganization" factions urging them to accept his proposal for the sake of party harmony.

"HELL ON EARTH" IS JUST OFF CALIFORNIA, CONGRESSMAN FINDS

Washington, D. C., March 29.—[Special.]—California is calling; this time to have the federal government stop the native sons and the moneyed visitors from the east going to sea to risk their funds.

It seems that just beyond the three mile limit in the Pacific there is "hell on earth." Out there are three craft where the speculatively inclined can turn a card, fling the dice, watch the little ball settle consistently in the wrong hole, or hear some other customer yell "Keno" just as hopes are rising.

All of this leaves less tourist money to be spent in California.

Representative Arthur M. Free, California Republican, today asked the house merchant marine's committee to forward a bill designed to put gambling on ships out of business by prohibiting free taxi service from the shore.

"People go out to these boats and lose their money," Mr. Free told the committee. "When they get back ashore they rob filling stations or anything, or commit suicide because of despondency. It's hell on earth in that locality."

It was later testified by A. J. Tyrer, chief of the commerce department's navigation bureau, that there is one such boat anchored off San Francisco and two off San Pedro.

The gamblers also indulge in corrupt practices and even try to approach congressmen, for another Californian, Representative William E. Evans [Rep.], read the committee an invitation he had received to partake of a "free dinner for himself and his party" on one of the boats.

Florida also has been tempted to gambling. One of today's witnesses said a "floating palace" had been anchored off the coast of Florida, but is now en route to the New Jersey shore off Atlantic City.

Dispatches from Florida said the boat, constructed two years ago at great cost, first appeared on the west coast. For some months admission was by card only. Competition on shore was too strong or the only fish in the bay were swimming ones, and soon the quarter and fifty cent bettors were welcomed, and the syndicate owners soon sold out.

DABBS TO TEACH SUNDAY CLASS OUTSIDE CHURCH

Dr. Howard Dabbs, ousted as a Sunday school teacher at the Rogers Park Congregational church, Morse and Ashland avenues, henceforth will conduct a class for boys and girls on Sunday morning in the Howard theater at 1621 Howard street, he announced yesterday. The Friday night dances of his former class will continue in the ballroom of the Rogers Park Woman's club for those who care to attend, he said.

A committee of church members refused to reinstate Dr. Dabbs as a Sunday school teacher at a meeting on Monday night. His resignation had been requested because the church's committee on religious education, headed by Dr. Forrest L. Knapp, felt that he stressed athletics, dancing, and dramatics above theological training. Seventeen of the twenty boys at the Monday night meeting walked out because their teacher was not reinstated.

"I'm not a rebel leader," Dr. Dabbs said yesterday, "but I think there should be wholesome recreational activities for boys and girls."

SULTAN MOVES TO ADD BRITISH ISLES TO PHILIPPINES

MANILA, P. I., March 29.—Princess Tarhata, niece of the sultan of Sulu, who has wielded extraordinary power in the southern islands since the sultan's elevation to the Philippine senate, today petitioned the British government to transfer to Philippine jurisdiction certain large and important islands in the South seas, claiming to have a previous documentary agreement with the sultan. Secrecy surrounds the entire affair. Local officials refuse even to reveal the names of the islands, but assert that they are large and important. If the claim is granted the map of the Philippines will undergo major alterations.

The sultan of Sulu, only Mohammedan autocrat ruling under the American flag, is the last of a dynasty reputed to be more than 300 years old. Officially, he was for years merely the religious head of the people of Sulu, the little archipelago in the southern Philippines. But practically, he was their absolute ruler, and last summer Dwight W. Davis, then governor general, appointed him a senator to represent them in the legislature.

In 1878 his father leased land in Borneo to the British North Borneo company for "as long as the sun and stars shall shine," for an annual pension of about $2,700. The sultan, who is now in his 60's, claimed that the company had agreed to pay additional sums as the profits increased. The sultan has protested that the British have not lived up to their obligations.

BEAT AND ROB AUTOIST OF $685; KIDNAP WOMAN

Paterson, N. J., March 30.—(AP)—A woman, 23 years old, was kidnaped early today by two men who halted the automobile of John Jess of 2013 Chelton avenue, Philadelphia, on a lonely road between Pond's church, Oakland, and North Haledon.

The two men dragged Jess from his automobile, beat him almost insensible, robbed him of $685 which he was carrying, then forced the young woman into their automobile and sped away.

The Bergen county police have not yet been able to ascertain the woman's name.

SHANGHAI PEACE PARLEY FIZZLES; RENEW FIGHTING

Both Sides Blame Other for Failure.

BY JOHN POWELL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SHANGHAI, March 30 [Wednesday].—The Sino-Japanese peace negotiations have definitely broken down. A meeting of the military committee is scheduled to be held at the British consulate at 10 o'clock this morning and a subcommittee is scheduled to meet tomorrow, but foreign observers are convinced that there is little likelihood that an agreement can be reached.

Foreign military opinion is divided whether a renewal of general fighting is imminent. There was a serious clash yesterday at the village of Gihwangmiao, about 12 miles west of Shanghai on the south bank of Soochow creek, resulting in four Japanese casualties. Clashes between Japanese scouting parties and Chinese sentries are now a daily occurrence.

German Observer Fired On.

At 5 o'clock last Saturday afternoon a military observer attached to the German legation, who was inspecting the Chinese positions east of Taichang, was fired on by a Japanese scouting party at a distance of 110 yards. The German was accompanying a Chinese battalion commander. Both dropped to their hands and knees, crawled a long distance and escaped.

At 9 a. m. Sunday a party of 10 Japanese scouts clashed with Chinese outposts, also near Taichang. Two Japanese were killed and three Chinese seriously wounded.

Whether these clashes are the forerunners of a reopening of general fighting along new lines west of Shanghai, where both sides are now well dug in and reinforced, is uncertain, but the scene is all set and the temper of officers and men on both sides is distinctly not conducive to peace.

Chinese Destroy Bridges.

Chinese troops, acting under orders of Gen. Tsai Tink-kai, last Saturday began systematic destruction of all bridges, wooden, stone, and steel, along the entire length of the Chinese lines.

The most important bridge to be wrecked was the long wooden structure of the Shanghai-Nanking railway which crosses the Henli river about 18 miles west of Shanghai. The order to destroy this bridge caused surprise, since just a few days previously orders had been issued to repair it. The structure was damaged as the result of Japanese air bombing on March 2. The bridge is now completely ruined, making crossing of the river impossible except by pontoons.

Armies Three Miles Apart.

The Chinese advanced posts along the railway now are located between Lukiapeng and Tienfuan stations, about 15 miles west of Shanghai and three miles east of the Henli river. No large bodies of Japanese troops are stationed west of Anting station, which is about 12 miles west of the settlement border, but the no man's land between the opposing armies is patrolled by Japanese scouts, some of them dressed in plain clothes.

Many rumors have gained circulation regarding the Chinese strategy in event of a renewal of fighting, but it is considered likely that the Chinese may evacuate the district east of the Henli river, and, in event that it is necessary, they may also relinquish Kunshan, forming a defense line in the so-called Chenl lake region near Welting station. This is a low and swampy region, making it impossible for the Japanese to use tanks and heavy artillery.

Plan Guerrilla Warfare.

The Chinese officers also believe that a stretching of the Japanese lines will facilitate flanking movements and guerrilla warfare and enable the Chinese to menace the Japanese lines of communication.

Gen. Tsai also has issued orders for the construction of a strong line of trenches about the city of Soochow. This work is being done by hundreds of university students, including women, who are wielding picks and spades with manlike energy and expertness.

The Chinese also are mounting numerous anti-aircraft guns about Soochow, while every family is engaged in constructing its own private dugout for use when and if Japanese bombing planes start operations. The strenuous Chinese defense measures everywhere in evidence along the 30 mile line is a definite indication that the Chinese do not expect a Japanese withdrawal.

A Japanese military spokesman last night made a bitter attack on Quo Tai-chi, Chinese vice minister of foreign affairs, who was the chief Chinese delegate to the recent peace parleys. The Japanese spokesman charged the Chinese with "lack of sincerity."

"Quo Tai-chi," he declared, "never failed to oppose anything which appeared unfavorable to China, and he insisted on confining the discussion to military matters—the withdrawal of troops and cessation of hostilities. He refused to consider political questions. Japan never opposed the basic agreement and only proposed the insertion of certain articles in a supplementary way which were necessary from a military point of view.

"Unfortunately, due to Quo's ignorance of technical military knowledge, he was unnecessarily opposed to all Japanese proposals which were of purely a military nature, thereby impairing the progress of the conference.

Tried to Upset Agreement.

"Therefore, it appears that Quo was trying to upset the very foundation of the basic agreement. He even tried to introduce articles which would enable the Chinese troops immediately to reoccupy the areas evacuated by the Japanese troops, which was an apparent and willful plan to invite a recurrence of unfortunate incidents.

"Quo also demanded the immediate withdrawal of Japanese troops to within the international settlement of Shanghai, which was impracticable and physically impossible. China demanded such a withdrawal without providing safeguards.

"Quo was trying to break up the conference and place the responsibility on the shoulders of the Japanese. He apparently lacks sincerity. He is trying to avoid responsibility in order to appease the Chinese populace."

Charge Japanese Quibbling.

The official Kuo Min [Chinese] news agency shortly afterwards issued a statement declaring:

"The purpose of the conference was twofold, first to reach a definite understanding on the cessation of hostilities and second, to arrange the withdrawal of Japanese troops from Chinese territory. Since the fundamental issue is restoration of normal conditions, complete withdrawal of Japanese troops either to Japan or to within the settlement is necessary in order to comply with the league of nations resolution.

"The Japanese are constantly quibbling over the withdrawal issue by trying to designate points far outside the settlement for the stationing of garrisons, while claiming that such points are adjacent to the settlement. China is merely trying to find a definition of the term "adjacent," but both sides are irreconcilable on this point.

"China insists on a definite time limit for the Japanese withdrawal, which the Japanese have refused. This leads to the belief among both Chinese and neutral military circles that the Japanese are determined to maintain an army of occupation in Chinese territory adjacent to the foreign settlement for an indefinite period."

JAPS AMBUSHED IN MANCHURIA; MANY ARE SLAIN

Town Reported Captured as Revolt Grows.

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

MUKDEN, Manchuria, March 29.—Overwhelmed in a sudden attack by Chinese troops opposed to the puppet government of Henry Pu-yi which Japan has set up in Manchuria 100 Japanese and Manchurian soldiers were killed or captured today trying to defend six motor trucks in which they had been speeding to the relief of the besieged town of Nungan, 33 miles north of Changchun, the new Manchurian capital.

HENRY PU-YI.

Seizing the trucks and the 200,000 rounds of rifle ammunition and 5,000 trench mortar shells that were in them, the Chinese rushed back to aid in the assault on Nungan.

So serious had the situation there become that Japanese reinforcements were being rushed from Harbin, and even the Mukden railway garrison sent a detachment to aid in the defense.

Mukden Arsenal Attacked.

Depletion of the latter forces resulted in a surprise attack on the Mukden arsenal by 200 Chinese plain clothes gunmen, who killed one Japanese guard. The Chinese were driven off with a loss of twenty killed.

The Radio Corporation of America has completed an agreement with the new government under which direct wireless service will be opened soon between Mukden and San Francisco.

Report Nangun Raided.

CHANGCHUN, Manchuria, March 29.—(AP)—Chinese troops, 7,000 strong and calling themselves the "Anti-Japanese army for the salvation of the country," were believed to have taken the town of Nangun, only 35 miles from here, today in a victorious march on Changchun, Manchuria's new capital. The Chinese troops are led by Gen. Li Hai-tsing.

Gen. Li's army, equipped with light artillery and numerous machine guns, constituted the most formidable threat to the stability of the new Manchurian state, Manchoukuo, since Gen. Jiro Tamon's Japanese troops captured Harbin.

Since occupying the city of Fu-yu on March 16 the Chinese have seized the tax office, begun collecting revenues, and attempting to administer the government over a considerable area. Small bands of Chinese have occupied villages along the southern branch of the Chinese Eastern railway.

Japanese Residents Flee.

Radio communication between the defenders of Nungan and the Japanese headquarters here was broken at 2:30 p. m. today, strengthening the belief that Nungan had been captured.

The staff of the Japanese branch consulate at Nungan and other Japanese residents of the city were believed to have escaped. The last message received said a band of Japanese civilians, with the aid of bombing airplanes, was blasting a path through the surrounding Chinese lines in the hope of escaping.

JAPANESE PILOT KILLED AS PLANE CRACKS UP IN N.Y.

Tank Explodes, Flames Destroy Ship.

New York, March 29.—[Special.]—Capt. Yoshinori Nagoya, a Japanese army reserve pilot who planned within a few weeks to attempt a nonstop flight from the Pacific coast to Japan, was crushed to death this morning when his Bellanca monoplane dived into a creek half a mile north of Floyd Bennett airport on Barren island.

Falling a few minutes after he had taken off for a test flight to the Bellanca factory in New Castle, Del., the plane struck the creek bed with such force that the motor, a Wasp, pinned the pilot in the cockpit. The aviator was alone in the ship.

At the start of the flight Capt. Nagoya experienced some difficulty in lifting the plane from the ground. During a run of about 900 feet it bounced into the air several times before it rose to an altitude of about 200 feet.

Suddenly the plane went into a nose dive. The pilot pulled it out and climbed about 50 feet higher when the plane again dived at the edge of the mud flats of Mill basin.

A patrolman on duty at the airport and two marines at the naval reserve hangar there extricated the pilot's body and had scarcely pulled it clear when the gasoline tank exploded and the plane burst into flames.

PAST YIELDS UP ITS SECRETS AS SCHOLARS TALK

Noted Archæologists Tell of Their Explorations.

Out of centuries blurred in the pages of history archæologists conjured up pictures of the dawn of culture at the opening of the American Oriental society congress in the oriental institute of the University of Chicago yesterday. More than 100 scholars attended the session.

In the remote ages before the sphinx had a secret the diggers into the past found evidence that in many respects man then was much as he is today. They have uncovered the sire of our alphabet, 4,500 years old, homes and tools much like those of the present, and indications of the same passions that still sway human conduct. Among other things found was evidence of tax fixing when Rome was young.

This was discovered by Prof. Leroy Waterman of the University of Michigan at Seleucia on the Tigris.

Finds Tax Fixing Evidence.

In excavating to uncover traces of the hitherto unknown civilization of the Parthians the professor found seals which indicated that one of the wealthy residents of the city had not paid taxes for 25 years.

"A situation not uncommon in many communities today," Prof. Waterman added dryly.

Seleucia was once the largest city of the ancient world with a population of 600,000. Though its history reaches into the dim ages it became a boom town on its refounding by Seleucis, one of the generals of Alexander the Great.

"It owed its importance to the same things that Chicago does," Prof. Waterman said. "It was the crossroads for eastern and western trade because of its advantageous position between the Tigris and the Euphrates. They were the waterways and the railroads of Seleucia. The city was laid out in a gridiron fashion so that our city blocks are hardly new."

Tells of Ancient Alphabet.

The Very Rev. R. Butin of Catholic university at Washington told of the alphabet of 2500 B. C. The alphabet was found at Serabit-el-Khadim in Syria in 1905. Father Butin has discovered several additional letters and is working to decipher the inscriptions.

Serabit-el-Khadim was once held by the Egyptians because of its turquoise mines. Employed at the mines, not in servitude but as laborers, were tribes of Semites. In 1905 William Flinders Petrie, an English archæologist, found the alphabetic inscriptions, which are unlike the Egyptian hieroglyphics abounding in the excavated city. Twenty-five letters have been found.

"The letters have an interesting history," Father Butin said. "For example, there is B which is represented by them as a square, a crude drawing of a house, which in Hebrew—and these people were Semites of the Jewish strain—is beth. Today our B is nothing more than two houses.

Head of Ox Represents "A."

"In the same way their A was represented by the head of an ox with the curving horns as crossbar. R came from the word for head and was represented usually by a profile. And so with other letters; each was represented by some concrete everyday object."

The writing was found on large semi-circular walls about three feet high behind which the tribes slept protected from the sing of sand in the wind. Father Butin believes the writing identified the owner of a particular sleeping shelter. He believes these people may have transmitted their alphabet to the Phoenicians, who in turn took it to Greece, although he said it is possible that the Phoenicians may have hit upon the same crude system.

Hunts First Man of Culture.

Henry Field, assistant curator of the Field museum, told of his search for the first man of culture in southwestern Asia. He is not concerned with the primitive type such as the Neanderthal man.

Mr. Field believes the first cultured man had his home in the once fertile country in northern Arabia. He has found evidence of men of the stone age, but no burial grounds, he said.

The Oriental society opened its three day meeting with a business session. Prof. A. T. Olmstead of the Oriental institute was elected president to succeed Prof. Nathaniel Schmidt of Cornell university following addresses of welcome by Robert Maynard Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago; Dr. Schmidt and Prof. James Henry Breasted, founder of the institute.

1,200 OFFICERS WILL CELEBRATE ARMY DAY HERE

Banquet to Be Held in Medinah Club April 6.

Army day will be celebrated in Chicago on April 6 at a banquet in the grand ballroom of the Medinah Athletic club, 505 North Michigan avenue. The Military Order of the World War, Cook County chapter of the Reserve Officers' Association of the United States, and the Society of American Military Engineers are sponsoring the dinner.

More than 1,200 regular army, National Guard, and reserve officers and their guests are expected to attend the banquet, which will be part of a national celebration indorsed by President Hoover and the governors of many states. Army day is held in April because that month is the anniversary month of the revolutionary and civil wars and of American participation in the world war.

Maj. Gen. Parker to Speak.

Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commanding the 6th corps army area; Maj. Gen. Roy D. Keehn, commanding the 33d division, Illinois National Guard; Col. R. I. Randolph, former president of the Association of Commerce, and Edward K. Hogan, first international vice president of the Railway Carmen's union, will speak.

National Guard and reserve organizations in Chicago will be seated in groups. Among the National Guard commanders who have accepted invitations are Brig. Gen. John J. Garrity, 66th brigade; Brig. Gen. Frank Schwengel, 58th field artillery brigade; Col. Francis M. Allen, 131st infantry; Col. Charles H. Davis, 132d infantry; Col. Samuel T. Lawton, 122d field artillery; Col. Charles C. Haffner, 124th field artillery; Col. Karl E. Hobart, 108th engineers, and Col. Charles C. Dawes, 202d coast artillery.

Others are Col. Walter J. Fisher, 106th cavalry; Col. Spencer C. Dickerson, 8th infantry; Col. James J. McKinley, 108th medical regiment; Maj. James U. Sammis Jr., 33d division special troops, and Maj. C. A. McElvain, 33d division aviation.

Maj. Gen. Parker announced yesterday that the original plans for the military pageant to be held in Soldiers' field from June 27 to July 4 have been enlarged considerably. Instead of only 800 regular army troops, 2,000 troops from Fort Sheridan, Jefferson Barracks, Mo., and sailors from the Great Lakes naval training station will participate, he said.

Maj. Gen. Parker made the announcement at a luncheon for 200 business leaders and city officials at the Stevens hotel. The tournament will be held in connection with the Washington bicentennial celebration and all proceeds will go to charity, half to the Joint Emergency Relief Fund and half to the Army Relief society.

PANAMA IS TOLD CANAL WILL NOT FIRE ALIEN HELP

Burgess Against Giving All Jobs to Yanks.

BY GERALD MARTIN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BALBOA HEIGHTS, Canal Zone, March 29.—Gov. Harry Burgess has notified the Panama foreign office that the government of the Panama canal will not eliminate alien laborers from their jobs with the canal and railroad.

Recent activities of the metal trades council, unit of the American Federation of Labor here, and local posts of the American Legion, which urged Washington to employ American citizens only on the canal, excepting those of messengers, has aroused the Panama government to take up the matter with Gov. Burgess. Panama fears that the sudden dismissal of some 10,000 Panamanians and West Indians would augment its present unemployment situation and create difficulty.

Not Backing Legislation.

Commenting upon legislation now pending before congress, the adoption of which would oust alien laborers in favor of Americans, Gov. Burgess told the Panama foreign office that "none of these measures are supported by the Canal Zone government. They were not introduced nor supported by this government."

"The Panama canal administration has energetically opposed the approval of these measures, not only in view of the economic crisis they would precipitate but also because we recognize that there is a principle of justice in favor of these foreign employés, who have spent so many years in the employ of the United States," the governor continued.

He announced that he had sent to Washington complete and conclusive arguments against the approval of these laws.

Americans After Jobs.

Nearly thirty years ago the first Americans arrived to put the canal through, and today there are many young Americans who have been born and raised in the Canal Zone. They want to remain here and, with a long waiting list for jobs and the unemployment situation facing them in the United States, they feel that many positions held by the colored West Indians might be given them at a slight increase in pay.

There are between 10,000 and 11,000 aliens in the service of the canal.

American and other foreign enterprises in the tropics have always employed this labor and the Panama canal and railroad do not have on their pay rolls a larger percentage of this class of labor than such organizations as the United Fruit company, or the oil corporations in Colombia and Venezuela. On the contrary, Gov. Burgess has eliminated many of the jobs from the alien class and employed Americans wherever possible.

A cell in the West North avenue police station last night was occupied by a homeless nanny goat and her new born kid. The mother goat was found early yesterday chewing on the door knob of an ice cream parlor at 2400 West Chicago avenue. Sergt. Earl Rumney and Policeman Louis Frank found her when they sped to the place on a report that a burglar was about the premises. A few hours later the kid was born. The only clew that will aid in the search for the owner, Sergt. Rumney said, was the fact that the nanny has a tan coat, while the kid is coal black.

HELEN AND CAROL BECOME FRIENDS; MAY REMARRY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUCHAREST, Rumania, March 29.—Despite constant denials that negotiations for the reconciliation of Queen Helen and King Carol of Rumania are proceeding, it was learned today that the possibility of the royal couple being reunited in wedlock is growing.

Dowager Queen Marie gave a dinner last Monday at which Carol, Helen, and their son, Crown Prince Michael, were present. Helen and Carol are on friendly speaking terms, and are often seen together in the capital.

On the other hand, Prince Nicholas, brother of King Carol, does not intend returning to Bucharest. This was indicated by the fact that $24,400 was transferred by the Rumanian bank to Nicholas' account in Paris recently.

Virgin Islands Fight Tax Increase to Meet Deficit

ST. THOMAS, Virgin Islands, March 29.—(AP)—The administration's proposals for increased taxes met with stubborn resistance in a heated debate in the colonial council here today. Increased inheritance tax, income tax, new excise taxes on luxuries, and poll and gasoline taxes were among those opposed. Acting Governor Brown has asked that a tax measure be passed before April 1 to meet a deficit of $12,000 for the present fiscal year and to provide funds for the next year. Unless action is taken, he said, a cut of 40 per cent in municipal salaries and expenditures would be necessary.

BRITISH POLICE STRIP AND FLOG WOMEN IN INDIA

Economic Boycott Against England Increases.

BY EGBERT SWENSON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BOMBAY, India, March 29.—Civil disobedience continues in India. More than 100 were arrested in Bombay at one demonstration yesterday.

It was reported here tonight that the police at Andra, near Madras, stripped and flogged women political prisoners.

Meanwhile the boycott of British goods is increasing daily. The All-Indian Trade and Commerce association, which is the central organization of all Indian business men and manufacturers, at its annual meeting at Delhi formally resolved to boycott the preparatory work of the round table conference committees which are working for a new constitution for India unless the government ends the repressive ordinances and releases Mahatma Gandhi and his associates from prison.

Press Fights Repression.

The Indian press is stoutly and with some success resisting strangulation by the ruthless ordinance régime with which the government is trying to kill the civil disobedience movement.

The authorities recently withdrew their order to the Bombay Chronicle, which is supporting Gandhi, not to print the names of any persons arrested under the ordinances. The monstrosity of such an order is evident inasmuch as the civil disobedience campaign and the government's struggle against it is the dominant news of the Indian press. Even the most diehard pro-British papers, published for British resident consumption, print columns daily about it.

Obeying the order, the Chronicle for several days carried stories reading like this:

The order became too ridiculous. Besides, newspaper circles began asking the question, "How can such an order be enforced on one paper and not on the others?

British Press Protests.

So that part of the order which referred to names was withdrawn.

The British press in India, becoming frightened over the government's growing boldness in interfering with the freedom of the press, discreetly began to protest. The press became thoroughly aroused when the home secretary announced on the floor of the assembly in Delhi that its members' speeches would be censored in the press. In view of the fact that Gandhi's movement is not represented in the assembly and that the remaining members, those who are not out and out government appointed, represent no party and are against the civil disobedience movement, the proposal seemed a bit high handed even to the British Indian press. It began to protest against the increasing restrictions.

Rule Is Attacked.

Even the Statesman of Delhi, which is to all intents and purposes the government organ, recalled English constitutional history long enough to say editorially:

"The newspaper world generally must look with deep suspicion at an encroachment upon rights which have been won after hundreds of years of struggle. The privilege of reporting parliament without penalty was finally gained after a contest that makes one of the more fascinating chapters in the liberty of the newspaper. Some of us have watched with dismay the recent encroachments made upon legitimate journalism in India. We have not wished to protest because we recognize the urgency of the situation with which the government has to deal . . . but if there is to be a press at all there must be some limit to the regulations under which it appears . . ."

The protest, of course, refers only to restrictions inconvenient to the Statesman and papers of its ilk. The persecution of the Gandhi press goes merrily on.

Princes to Back Federation.

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

DELHI, March 29.—The chamber of princes, which is meeting here, is expected to adopt the resolution giving general support to the All-India federation. The majority of princes want the resolution to leave no doubt about the acceptance of the federal scheme, but at the same time stress the following points as a necessary safeguard:

A guarantee by the crown of all their treaty rights, preservation of their internal sovereignty in all respects; on completion of the federal plan a clear definition of their relations with British India before they are asked to commit themselves.

ON WAY TO U. S.

MODERN CITY RISES IN JUNGLE, EVEN TO BUS LINE

Ford's Rubber Plantation Develops in Brazil.

BY ANTHONY PATRIC.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BELEM, Para, Brazil, March 29.—Spurred by an intensive house building program, a modern city is rising in the northern Brazilian jungle as Henry Ford's gigantic rubber plantation project advances toward completion.

Prainha, a site on the 2,500,000 acre Ford concession, which only a few months ago was a "caboclo" living district with scattered straw huts and squalid surroundings is expected to become before the end of June the core of one of the principal cities of the state of Para, to be listed officially as Boa Vista. It now has about 5,000 inhabitants.

Build Swiss Type Cottages.

The construction of 100 new houses of the Swiss cottage type for foremen and workmen is being pushed at top speed. Some have been completed, equipped with modern conveniences, such as plumbing, and are already the homes of satisfied Brazilian laborers.

In conjunction with this new residential section there will be a modern market with shops, a church, a bank, and a movie theater. An auto bus service has already been installed between the various divisions of the concession.

The company has also undertaken a landscaping project in the developed part of the concession. Palm, mango, and rubber trees have been planted, and proud reference is now made to a "Palm" avenue.

Build Modern Park.

The principal thoroughfare of Boa Vista even now give the appearance of old city streets. A modern park is being built for the young city, and gardens are being started by each tenant of company houses.

An active year is in prospect for the rubber plantation. Plans are under way, it is understood, to cut another swath in the jungle near the Tapajoz river and contractors are preparing to resume clearing near Boa Vista as soon as the rainy season is over. The number of employés is expected to be increased considerably to take care of this additional clearing.

Operators of the various trade concessions report that business is improving as the "caboclo" becomes accustomed to using articles which heretofore he has regarded as luxuries.

REVEAL MOSCOW BEHIND CHILEAN REVOLT SCHEME

[Copyright: 1932: By the New York Times.]

SANTIAGO, Chile, March 29.—Disclosure of the contents of secret communications from Moscow, addressed to the center of soviet operations in Latin America at Montevideo, revealed today a conspiracy for a communist upheaval in Chile early in March, according to the newspaper Ultimas Noticias.

Moscow authorized the expenditure of $45,000 to carry out plans for a movement of communists toward what is termed the "ninth political district" of Chilean territory, the newspaper said. One of the notes, dated Moscow, Feb. 5, was reported to have said:

"Examination of reports issued by our commission in Latin American countries during the last three months of 1931 leads us to decide to commence a period of revolutionary action. The threatening of constant reaction in a majority of the imperial governments in Latin America, the effects of the economic crisis, constant competition between American and British imperialism for possession of new markets, and unemployment, with the consequences of famine and misery, constitute the principal factors favorable to a revolutionary movement, which should prove successful if properly organized."

The notes were signed by Remeli Kunsen Tomasoff.

LEGION ORGANIZER KILLED.

Rochester, N. Y., March 29.—(AP)—David J. Nolan, manager of Loew's Rochester theater and one of the organizers of the American Legion, was killed and four other men were injured today when a taxicab struck a telegraph pole on the Buffalo-Rochester highway.

OFFICIAL OPENS GOODS OF FAMILY SLAIN BY POWERS

Public Administrator Halbert O. Crews yesterday opened three large boxes containing the personal effects of Mrs. Asta Buick Eicher, Park Ridge widow, and her three children, who were slain by Harry Powers, the mail order bluebeard who was hanged recently at Clarksburg, W. Va. The boxes contained an unusually large amount of expensive hammered silverware, dishes, a radio, clothes and some toys and dolls.

"I wonder why Powers, who returned to get these belongings after he had killed Mrs. Eicher and her children, took the toys and dolls?" Administrator Crews said. The boxes were sent to Chicago by the sheriff at Clarksburg, where the murders were committed. They were opened in Mr. Crews' office at 30 North La Salle street.

REPORT BROKER ACCUSED IN TRUE BILLS FOR THEFT

Two true bills charging larceny were reported to have been voted by the grand jury yesterday against Frederick L. Wilk Jr., president of Wilk, Clarke & Co., an investment concern at 39 South La Salle street, which is in receivership.

The true bills are said to be based on the complaints of Wilk's mother-in-law, Mrs. Ella Stromberg, 5442 Sheridan road, and his sister-in-law, Mrs. Minnie S. Denniston, 310 East Sibley avenue, Park Ridge. Mrs. Stromberg charges that Wilk stole $178,720 in bonds from a safety deposit box, while Mrs. Denniston accuses him of a $13,500 theft from her.

Wilk's investment house went into receivership late in January. A few weeks later, according to the state, forty investors, who lost a total of $500,000, signed complaints against Wilk.

"Cablegram" Con Man's Bonds Fixed at $40,000

Tully Warner, 29 years old, charged with trying to obtain money from A. J. Pixley, wealthy restaurant owner, through the "cablegram" confidence game, was held to the grand jury in bonds of $40,000 by Judge Frank M. Padden in the Felony court yesterday. Warner has also been identified as the man who took $1,100 from Miss Laura M. Brusenback, secretary to Gordon P. Kelley of the Miehle Manufacturing company, in a similar scheme. He was arrested last Thursday when he took a dummy money package sent by Pixley's secretary.

The duchess is visiting in London.

FLYNN ADJUDGED IN CONTEMPT FOR GRAFT QUIZ DEFI

New York, March 29.—[Special.]—William J. Flynn, commissioner of public works in the Bronx, was adjudged in contempt today for his defiance yesterday of the Hofstadter legislative committee.

Supreme Court Justice Ford delayed fixing a penalty, and therefore the public hearing at which Flynn was to have been pressed for answers this afternoon was postponed until tomorrow, by which time Samuel Seabury, counsel to the committee, expects a decision which will constitute a lever to pry Flynn out of his silence.

Justice Ford said he was "not disposed to be harsh" because Flynn undoubtedly was excited and wrought up.

"We must remember that his name is Flynn," said Justice Ford with a smile.

H. A. Palmer Elected Head of Chicago Traffic Club

Henry A. Palmer, editor of the Traffic World, was elected and installed last night as president of the Traffic Club of Chicago, which has 1,400 resident members and 500 nonresident. The election was held in the club quarters in the Palmer house. W. D. Beck of the American Railway association was made first vice president; R. W. Campbell of the Butler Paper corporation, secretary, and J. H. Howard of the Western Weighing and Inspection bureau, treasurer.

PHONE FRANCHISE CALLED ILLEGAL; SEEK INJUNCTION

A taxpayers' suit to enjoin the operation of the franchise granted last year to the Illinois Bell Telephone company by the city was filed yesterday in the United States District court. The bill of complaint alleges that the franchise is unconstitutional and that under it the city will have to pay the costs of moving telephone facilities out of the way of the State street subway.

The suit also seeks to recover for the city 15 million dollars which, it is claimed, the company owes to the city as additional compensation. The suit was filed by the law firm of Adams, Baker & Payne on behalf of Robert Sorrels and Susie Smith, who are identified only as taxpayers.

MILK DEALERS PLAN PARLEY ON NEW WAGE SCALE

Survey Shows Labor Gets Half of Retail Costs.

BY PAUL POTTER.

With wage negotiations about to be started—probably today—between Chicago milk dealers and officials of the milk wagon drivers and inside dairy workers, a survey disclosed yesterday that the cost of delivery of milk is higher in Chicago than in any other large city.

The Chicago retail price of milk is 12 cents a quart. The survey shows that in many cities the price is lower than in the Chicago area, while no city has a higher price when butter fat content and health regulations are considered.

A computation of costs shows that out of the 12 cents a quart paid by the Chicago consumer 6 cents goes to labor. The delivery cost is 4 cents a quart.

May Change Wage Contract.

The Chicago milk dealers are reported to be considering possible changes in their five year contract with organized labor which expires April 30. The contracts involve some 7,200 wagon drivers belonging to the union, of which more than 500 are unemployed. At present the employed drivers are assured a minimum of $50 a week, plus commissions. Some drivers, operating store routes, are said to be making as high as $65 to $70 a week.

There are now about 5,000 wagons delivering milk in Chicago, and about 460 in the suburbs. Other drivers are operating wholesale routes. There is an additional driver for every six wagons to provide the six day week called for in the present contract. Every sixteen or seventeen wagons have a foreman.

Inside dairy workers, including bottle washers, bottling and servicing operators, have a minimum union scale of $44 a week, while veteran operators or foremen are getting as much as $49 per week.

Conditions in Other Cities.

The survey of conditions in other cities shows that in New York the wagon drivers, carrying larger loads than in Chicago, are being paid $45 a week, with grade B milk selling at 12 cents a quart and "loose" milk at 9 cents.

In Washington, where more milk per wagon is delivered than in Chicago, drivers are averaging $40 to $50 a week. Milk retails for 14 cents a quart.

In Philadelphia, where almost twice as much milk per wagon is delivered as in Chicago, the wagon drivers' average being a little over $35 a week, grade B milk sells for 10 cents a quart and grade A at 12 to 13 cents.

Boston milk wagon drivers, who are unorganized, receive $25 to $40 a week for larger loads than Chicago drivers deliver. Milk is retailing at 8 to 10 cents a quart. The Boston wage situation is almost identical to that in Kansas City, Mo., where milk retails at 8 and 10 cents a quart.

Milk wagon drivers in Milwaukee are now getting about 1.52 cents of each 9 cents a quart paid by consumers, while in Chicago the drivers get about 3.6 cents of each 12 cents a quart.

The survey indicates that the Chicago milk wagon drivers deliver fewer units for each wagon than in any other city. A unit is a pint or quart of milk, a pound of butter, or a dozen eggs.

flight to the Virginia city for when he arrived there he declared that "everything is satisfactory," and added that he was "hopeful of results."

"They may come very soon," he asserted.

When he was asked if Col. Lindbergh had expressed any doubt regarding the authenticity of the information he took to Hopewell after hearing his story, Mr. Peacock said he had not done so, in his presence at least.

Police Deny Lindy Hopes.

He asserted that Col. Lindbergh had requested specifically that he and his associates continue their work, and he added:

"We are authorized to continue our negotiations."

In view of the positive statement of the Norfolk clergyman, Col. Schwarzkopf was asked to request Col. Lindbergh to say whether he still viewed the activities of the Norfolk group with skepticism. He replied:

"Upon taking the matter up with Col. Lindbergh, we find that the statement still obtains in regard to the Norfolk situation, and there is nothing to add to it or change."

Offer Yacht in Search.

Reports that the baby was being held on a boat in waters off the Virginia coast persisted in Norfolk during the day but there was no tangible evidence to support them. Mrs. Charles H. Consolvo of Baltimore, wife of the owner of a fast yacht which is moored near Mr. Curtis' shipyard, said her husband had been asked to let the three intermediaries use the craft to visit the kidnaper outside territorial waters.

The yacht took on oil and supplies Monday and is ready to sail at a moment's notice but Mr. Curtis said that neither he nor his associates ever had considered using it. Mr. Consolvo said his wife must have misunderstood him when he told her he would be glad to lend it to the intermediaries "if they wanted it."

DETROIT TO MEET ITS OBLIGATIONS FOR '32, MAYOR MURPHY SAYS

Detroit, Mich., March 29.—(AP)—Mayor Frank Murphy in a statement today asserted that the city of Detroit "has no intention of defaulting or repudiating or failing in any way in meeting its obligations."

The statement was made in reference to the recently announced plan of refunding some $30,000,000 in interest and maturity indebtedness becoming due in the 1932 fiscal year.

The city plans first, the mayor said, to balance the 1932 budget by putting into effect further reductions in the cost of operating the government, by raising additional funds through new sources of revenue and to refund the principal of certain bonds falling due next year.

BANK PAYMENT REPORT IS FOUND TO BE AN ERROR

No payment can be made to the depositors of the closed Elmwood Park State bank until several court actions have been disposed of, the office of the state auditor announced yesterday. It had been reported that Circuit Judge Michael Feinberg on Monday had ordered a 10 per cent payment to the depositors.

Judge Feinberg said the payment order had been erroneously announced by his press bureau in his chambers. He had issued no order, he said, but had urged that depositors of the bank file their claims.

The bank now has $67,000 in cash against deposit liabilities of $580,000, but two suits for $50,000 each are pending against the institution. There is also an unsatisfied loan of $56,000 made by a loop bank, which has sold collateral covering the loan for $42,000 and has a claim for the balance.

4th Defendant in Pipe Line Case Gives Self Up

S. J. Maddin, vice president and director of the Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line company, surrendered at the federal building yesterday on a warrant charging use of the mails to defraud. Three other defendants in the case, Frank P. Parish, head of the pipe line company, and two directors, are at liberty in bonds ranging from $2,000 to $5,000 pending trial. Maddin was released in bonds of $2,000. The men are charged with misrepresenting the value of the company's stock.

RECALL THRILLS OF AUTO TESTS IN PIONEER DAYS

Expert Tells Contrast with Present.

BY HAL FOUST.

Charlie Root, who was a member of the American Automobile association's contest board a quarter of a century ago, was again on a hillside yesterday with a flag and stop watch. With representatives of the Chicago Motor club and of Chicago newspapers, he was officiating at tests of a 1932 automobile on the grades of Palos Park, in the southern part of Cook county.

"I remember the hill climb we held in 1907 at Algonquin," said Mr. Root. "Hundreds of Chicagoans took the long ride to the Fox river valley to see the event. And they paid 25 cents apiece to watch an automobile climb a hill."

Once a Real Adventure.

He glanced around the group of men in Palos Park. It consisted mainly of employés of the Auburn Automobile company and of a gasoline company, newspaper men, a trio of motorcycle police, and two or three casual bystanders.

"We called these old time events 'hill climbs,' but a large portion of the cars in the contest would never get up the grade," the veteran continued. "When engines would die the brakes of that time wouldn't hold and we'd have to throw a railroad tie behind a wheel to prevent the cars from rolling backwards."

Record Runs to Rockford.

"We had reliability tests," he said, "and they were not only big sporting events but were laboratories for the industry. One of these contests covered three days, consisting of round trips to South Bend, to Rockford and to La Salle. The drivers had to average 20 miles an hour or better.

"These reliability runs were grueling tests for drivers and for machines. Springs would be broken, bearings would burn out, fenders would shake loose, axels would break—any mechanical weakness in a car would be exposed, and there were lots of weaknesses."

More cars came dashing up the hill. Record sheets were compiled for the company's use. Acceleration tests were made in Grant park in the afternoon.

JURISTS PONDER WRIT TO LIMIT LENGTH OF HEAVY TRUCKS, BUSES

Danville, Ill., March 29.—(AP)—Final action on a plea for a permanent injunction to prevent enforcement of the new Illinois law restricting the length of trucks, buses and other commercial vehicles was delayed in federal court here today when three judges hearing the plea took the case under advisement for at least ten days.

The judges, sitting on banc, were Samuel Alschuler and Charles Woodard of Chicago, and Walter C. Lindley of Danville. The judges postponed the hearing of arguments pending investigation of evidence.

Some thirty trucking companies operating in Illinois are involved in the case, which will affect motor transportation lines throughout the state.

TARDIEU TO CALL ON MacDONALD NEXT MONDAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 29.—It is now almost definitely settled that Premier Andre Tardieu of France will come to London either on Sunday night or next Monday morning and will meet Prime Minister MacDonald on Monday.

The two will talk over not only plans to assist the Danube states, but also the world's depression, including the currency problems. Later, possibly even next week, representatives of France, Italy and Germany will assemble in London to discuss the proposal for an economic federation of Danubian states, but no definite date has yet been fixed.

The preliminary meeting of Tardieu and MacDonald is in the nature of a small triumph for French diplomacy. MacDonald was anxious to associate the other two powers from the first, but the French insisted that the first requisite was an agreement in principle by Great Britain and France before the others were called in.

The Best Place to Hide $4,000 Is in the Dark

Williamson, W. Va., March 29.—[Special.]—George Ball, 52, a laborer, had saved his money for 21 years and had told several persons of his distrust for banks. He kept $4,000 in the house. Last night two masked men came and tried to force him to tell where his cache was. He refused. One of them hit him on the head with a chair. Ball regained consciousness while the men were searching another part of his house. He obtained his money from its hiding place, threw it out an open window into the dark yard. When the robbers gave up the hunt he went out and retrieved his money. It's in a bank today.

Rock Island City Workers Facing Payless Pay Day

Rock Island, Ill., March 29.—[Special.]—On account of no present market for its tax anticipation warrants and slowness of tax receipts, the city of Rock Island faces a crisis in meeting its pay roll due April 5. Immediate passage of an ordinance providing for the transfer of $12,000 from the waterworks to the general fund which would have temporarily tided the city over was defeated by the dissenting vote of one alderman at last night's council meeting.

500 CHICKENS KILLED IN FIRE.

DR. MESIROW TO SEEK FREEDOM ON WRIT TODAY

Habeas corpus proceedings by which Dr. Maurice E. Mesirow, ear, nose, and throat specialist, is seeking his freedom from the county jail's alimony row will be heard this morning by Judge Rudolph F. Desort in the Criminal court.

Dr. Mesirow was committed to the jail Monday for contempt of court, having failed to pay $1,100 in alimony arrears due his divorced wife, Mrs. Eda Mesirow. Dr. Mesirow carried an appeal from the contempt citation, issued in 1930 by Circuit Judge Daniel P. Trude, to the Appellate court without success.

His present wife, who was Mme. Irene Pavloska of the Chicago Civic opera, was reported yesterday to have been unsuccessful in her efforts to raise money to pay the alimony and effect her husband's release. Attorney Cameron Latter, representing Mrs. Eda Mesirow, said that he would appear today to oppose issue of the writ sought by Dr. Mesirow's attorney, I. Harvey Levinson.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, March 29.—The Irish Free State government's reply to Great Britain regarding the oath of allegiance to the British union was studied by the cabinet today. COMFORT for COLICKY BABIES with Castoria's gentle regulation

"The best way to cure colic," says a famous doctor, "is to prevent it." And the best way to prevent it is to avoid gas in stomach and bowels by keeping the entire intestinal tract open, free from waste.

But there's one thing to remember here. A tiny baby's tender organs cannot stand harsh treatment. They must be gently urged.

This is just the place Castoria comes to a mother's aid. Castoria, you know, is made specially for the delicate needs of babies and children. It is a pure vegetable preparation which is absolutely harmless. It contains no harsh drugs, no narcotics.

Children never fight Castoria. They like its taste and the relaxed comfort its gentle regulation brings.

For many years it has helped mothers through trying ordeals with colicky babies, with children suffering from digestive upsets, colds and other little ailments. Keep it on hand for your children. You can always tell genuine Castoria by the name Chas. H. Fletcher.

Won't your SKIN CLEAR UP?

How Can It—when you go on neglecting the trouble that makes it break out?

WHEN you look in your mirror, what do you see? Lovely eyes? Soft hair? The attraction of youth into the bargain?

That's just what this girl sees. Then why does she always miss out on the good times that other girls have?

Because—well, men just can't stand a bad skin!

A blotchy complexion is one of the most unmistakable symptoms of intestinal neglect.

Perhaps you knew this. But—what are you doing about it?

In dealing with constipation—and the skin troubles, digestive troubles, headaches, etc., to which it so frequently leads—doctors almost universally warn us to avoid cathartics, harsh laxatives, violent, destructive drugs and pills.

And in their place they recommend a simple fresh food with truly remarkable power to cleanse the body of poisons!

This food is yeast—fresh Fleischmann's Yeast that you know so well. Many among your own friends are doubtless eating it regularly.

Made a part of your ordinary diet, Fleischmann's Yeast moistens and softens the poison-breeding food residues in the intestines . . . stimulates the natural action that helps your body throw off these wastes in a normal way.

Thus yeast purifies the blood, peps up appetite, stimulates digestion. Headaches disappear. You begin to feel and look worlds better when intestines function regularly every day.

So don't continue to suffer from horrid skin blemishes because you're too indifferent to act. "Tone" and purify your system—get back a clear skin, better digestion, true health—by eating 3 cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast every day, regularly. Just eat it before meals, or between meals and at bedtime—plain, or dissolved in water (a third of a glass).

You can get Fleischmann's Yeast at grocers, restaurants and soda fountains everywhere, and every cake is rich in three precious health-giving vitamins—vitamins B and G, and the remarkable "sunshine" vitamin D, lacking from nearly all other foods.

*IMPORTANT—*Fleischmann's Yeast for health comes only in the foil-wrapped cake with the yellow label. It's yeast in its fresh, effective form — the kind famous doctors recommend. Ask for it by name!

EXPERTS DEMAND $9,000,000 CUT IN CITY BUDGET

Estimate Corporate Fund Revenue at $54,090,353

Its staff yesterday delivered to the city council finance committee an estimate of corporate fund revenues for 1932, which indicated that the 1932 city budget must be cut approximately $9,000,000 below the 1931 appropriations if it is to pay out.

The estimate given by John A. Richert, chief of the finance committee staff, to Ald. John S. Clark [30th], chairman of the committee, placed available revenues of the corporate fund for 1932 at $54,090,353. Of this $14,280,000 was the estimate for miscellaneous revenue from license fees, etc.; $39,609,000 was the estimated collection on the 1932 tax levy for corporate purposes, and $201,353 was the estimated excess of corporate assets over liabilities on Jan. 1.

The corporate fund budget appropriations for 1931, less allowances for loss and cost of tax collections, were $63,052,079. Mayor Cermak's economy campaign last year cut actual expenditures $6,822,079 below the appropriations, however.

Suggest Added Saving.

The finance committee staff suggested that an additional burden of more than $7,500,000 might be lifted from the taxpayers by omitting the levy to replenish the working cash fund from the 1931 and 1932 tax levies. This levy, $3,788,915 for each year, is separate from the corporate fund levy and therefore does not enter into the corporate budget discussions.

After stating that representatives of the city pension boards and the library boards had agreed in conferences with the finance committee staff to make "substantial reductions" in their expenditures for 1932, and that there will be a reduction of approximately 10 per cent in the 1932 city levy for bond retirement and interest, the staff's report states:

"The gross saving to the taxpayers in the city's portion, which is 37 per cent of the total levy [in Chicago], will be more than $12,000,000 for 1931 and more than $18,000,000 for 1932, as compared with the taxes for 1930.

County Workers to Get Pay.

Officials of the Yellow Cab company yesterday delivered to County Treasurer McDonough checks for $35,000, covering unpaid taxes for 1928 and 1928 which the company had previously protested in court.

County employes will receive pay checks for the last half of November today, it was announced yesterday by Edward J. McCabe, secretary to Treasurer McDonough. Mothers' pension checks for the first half of December and jurors' pay for the whole of that month will also be sent out. Payments were made possible by the purchase by loop banks of $450,000 worth of county tax warrants. Sanitary district employés got half a month's pay yesterday as the result of another tax warrant purchase by banks.

The proposed demonstration of school teachers in the loop, being planned by the Chicago Teachers' federation, has been postponed from Saturday until April 9, a week later, it was disclosed yesterday when the federation obtained a permit for a parade on the latter date. Miss Agnes Clohesy of the elementary teachers' union, warned her group against participating in the demonstration.

Modern Paul Revere Joins New York Easter Parade

Easter Sunday throngs parading down Fifth avenue, New York, were startled by this strange equestrian, who made his way through the heavy traffic. He wore a striking green costume, and some observers said he must have been a bit tardy for St. Patrick's day events. [Acme Photo.]

PAY YOUR TAXES NOW AND HELP SAVE CITY, IS CERMAK'S APPEAL

Mayor Cermak appealed anew to property owners to pay their taxes to prevent a breakdown of orderly government. He said:

"Governments cannot function without revenue. Public revenue is derived through taxes. When taxes are not paid all public service ceases.

"Some misguided, misinformed men aim to lead a revolt of taxpayers. If they succeed our schools will close, our police and fire protection will stop, chaos and anarchy will be ahead of us. I refuse to believe that our citizens will permit it. If you can, pay in full. If you overpay a refund will be made under the new law. If you cannot pay in full pay as much as you possibly can, now, at once.

"Our schools must be kept open."

The Hyde Park real estate board is advising its members to pay at least half of their 1930 tax bills at once, regardless of any questions as to the legality of the levy, its officers announced yesterday. They pointed out the necessity of maintaining the essential services of government.

BLAST OF COFFEE URNS INJURES SIX IN RESTAURANT

Six employés of Calvin Webb's restaurant at 339 South La Salle street were injured yesterday afternoon when an explosion destroyed four coffee urns and hurled boiling water and bits of metal through the room. A plate glass window was shattered and passersby in La Salle street were showered with glass.

Most seriously injured was Mrs. Elizabeth Hawkins, colored, 37 years old, who was taken to the Henrotin hospital. There it was said her condition was critical. John Fried, 40 years old, 119 West Chestnut street, counter attendant, also suffered serious injuries.

The others injured were Fred Lents, 34 years old, 2845 Augusta street; Jules Sargus, 23 years old, 1827 North Park avenue; Nevelle Jones, colored, 23 years old, 4733 South Michigan avenue, and William Moran, 40 years old, 2652 West Washington boulevard.

GAS CO. GRANTED FURTHER DELAY IN RATE HEARING

The state commerce commission yesterday granted the Peoples Gas, Light and Coke company another delay in the rate hearings when company attorneys stated that some of their witnesses were unable to appear. Assistant Corporation Counsel Joseph Grossman, representing the city, protested against the company's plan to put other witnesses on the stand, stating that such a move had not been expected by the city. It is expected that when the hearing is resumed on April 7 two days will be needed to complete the cross examination of company witnesses. The city has not yet started presentation of evidence due to the lack of funds to pay accountants and experts.

ROBBERY SUSPECT HELD.

George Brown, 34 East 38th street, who was captured while fleeing from the holdup of a store at 4222 Broadway, was held to the grand jury in bonds of $10,000 on charges of robbery yesterday by Municipal Judge Frank M. Padden.

FOLLIES GIRL'S LOVE STOLEN, HUSBAND SAYS

She Likes 'Em Tall, and He Is Only 5 Feet 6.

Because Mrs. Tyral Wattles, a former Follies girl, liked big men best, her love was lost to Pedro Mendez, a 190 pound Spanish teacher, George M. Wattles charged yesterday before Judge Craig Hood in the Circuit court. Wattles, who is 5 feet 6 inches tall and weighs 140 pounds, is seeking a divorce on charges of adultery and cruelty.

Because his wife weighs nearly as much as he does, he gave serious consideration to threats she made against him, Wattles testified. Once, he asserted, she went to bed with a razor blade under her pillow, assuring him that she intended to cut his throat as soon as he went to sleep. He didn't sleep, he said.

Tells of Separation.

Wattles is district manager for the Lake and Export Coal company of New York. He has to make frequent business trips out of town, and for several years before they separated last March his wife informed him when he left town on business that she intended to have a good time with other men while he was away, he charged.

Meeting with Teacher.

The wife met Mendez, who was described as being 6 feet tall, with dark, wavy hair, in January, 1931, Wattles said. At his wife's request, he asserted, he asked Mendez to spend several week-ends with them at their home at 914 Vernon avenue, Winnetka.

"I even used to take them both to the Edgewater Beach hotel," he said, "so that they could dance together, while I sat at the table and drank ice water. One Sunday morning I left the house early on business. When I returned, about 1 o'clock, I heard my wife in an adjoining room, explaining to a colored maid why she had gone to Mendez' room as soon as I left the house. She went to wake him up, she said, and stayed there for an hour and a half while he shaved and dressed."

Wattles said that he became suspicious and hired detectives to watch his wife. Once, after he had told her he was going to Minneapolis, but had got off his train in the suburbs, he found her with Mendez.

TO WED AGAIN

CHICAGO WOMAN CLAIMS SHARE IN $3,000,000 ESTATE

Mrs. Olive Snow Morton, 4885 North Paulina street, yesterday advanced a claim on behalf of herself and her children to a share in the $3,000,000 estate of Mrs. Ida Mayfield Wood, eccentric recluse who died on March 12 in New York at the age of 93. Mrs. Morton and her attorney, William S. Kleinman, departed for New York to press her claims.

Mrs. Morton is the widow of Walter Berga Morton, who was a grand nephew of Benjamin Wood, Mrs. Wood's husband. In Mrs. Morton's possession are three daguerreotypes of Mrs. Wood and her husband, who died in 1900. He was a newspaper publisher and a brother of Fernando Wood, once mayor of New York City.

Mrs. Wood was declared incompetent to manage her affairs a short time before her death. At that time hundreds of thousands of dollars in currency were found pinned in her clothing or concealed in trunks in her room. Mrs. Morton and Attorney Kleinman will seek court permission to be present when 54 trunks owned by Mrs. Wood are opened in New York.

Mrs. Wood once owned the most valuable collection of jewelry in New York, the attorney said. A large part of her jewels are believed to be hidden in the trunks.

New TWELVES bring new fame to PIERCE-ARROW

priced as low as $3650 at Buffalo

Where hand-craftsmanship still endures

Precision takes precedence over everything else in the construction of a Pierce-Arrow. The faces of the engine bearings, for example, are actually shaved with a diamond-pointed cutter to make them micrometrically exact. And in every other operation equivalent care is exercised.

THAT feat which many had considered impossible — refinement of Pierce-Arrow power — has actually been accomplished in these new Pierce-Arrow Twelves.

Pierce-Arrow engineers and craftsmen have wrought such marvelous precision into the Twelve engines that even when operating at top speed, there is scarcely a tremor or sound to be detected.

This is due to the flawless quality of the materials employed — to the super-accuracy with which bearings, pistons, valves, crankshafts, camshafts, connecting rods and all other moving parts are installed.

Body sections are micrometrically matched and mated with equal care because endurance as well as appearance and performance are Pierce-Arrow requisites. Yet it is possible now, to purchase these Pierce-Arrow Twelves — finest of American automobiles — at decidedly advantageous prices.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

FIGHTING FOR AMERICA.

The gathering of business representatives of the midwest in Chicago to organize the fight for government retrenchment is encouraging evidence that the taxpayer has waked up. The Association of Commerce should see to it that its campaign covers the country. The politicians in congress and elsewhere have shown no disposition to give the nation the relief it must get without delay if we are to escape national bankruptcy. There is not the slightest hope of relief without organization. We can "resolute till the cows come home," as James Russell Lowell said in another great crisis of our history, and there will be no results. There is but one way to get them and that is by the organization of citizen strength to force political action.

Public opinion is rising like the wind, but its force will be dissipated unless it is concentrated and directed for practical action. The steam is getting up, but it must be poured into the cylinder if the piston of action is to be moved.

The nation is full of citizen organizations whose combined power is overwhelming. They are active in business, in labor affairs, in agricultural affairs, in civic life. The national, state and local chambers and associations of commercial men, manufacturers and bankers, organized labor, the farmers' leagues and associations, the Rotary, Kiwanis and Lions, the civic associations, national and local, the professional bodies, all are representative of the citizens' vital interest in public retrenchment and sound government financing. They should concentrate their power upon the politicians who legislate and administer, who impose taxes, establish policies, exact money and spend it. They should not waste their strength upon generalities thrown into the air to be blown away. They should concentrate direct pressure upon every man in office and upon every man who today is asking for votes. They should put their demands in concrete form and submit them to congress, the government and the party managements. They should present definite pledges for the reorganization of the government bureaus, the elimination of overlapping and unessential activities and expenditures, and for the drastic reduction in public expenditures to bring them into exact relation to the revenue obtainable without destructive taxation—in other words, to a balancing of budgets by economies and not by increased exactions from the people.

At the present moment the welfare of the nation is critically threatened by a congress that has done nothing for retrenchment, but is turning all its energies to devise new and heavier burdens for the people and for the productive enterprise upon which renewed employment and revived prosperity depend. This is the way to national ruin. The demagogues, the quack, the enemy of American principles are in the forefront dictating to a nation of a hundred and twenty million intelligent and loyal citizens whose present and future welfare they threaten to destroy. It is an intolerable menace and it can be wiped out by the organized common sense and directed will of the nation. But not by mere talk. By organized action.

THE GOLDEN GLOVES.

The Chicago region boxers meeting the New York amateurs Monday night in Madison Square Garden were defeated as a team, twelve bouts to four. Last year in Chicago the western team won thirteen bouts to three. In each of these Golden Gloves tournaments there are hair line decisions and it is fairly apparent that there is a slight edge for the home team, not arising out of the partiality of decisions—that is precluded so far as it is humanly possible—but out of conditions which cannot be changed. The boys are not weathered public performers. There are imponderable elements in the ring when an ordinarily shy boy finds himself under the lights with twenty thousand people watching him.

The arrangements are intended to give each boy the best break possible, a fair matching, fair fighting, and a fair decision. As the teams met Monday night the east produced the better boxers and took the match. A long distance observer might question the rule which requires a decision in each bout. A tournament, it would seem, might be decided by the clear cut wins, allowing the close matches to end as draws. It would be fairer to the boy who loses a match by a hair line of judgment or by a mixed two to one vote. If the boys have fought three rounds on equal terms and are finishing toe to toe it would not strain the standard of amateur contests to slap them both on the back and send them to the showers from a drawn fight.

The objection that the referee and judges might be too amiable and the fighters less aggressive need not be regarded as necessarily sound.

LICENSE PLATES.

It is estimated by THE TRIBUNE motor editor, Mr. Foust, that about one-third of the motor licenses have not yet been paid to the state. They were due nearly three months ago—that is, on January 1.

This is not a tax strike of citizens inflamed by a sense of gross inequalities. The license is equal and light. It is merely a case of tax shirking condoned by the government whose duty it is to collect. The law is not enforced because primaries and an election are approaching. Thus the state loses the use of about five million dollars for three months at least.

A mitigation of this failure of duty makes the motive in nonenforcement clear. Indiana officials are impounding Illinois cars with old plates in Indiana, Illinois officials are impounding Indiana cars in Illinois. The laws are enforced where no votes can be lost.

Approximately half a million citizens of Illinois are breaking the law. They are permitted to do so by officials sworn and paid to enforce the law on the assumption that they will reward these officials by voting for them. This bargain is not only unlawful; it makes a farce of law and government. It is profitable to the parties to it only because the mass of voters are either uninformed or indifferent. If the morale of the community were what it should be no one would be seen in public with a 1931 plate, for it would be an advertisement of lawbreaking. If our political intelligence were what it should be no official would dare to permit half a million advertisements of his failure to do his duty to go rolling along the streets and roads of the state.

DECLINED WITHOUT THANKS.

A letter from Mr. J. Clyde Marquis will be found this morning in the Voice of the People. Mr. Marquis as a director of econcmic information in the department of agriculture offers THE TRIBUNE a farm marketing news service to be furnished without charge. The government offers this service not to all newspapers but only to THE TRIBUNE and a few others, not named but characterized as "representative." No doubt that means to newspapers having the largest circulations and influence.

This discrimination between individual enterprises on the part of government officials is difficult to explain in any other terms than attempted bribery. Just what the bribe is intended to accomplish is not clear. Is it intended to win the support of the most powerful newspapers to an unpopular administration? Or is it intended to silence the protests of THE TRIBUNE and others against the profligate administration of the department of agriculture and the farm board's folly?

These are questions the answers to which Mr. Marquis or one of his superiors will have to provide. THE TRIBUNE does not want anything for nothing, and more particularly doesn't want or expect any special favors from the department of agriculture. If the department has any information to broadcast the information should go to all newspapers without distinction.

GEORGE EDMUND FOSS.

Illinois will choose two congressmen at large at the coming election. Among the candidates for one of these important places George Edmund Foss has a special advantage in his long and approved service as representative of the old 10th district for more than 20 years. By electing Mr. Foss the people of Illinois will gain the services of an experienced legislator who knows the ways of congress thoroughly and will be effective and influential from the first day.

More than that, Mr. Foss has taken an unequivocal and sound position on the chief issues of this time. He has declared that "the all-important problem before the country today is retrenchment and economy," and he is pledged to work sincerely and vigorously for them. On the issue of liquor control he is for immediate modification of the Volstead act and resubmission of the 18th amendment to the states. In his former terms he has supported a great deal of useful legislation and has been a notable champion of adequate national defense, having special knowledge of naval affairs. He was chairman of the naval affairs committee of the house for eleven years, a member of the house committee on foreign affairs and an intelligent supporter of American interests in international relations. He was responsible for the establishment of the naval training station at Great Lakes, and is acquainted with the Philippine and other problems of the Pacific. He will be an influence for sane and constructive legislation if returned to congress.

Editorial of the Day

BEGINNING TO TALK SENSE.

[Boone (Iowa) News-Republican.]

Illinois seems to be retrenchment minded. The state 's cutting down expenses and Chicago has discharged a bunch of supernumerary employés. Senator Glenn gives promise of trying to strike at the heart of extravagance at Washington. Senator Lewis arose in the senate the other day and proposed to abolish the interior department, the interstate commerce commission, the shipping board, and the trade commission. He believed the government could save $15,000,000 by this process.

This is a step in the right direction and shows that a few members of congress see the handwriting on the wall. In view of the fact, however, that considering the March 15 income tax returns the government deficit will be two and a half billions instead of one and a half billions, the proposal of Senator Lewis assumes the proportions of a drop in the bucket. Congress will have to find some means of applying economy in greater doses than by the spoonful.

The country is alarmed at the condition which confronts it at Washington. With bankruptcy staring the government in the face, the only wrangle that agitates the house is what kind of taxes to impose. Not a word about cutting down expenses. While the rest of the country gnashes at reduced incomes and vanishing profits, Washington goes right on with a saturnalia of increased squandering. There appears to be no one at the helm to point out the dangerous predicaments towards which the treasury is rushing. The idea at Washington is that the rest of the country must be squeezed dry in order that the capital city may live in opulence.

Naturally, the President should be the one to warn congress that it must right-about-face and curtail extravagance. The only thing he advises, however, is more boards, commissions, and committees.

There is an ominous roar about the sales tax and a growing evidence that the country is thoroughly mad at the tax spenders in Washington. Some day soon the people will demand economy in no uncertain terms. We cannot afford to go the way of England and Australia. The country must remain solvent, and the only way to do it is to put the ax to the wilderness of wasteful bureaucracy which is getting us in the hole at the rate of a billion and a half dollars a year.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

WHAT! NO TAX ON SPATS? HOW COME?

Now for the sad news. The ways and means committee of the house brought in its report yesterday, which will probably be adopted. Let us skip the part about taxes on capital stock and bonds, dividends, corporations, and so on; it wouldn't interest the most of us, but look—wow—here's where it gets lots of us: 10% on cosmetics; furs, 10%; jewelry, 10%; chewing gum, 5%; radios and phonographs, 5%; mechanical refrigerators, 5%; autos, 3%; yachts and motorboats, 10%; candy, 5%; safety deposit boxes, 10%.

And that isn't all, oh, dear, no! Postage goes up a cent; beverages get what the committee calls a "nuisance levy" (though, as far as we're concerned, the whole business is a nuisance); matches will be soaked four cents per one thousand. Sporting goods and cameras will be taxed 10%, and from the amount of artillery now in the hands of our bandits and gunmen the government ought to get a lot of money out of this item alone.

It's going to seem pretty tough to pay 3% on the car when the darned thing has already been soaked for license tax by both the state and city. We don't mind the tax on yachts and motorboats, nor jewelry nor fur coats. People who own those things can afford to pay taxes on 'em. But chewing gum! And matches! And our cute little camera! And our faithful old phonograph! Ouch! But, anyhow, the committee hasn't taxed us on our toothpaste, nor spectacles, nor suspenders. Thank Heaven, those necessities of life and happiness still go unvexed and free.

But, gosh! Why did we mention 'em? Now they'll catch it. And the two cute little geraniums in our window box! And the family cat! And the Sealyham purp! And our silk hat! And the safety razor! And the toothbrush! And the red flannel unnerwears! All right, congress, go to it. But when the tax collector comes around, instead of paying him we'll just make him a present of the lot.

SONG FOR LYNN.

As a dream is thin
So is the name of Lynn.
It can be made
Any afternoon
Out of two blades of grass,
Or any night,
Out of the merest sliver of the moon.
It is as thin and bright
As winter sunlight.
It is as delicate as a slender silver chain.
It can be covered
By the shadow of the smallest leaf.
It can be written in a drop of rain.
It is so little, so little . . .

Yet, it is so great a thing.
It has flown with winds
Between strange worlds,
It has defied death,
It has resisted frustration and fear,
And rests upon me here,
Lightly, thin, as a dream is thin,
The name of my Beloved, "Lynn" . . .

PEOPLE ARE STILL BEING SHOT DOWN by the hundred attempting to escape across the ice from Red Russia. It's hard to understand. You can't imagine people attempting to escape from Heaven, can you? But from Hell, yes, we could picture a wholesale rush across the ice to get out of Hell. But, the climate being of a tropical nature down there, of course there can't be any ice to escape on. And, while the U. S. A. is neither one nor the other, we hear of very few people trying to escape from America. It would seem to a man up a tree that when its citizens try to escape in large delegations from a country there must be something a teeny wee bit wrong with said country. Or what?

TIME.

Time is a healer of old wounds,
An anodyne of pain,
Unravels many mysterics
And makes the hidden plain.
Takes heed of much misgiving
And augurs faith anew,
Renews the joys of living
Brings victory for the true.
Time is a tall physician,
Stooping to heal and save,
Upon a worthy mission,
With brow serene and grave.
For every sun that's rising
New hopes shall come to men,
From every hard chastising
They are renewed again.

INSTINCTS AND URGES.

DR. H. S. HULBERT, in speaking before the National Safety council, gave a schedule of the instincts of a woman, arranged by years, and ranging from early infancy to 68 years of age. Many psychologists would quarrel with the speaker over his use of the word instinct, claiming that what he calls instinct should have been designated as "urge," or by some other term. But that is a dictionary warfare in which we, the plain people, have no great quarrel.

This schedule served as the basis for an argument that many qualities which we praise when found in a person of one age we condemn when they persist in other age periods. The difference is that the quality is off schedule. For instance, egocentric behavior in a young child promotes his mental and physical health. The same behavior, in the years when the child is expected to be a social animal, would be condemned, and might cause us to think of mental abnormality. Most children pass through various "collector" stages, the type of collecting often varying with age. The right collecting at the wrong age is abnormal. And collecting in maturity may mean miserliness, and, in some forms, is a characteristic of certain cases of insanity.

Some of these qualities, termed "instincts" by the speaker, may be useful or harmful—depending on where they occur, with reference to the pattern. He discusses fear as one of these. Fear is useful in that it promotes thrift, foresight, planning, and caution. It contributes continually to judgment, if in no other way than by antidoting recklessness with caution. On the other hand, fear is a most harmful agency. It is responsible for worry and anxiety, and these cause a multitude of woes. A certain executive, for a quarter of a century in the employ of one concern, and highly esteemed by this exceptionally stable, well balanced management, confesses that he is wakened from his sleep occasionally by a bad dream, always the same. In this dream he is on the street, out of a job, looking for work. Another man, the owner of a large business, had many youthful years of grinding poverty. His rest is broken by the dream, in which his business has failed, and he is trying to get a job as a driver of a canal boat.

Self-regard is another quality which is most useful for certain situations. It gives a man courage to push his way on to success. But the same quality may make him a failure and a nuisance.

Another is anger. Most psychologists would not quarrel over naming anger as an instinct. The harmful effects of anger are well known. An illustration of some that are not so well known is as follows:

A baby's legs are held still. He wants to kick and cannot. Anger results. Anger is thus tied up with frustration. Some people get into trouble because they have never learned to submit to restraint. They have no patience. Even anger, in its place, serves a useful purpose. Do we not know of "righteous indignation"?

Acquisitiveness and covetousness are corner stones of wealth and power. Somewhat dislocated, they are corner stones of theft and mercenary crime.

RAYNAUD'S DISEASE.

G. P. writes: What is Raynaud's disease? Three of my fingers turn white when they get cold. Does working outdoors in the cold weather or putting the hands in cold water cause it to spread? Is there any treatment I could take?

REPLY.

You can see for yourself what the symptoms are. Nobody knows the cause. The fingers turn white because the blood vessels are, temporarily, too small to carry sufficient blood. But that, too, is an effect. We might say that an instability of vasomotor nerves causes that effect, but even that instability is an effect behind which lies a cause. It is exposure to cold that pushes over the apple cart.

By way of treatment, an operation is being tried. There is a method of hardening the skin by alternate exposure to warm and cold water. At the same time, the affected limb is raised and lowered.

Some subjects try the climate cure.

OPERATION OFTEN NEEDED.

G. F. H. writes:

1. Is operation the only remedy for inguinal hernia?
2. Is the operation dangerous?

REPLY.

1. I presume you refer to closing the canal permanently. Some canals are closed by exercises that develop the abdominal muscle walls; some by wearing trusses. In most cases operation is the only method.
2. Not very.

TO SET ASIDE WILL.

Olney, Ill., March 24.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—My sister's husband gave money to a home for the aged to take care of his wife and himself. He has since died and my sister is in the home. He left $1,200 which belongs to my sister, but he appointed a guardian. In the event of her death the remainder of the money is to be given to some relative of the husband's in Switzerland. My sister is perfectly able to manage her own business and would like to gain control of the money. How would she have to go about doing this? The husband was sick and 80 years old when he made these arrangements, unknown to my sister. S. H.

In order to set aside the will it would be necessary to prove undue influence or lack of testamentary capacity. We do not have the facts on these points before us.

"GUARANTY."

Villa Park, Ill., March 24.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—About a year ago I had some cement work done by a contractor. It was guaranteed not to crack or peel. I agreed to pay for it by month and signed a judgment note which contains the above guarantee. The contractor sold the contract to a finance company. I still owe four payments on the note. The cement work has cracked and peeled. Can I hold the finance company equally responsible with contractor in fulfillment of contract? Would you advise me to hold further payments on contract? Would I stand a good chance of recovering all I have paid them if they fail to make good their part of contract? G. N. S.

If the guaranty is a part of the note then the holder would take subject to the guaranty. This means that you could set off your damages as a defense, but you would not be entitled to an affirmative judgment against the holder of the notes.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

BROKEN SIDEWALK.

Chicago, March 24.—[Friend of the People.]—Will you kindly notify the proper department regarding the sidewalk at 3459 Diversey avenue? An entire square is out of this sidewalk and same is always filled with water. Just this morning I saw an elderly lady step into this hole and the water reached up to her ankle. W. R.

Report is made that space where sidewalk slab is missing has been filled with cinders and will be kept filled as necessary.

CHINA-JAPAN WAR, 1894

SHANGHAI, Nov. 16.—Prince Kung has assumed the supreme direction of military operations. Prince Ching, president of the Tsung-Li-Yamen, is second in command. Six ships of the Pie-Yang squadron left Takut on Nov. 12 with instructions to attack the Japanese.

YOKOHAMA, Nov. 16.—Newspapers here resent Great Britain's offer of intervention, which they regard entirely as a movement on behalf of China.

NEW YORK, Nov. 16.—Both China and Japan, the latter especially, are exerting every effort to ship cargoes of war munitions from this country, as evidenced by pressing demands for rates on lead and guns received by the Canadian Pacific and the Southern Pacific companies.

SHANGHAI, Nov. 16.—Gen. Wei, one of the Chinese commanders at the battle of Pingyang, where the Chinese were utterly defeated with heavy losses, was beheaded today for cowardice during that engagement.

TIENTSIN, Nov. 18.—Eleven Japanese men of war, eight torpedo boats and three transports, have been lying since Nov. 16 off Wei-Hai-Wei, which is on the Shantung promontory, about 100 miles southeast of Port Arthur.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—The correspondent of the Standard in Berlin telegraphs that he learns from a Japanese source that Japan will demand the right to occupy Mukden and Port Arthur before entering into negotiations for peace with China.

28 YEARS AGO TODAY

ST. PETERSBURG.—Gen. Kouropatkin has made a report of the first considerable engagement between the Russian and Japanese forces in northern Corea. The operations took the form of a cavalry attack on March 28 by six companies of Cossacks led personally by Gen. Mishtchenko against four squadrons of Japanese cavalry at Chongju. The fire maintained on the town was so destructive that the Japanese were unable to make an effective return. The losses were heavy on both sides and the Japanese remained in possession of the town.

PINGYANG.—The Anju river presents the line dividing the Japanese and Russian forces. Anju is held by 1,500 Japanese who are being continually reinforced from Pingyang and Chimmanpo. The latter city is being strengthened as a part of the Japanese scheme to offer terrible resistance in the event of a forced retreat. Nineteen transports are now discharging Japanese troops at Chimmanpo. A half dozen transports arrive and discharge daily.

NEW YORK.—The Democratic primaries held today in many large counties practically assure that Judge Alton B. Parker will be indorsed by the Democratic state convention for President and his name will be presented at the St. Louis convention as the choice of New York. The anti-Parker faction in Buffalo headed by William J. Conners was completely defeated.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Consul Frost at Queenstown cabled the state department that the British steamship Eagle Point, with one American on board, had been torpedoed by a submarine. An official announcement by the state department, based on the consul's dispatch, says the Eagle Point was torpedoed without warning 100 miles from land, that all aboard were saved, and that among the survivors was one American citizen. The total number of British ships sunk since the beginning of the new German submarine campaign March 1 is twenty. In no case was any warning given. Secretary of State Lansing admitted tonight that he regards the situation as grave and that the information received in the last twenty-four hours is far from reassuring. The details in the official reports to the department lend a more serious aspect to both the Englishman and Sussex cases, in the opinion of Mr. Lansing, and for this reason he refused to make them public until the investigation is completed.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—One of the army's most serious problems in hunting Villa was solved today when Gen. Carranza promptly granted the request of the state department for permission to use the Mexican Northwestern railroad in carrying out the pursuit.

CASAS GRANDES.—An aerogram received here tonight reported that a small band of armed Mexicans, declared to be followers of Villa, had been seen fifty-five miles south of here. If the report is true, this is farther north than Villistas have been reported for more than a week.

CLEVELAND, O.—With a toll of at least 26 persons dead and forty or more injured, an investigation was begun into the cause that led to one of the most disastrous wrecks in a dozen years and one of the worst in the history of the New York Central railroad. Three trains, including the Twentieth Century Limited, came together in a collision near Amherst, O., thirty-seven miles west of Cleveland. Two eastbound trains and the Century, westbound, figured in the crash.

THE LEAGUE DEFENDED.

Madison, Wis., March 23.—I have just read your editorial of last Sunday, "The Victory of the League." This editorial is the first which I have seen where you have seriously considered the claims of the league to attention as an effort in the direction of the better regulation of international affairs and as such it has its own significance. But I should like to call attention to some errors of fact and, as I believe, judgment contained therein.

Supporters of the league know well that international pressure was used and at times used effectively before 1920, but they also know that it was extremely difficult to get such action in the absence of permanent machinery and in the absence of an assumption that this would be the normal course of events. To say that the league was not on guard when Manchuria was invaded, nor when Shanghai was seized, is to dodge the point. The machinery of the league was available and was immediately put into operation. This could not have been done prior to 1920. It is, of course, a matter of opinion whether the unorganized pressure prior to 1920 had as much success as the league has had since that time; I for one do not believe that the point can be maintained for one moment, having in view the increased difficulty of the international situation since 1920, the number of cases handled, and the results obtained.

It is also impossible to prove that the league, had it existed, would have prevented the breakdown of 1914, but we have the testimony to that effect of such men as Stresemann, Lloyd George, Briand, and numerous others.

Your description of the league as simply an assemblage of sovereign powers is quite accurate. On the other hand, your assertion that a majority of the assembly can order a boycott is simply without foundation. The smaller nations cannot for one moment order a boycott or other coercive action over the head of the other powers. On the other hand, they can by expressing more detached international opinion encourage and induce the other powers to take action. The whole merit of the league machinery in this connection is the possibility which it offers of getting concurrent action voluntarily, promptly, and for advantages which are quite clear to all.

Incidentally, all of this has to do solely with the league as a peace making agency and disregards all other phases of league usefulness.

UNDER THE SUN.

Chicago, March 24.—I would like to know what under the sun the state of California and more particularly the city of Los Angeles have done to merit such sarcastic remarks as have been daily enumerated in the Line o' Type and various other sections of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE. It really seems a shame, because, as you know, California is still a part of the good old U. S. A. Just what is the real meaning of all this lack of courtesy? Fun? Well! If it is meant to be in that jovial spirit, why limit all the humor to only one state of the Union? Remember, there are forty-seven others.

THE ORCHESTRA.

Chicago, March 24.—One of your correspondents can "think of nothing much more deplorable at this time than the disbanding of the Chicago Symphony." It seems to me this constitutes a world record on thinking. With one hand tied behind me I can think of at least a hundred and fifty more deplorable things which could happen at this time. Of all the nonessentials, particularly "at this time," I would put the Symphony near the top of the list. The majority subscribe and attend [when they must] as a pose. It is necessary for one's social position to subscribe, to pretend to enjoy the music, and, on occasions, to be seen at the concerts.

One of the favorite indoor sports of the subscriber is to wish off Symphony tickets on a list of unsuspecting friends, but the subscriber must be seen at times —of course this is the female of the species.

There are a few musicians who understand and enjoy these concerts and get something out of them, but the majority of the audience is bored to extinction. Of course they would not confess this; it would be such bad form. They go because it is the thing to do; but think of the poor children who are forced to attend these concerts. The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children and Animals could think of a great many more deplorable disasters than the disbandment of the Symphony.

Why not put these dozens of $100 per week musicians into some worth while occupation? Why should they be endowed? If they can honestly find a public willing to pay them at the box office for their services, that would be fine, but why endow them?

Symphonic music is a harmless dissipation to the elect few and a pose to the many. Let the real musicians and the poseurs pay for their fun if they want it, but let the rest of us spend our money and make our endowments on something really worth while "at this time."

DEPRAVED BUT HONEST.

WILLING TO WORK IN RUSSIA.

Park Ridge, Ill., March 24.—Congressman Fish's attack on Americans who help the U. S. S. R. put over its program has just come to my attention. I am a civil engineer and despite the fact that I am a technically trained man who has had nine years' experience in the United States, Mexico and Chile in various engineering enterprises I find it impossible to secure employment under the system we are tolerating today. I merely want to state that if ever I am offered employment by the U. S. S. R. I shall unhesitatingly accept, for, after all, "self-preservation is the first law of nature," whether it applies to an unemployed engineer who is willing and able to work, or to a congressman who merely lives up to his name and acts like a fish. FIGHT BEER WAR WITH BRICKBATS; MOONEY SHIFTED Move Police Captain from South Side.

That the battlers for the beer privileges of the far south side have laid aside their machine guns and revived the use of the old fashioned brickbat was disclosed last night through a mysterious transfer order which "benched" Capt. James L. Mooney, one time chief of detectives, more recently in charge of Gresham district.

On Monday night windows of five saloons were smashed with brickbats in the district, the lucrative beer territory of Edward [Spike] O'Donnell and his brother, Charles. Twenty-five windows have been broken in this manner in the last week, according to the police.

Bubs Quinlan Is Blamed.

Michael [Bubs] Quinlan and his gangster associate, Dan McGeoghegan, who once was sentenced to hang with Henry J. Fernekes, the midget bandit, were blamed by the police for this brickbat assault to intimidate retailers of O'Donnell beer.

The order sending Capt. Mooney to "the bench" at the detective bureau was cloaked in secrecy. Commissioner Allman gave no explanation, and it was even denied at the commissioner's office that such an order had been sent out.

Nevertheless Capt. Thomas Pilkington went from the Shakespeare district to command at Gresham and Capt. Gregory Moran was transferred from the detective bureau to Shakespeare. Capt. Pilkington was on the bench until a few weeks ago, when he was sent to Shakespeare.

"This is a surprise to me," said Capt. Mooney. "I know of nothing that has happened in the Gresham district which might be a cause for my transfer."

A Beer Saloon District.

The Gresham district extends from 75th street to 95th street and from State street to Western avenue. There are said to be more beer saloons in this section than in any other police district in the city. Two weeks ago Charles O'Donnell was waylaid and shot by unidentified assailants.

McGeoghegan was sentenced to hang in 1926, with Fernekes and John Flannery, for the murder of Michael Swiontkowski, treasurer of the Pulaski Building and Loan association, in a robbery. The conviction was reversed by the State Supreme court and a second trial resulted in an acquittal.

Capt. Mooney was chief of detectives under Chief of Police John Garrity in 1920.

Minneapolis, Minn., March 29.—[Special.]—Seven machine gun bandits raided the North American branch office of the Northwestern National bank today, and after herding all employés to the rear of the place, and forcing them to lie on the floor, escaped with cash and securities valued in excess of $175,000.

A hat, lost by one of the bandits, gave police their only clew. The hat label read Al Baskin, Joliet, Ill., haberdasher.

The robbery was one of the most daring and most carefully planned ever staged in Minneapolis. Detectives said they believed the men had been living at White Bear lake. After the holdup, the gang escaped in a large sedan bearing Minnesota license plates. Plans of the robbery were laid out in detail and carried through without a hitch.

Instead of bustling in, the bandits, in groups of two, walked in casually. The first grim notice of the holdup came when two of the bandits stepped to the desk of Rome B. Gross, assistant manager. They covered him with pistols and forced him to get up and stand by the wall near his desk. He made a futile attempt to touch off a burglar alarm beside his desk.

Then other bandits with machine guns herded eighteen employés and customers to the rear of the bank. They threatened to shoot them all unless J. A. Kunze, manager, opened the vault. He complied.

Two of the bandits carryings sacks looted the vault of $50,000 cash and an estimated $125,000 in securities. They then, using two women as shields, backed out a rear door and and ran to their waiting auto.

By the time police arrived the robbers had made their getaway. There was no definite information as to the direction they had taken.

The bandits got the largest amount of loot ever obtained in a Minnesota bank holdup. The nearest approach of this was $142,000 obtained in a Willmar bank robbery in July, 1930. The holdup was the first bank robbery in Minneapolis in more than three years.

Oak Park Wife Makes New Charges Against Husband

Mrs. Mary A. Baldwin, 414 South Scoville avenue, Oak Park, president of the Frances Willard hospital, amended her bill for separate maintenance to include charges of adultery yesterday when James L. Baldwin, head of an express company, filed a cross bill before Judge Joseph Sabath in the Superior court, asking a divorce on grounds of cruelty. Mrs. Baldwin charged cruelty in her original bill.

HUGHES GUILTY IN $2,500,000 BOND SWINDLE

CRIMINAL COURT.

Carl Cushler, larceny, sentenced to 1 year in Pontiac reformatory; Raymond J. Lance, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in Pontiac reformatory; Ernest W. J. Hughes, confidence game, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge Rudolph F. Desort.

Jack Dalton and Michael Cortez, larceny, sentenced to 1 year each in Pontiac reformatory by Judge Phillip Sullivan.

Dante Cardella, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Robert Gavin, robbery, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Thomas Ackerman, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in the penitentiary; Walter Allard, burglary, sentenced to 1 year to life in Pontiac reformatory by Judge George Fred Rush.

Ernest W. J. Hughes, 47 years old, operator of a real estate bond investment house at 10 South La Salle street and involved in an alleged $2,500,000 swindle, was found guilty of confidence game by Judge Rudolph F. Desort in the Criminal court yesterday. He was sentenced to serve from 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary.

A motion for a new trial was denied but Judge Desort granted Hughes sixty days in which to prepare an appeal. Pending the outcome of his appeal, Hughes will be at liberty on his old bond.

Swanson a Creditor.

One of Hughes' creditors is State's Attorney John A. Swanson. It was reported that some of the defendant's worthless bonds had been accepted by the prosecutor in a business transaction.

The complaint which led to Hughes' conviction was made by Mrs. Mabel G. Barker, 7159 Bennett avenue, widow of Bertrand Barker, former chief engineer for the county. Mrs. Barker testified that she had invested $46,500 in worthless stock certificates sold to her by Hughes. Assistant State's Attorney Charles A. Bellows stated that hundreds of investors had been duped by Hughes.

Operated for Four Years.

Hughes was able to operate for four years, Mr. Bellows told Judge Desort, who heard the case without a jury, before the depression "knocked down his house of cards." Mr. Bellows presented evidence that Hughes floated bond issues on building projects even before acquiring title on property.

Included in his projects were: Eastwood Towers, Wyn-Lake Towers, South Shore Drive apartments, Loyola-Glen apartments, Malden Towers, and the Ran-Oak Towers in Oak Park.

COURT FORBIDS FILM COMPANY FROM USING NAME OF TIFFANY

New York, March 29.—[Special.]—Justice Dore in the Supreme court today granted a permanent injunction against Tiffany Productions, Inc., a motion picture concern, restraining them from using the name "Tiffany."

The decision was handed down after testimony was brought forward to show that the firm of Tiffany & Co., jewelers, had transacted over 350 million dollars worth of business since the house was organized 95 years ago. It also was testified that some member of the Tiffany family had been connected with the jewelry firm since 1837 and that the house had spent $3,574,453.52 for advertising in the last 23 years.

It was charged that the movie concern had caused to be projected on the screen such phrases as "Twenty gems from Tiffany" and "Tiffany, it's a gem."

In handing down his decision Justice Dore said that there was no "colorable reason" for this "except the desire to obtain the benefit of some one else's labor and expense."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 29.—Fifty Britons, including examiners, dyers, spinners, and designers formerly in the employ of large British woolen firms, left for Teheran this morning as expert advisers to the Persian government's new woolen industry, which is subsidized with $29,000,000 obtained from the sale of crown lands and hoards of jewels.

The machinery was bought in Great Britain and 35 British engineers will go to Persia soon to install and operate it. Climatic conditions and the water to be used in the mills corresponds to those in Scotland, and experts forecast that Persia will become a leading manufacturer of fine woolens.

The exchange of technicians by the two countries was completed by the employment of 200 Persian craftsmen to manufacture Persian rugs in England for a British concern. High tariffs are responsible for the inauguration of both industries.

Jury Says Slain Man Got What He Deserved

SHORT WEIGHING COAL MERCHANTS WARNED BY GREIN

A letter was sent to coal dealers and public weighmasters yesterday by City Sealer Grein stating that he will ask Mayor Cermak to revoke the licenses of all weighmasters of coal companies found guilty of giving short weight. Such action, Mr. Grein said, would automatically stop the offending coal merchant from doing business, since each coal dealer is a licensed weighmaster.

"I have determined to take every step possible to protect honest dealers and the people against cheating by dishonest coal dealers, weighmasters and deputy weighmasters," said Mr. Grein. "I am not going to be content with court prosecutions alone."

One coal dealer, Wiley Hamilton, 15 West 94th street, was placed on probation for six months after he had been fined $200 yesterday by Municipal Judge Leon Edelman on the charge of short weighing a customer.

DON'T DESTROY

the ELASTICITY *that makes stockings wear

DO YOU KNOW what causes those ruinous stocking runs?

New stockings are elastic. They give under strain, stretch and then spring back again. When this precious elasticity is destroyed, the silk threads, instead of giving, break under strain. It is then that runs start!

That is why Lux is especially made to preserve the elasticity that makes even sheer stockings WEAR.

The Lux Way to make stockings wear*

Wash this 2-minute way: 1. One teaspoon of Lux for each pair. 2. Add lukewarm water to Lux, squeeze suds through stockings, rinse well.

Recalls Travels and Her Life as Hostess.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Heritage of Years," by Frances M. Wolcott. [Minton Balch.]

Such charming restraint as is evidenced by the publication of "Heritage of Years"! Not that the author has buttoned her lips closed over amusing incidents or has refused to call the important men and women whom she knew by fictitious names, or refrained from saying what she thought about this and that. The rare restraint lies in the fact that Mrs. Wolcott is eighty years old and has just written her first book. When she had all of that material all of that time, and has never before listened to the blandishments of her admirers urging her to "write it down"!

MRS. WOLCOTT.

There are two kinds of memories of those blessed with the weight of years, the kind that is garrulous and wandering and without any sense either of humor or reality, and the kind that is colorful and delightful and filled with mellow humor. Mrs. Wolcott was a brilliant hostess in her youth and middle age, she knew the great artistically, and socially, and politically. She traveled as few women of her day did travel. And it is with the years of her life to the age of almost forty that "Heritage of Years" has to do. But she couldn't possibly have been the "person" in those years that she was when she wrote her memoirs, for they are rich with a perspective and a gentle humor and a fragrance which only memory gives to incidents and emotions.

More Than Record of Facts.

There is something more than the record of fact in paragraphs like this . . . "In March of 1875 Mr. Bass and I embarked on a North German Lloyd steamship, the Oder, a staunch craft of four thousand five hundred tons, uncovered decks, and an overwhelming smell of bilge. Capt. Willegerutte made the sailors construct a tarpaulin-covered bench, and he would carry me in his arms, a limp creature, half dead, saying 'Poor land rat.'" There are frequent humorous allusions to her incurable sea sickness, but despite that during the years recorded in these pages Mrs. Wolcott bravely flitted across the Atlantic as if she were commuting. Her first husband [Mr. Bass] was ever in search of health, and she gave to the search the humorous cooperation that made her this charming reminiscencer at eighty. With every conceivable luxury as her normal back ground, she found delight in "roughing it" in Colorado [whither one of the pilgrimages took them], despite the fact that, as she says, "All the ancient families of bedbugs were in possession of the hotel. I carried at all times a blower of Persian insect powder which I squirted in every crevice when I was not scrubbing, washing, or reading Matthew Arnold's verses in the black shadow of a stately pine."

Most of Mrs. Wolcott's memories have to do with the luxurious things of life, the great people, the far and luring places, but to all of them she took the kind of humor which is to be found in that sentence. Insect powder and Matthew Arnold, bed bugs and tall pine shadows—she saw all of them in their allotted places with a genuine zest for life.

Story About Pony Express.

It was only a generation before Mrs. Wolcott's early days in Colorado Springs that the thrilling events took place which are recorded in "The Pony Express," by Arthur Chapman. Those days seem so remote to most of us, and yet stories about them must have been the dinner table gossip of Mrs. Wolcott's day. Mr. Chapman found one of the riders still living who was willing—eager—to talk about his experiences as a Pony Express rider. He and his elder brother went onto the Santa Fé trail when he was 18, carrying provisions and military supplies to the forts located north and east which protected the trail. Later he was sent north to the Oregon trail to freight supplies. Finally, in 1860, he says, "I had an opportunity to ride. The boys were dropping out fast. Some of them could not stand the strain of the constant riding . . . The greatest danger I faced on the trail was buffaloes . . . If a rider ever ran into a herd, he was gone. Wolves were numerous, big fellows . . . One of the hardest rides I ever had made was when I carried President Lincoln's inaugural address from the telegraph station at Fort Kearney. Another was when the news came that Fort Sumter had been fired on. Such things broke the routine and made every Pony Express rider feel that he was helping to make history," concludes Mr. Chapman. It is exactly the thrilling feeling of being in on the making of history that the reader gets from such books as "The Pony Express" and "Heritage of Years." Within the memory of man and of woman things were so different! There's real excitement in that idea.

Lyolene Frock of Dark Blue Pique Designed for Summer Days in Town

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS.—[Special.]—The old device of putting something familiar into unfamiliar usage is making a lot of the best French fashions again this spring. A striking instance of this is the use of colored piqué to make summer dresses and coats. We wouldn't bat an eyelash over white piqué, but when the Paris dressmakers show us fetching little frocks, suits, and coats of black, navy blue, and red piqué, this material begins to be exciting.

Lyolene, in the Place Vendôme, is the first of the Paris couturiers to come out with this material, and the dress shown in today's sketch is made of dark blue piqué. It is designed for wear on hot days in town, and is eminently practical and cool.

Aside from the material, this dress has other style points. The first and foremost of these is the three tier jabot of self-material that begins at the lower edge of the square neckline in front. Second come the elbow length bishop sleeves that are one of the outstanding features of French styles this season. The way in which the waistline of the blouse is held fast by a wide girdle of navy piqué, piped with white piqué and tied in back, is another smart detail. The double bolero front of the blouse and the jabot are likewise piped with white.

Spring Blues Are Safe for Any Wardrobe

Now Is Time to Plan Your Outfit.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

THE Easter fashion pre-view of what is new merely whets the appetite, and the days following that parade of new spring clothes probably won't be long enough to satisfy even the most casual shopper. No more mad dashes around town that were really sightseeing trips for ideas . . . buying a spring wardrobe is now actually in progress.

Most of us know what we like but getting what we want with a sadly shriveled clothes allowance certainly exercises every bit of any sort of feminine shrewdness that we may possess.

You'll look at lots of lovely new things, you'll peer at price tags until you're tearfully tired, but you'll buy some of the smartest clothes you have ever seen at the lowest prices you have ever been asked to pay . . . and that's news.

You can change your mind about color schemes much more satisfactorily after watching the fashion effect of any particular shade that you fancied on a lot of other women that no doubt liked it as well as you did. Or, if you need the fashion support of at least five thousand other females who also approve and wear spring blues, then you are safely settled on the blue side.

Some Hints on Buying a Hat.

And a hat's a hat all right . . . but it's a grand and glorious feeling to know that you can find another just as flattering, perhaps even a bit more becoming, than the one you acquired a little too hastily under the persuasive influence of a spring fever for a new hat. These dashing, daring, first models are fine for the first few weeks, but only the hats that are carefully designed just for your head, cut and dipped and turned to frame your face, will successfully stand the test of time and sun tan.

New spring gloves and hose must match exactly . . . a lovely new shade of beige is particularly wearable with nearly every fashionable color . . . and modest budgeteers will welcome the authoritative news that fabric gloves will be tremendously smart and popular. It is becoming increasingly difficult to detect the difference between fabric and doeskin . . . the styles and stitchings are exact duplicates . . . the fabric is thick and luxurious, retaining this texture after repeated laundering.

All the new spring silks and woolen materials are on display . . . if you can't find what you want, ready to wear, you can plan your own and, with the help of any good standard or well known pattern and the skillful dressmaker, you can achieve a wardrobe especially planned for you without any possible chance of duplication.

Sports Clothes for Daytime.

New sports clothes can be easily used for street and daytime wear . . . especially the newest hand knitted effect dresses. . . as the days grow warmer, more and more of these good looking open meshed dresses will be seen. Lots of boucle frocks are now available . . . boucle dresses that are made to look like hand knitted models, and their new very moderate prices will amaze you. Many have delightful little knitted roll-your-own caps to match

Scarfs and collars are the most important new accessories . . . for these are the knowing little things that completely change the entire costume . . . the same dress serves as a practical foundation for as many different collars and colorful scarfs as you may have the good luck to find . . . there's practically no end to the ways and means of this manner of costume transformation.

This sports suit that can be used for smart street wear also is of gray wool trimmed with white pique collar and cuffs. Epaulet shoulders and buttons are proper spring fashion accents. Worn by Helen Twelvetrees.

Here's the Way to Soften the Leathery Skin

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

"Leathery" skin. Do you recognize its type? Have it yourself? Want to know how to make it softer, more pliable?

Formerly, this type of skin was much more common than it is today. But since women began stocking up on skin lubricants and using them for outdoor protection, the leathery countenance has perceptibly changed. You still see it on women of mature years who may and sometimes do boast that they've never used a thing on their faces but soap and water. Not that you cannot survive for years and years with a good skin on soap and water treatment. Still, with the modern living elements we have to combat, it is a rare skin that can get through the thirties and forties without a leathery harshness unless lubricants and other protective measures are indulged in, to some extent.

The mere fact that we have become a sedentary class of people, for the most part, influences the oiliness of so many skins. Or, would further influence the condition if it were not wisely prevented with the emollients commonly applied.

Once in a while you still see the type of skin on women who spend much time outdoors, golfing, gardening, or working. But here again the reason is their indifference toward the protective oils.

A leathery skin can stand plenty of heavy cream, together with a generous amount of vigorous massage. Neither light cream nor light massage will help much. Nor will occasional attacks on the face serve the softening purpose much.

If you want to correct this type of skin you have to set about it in a systematic way. You can cream it both morning and night. It is well to let the cream remain on longer than would be the ordinary treatment. Leave a film of cream on over night.

But, be sure to give the face its soap and water attention during the day, too. The kind of soap matters also. Keep away from strong alkaline soaps. A soap with oil properties, a slightly super-fatted soap, might be included in the treatment gratifyingly. Astringents we would advise you to avoid, for the time being.

News from Arts Club Luncheon.

At luncheon yesterday at the Arts club I heard that Isamu Noguchi, the young Japanese whose drawings and sculpture at the Arts club have been attracting so much attention, has just finished busts of John Alden Carpenter and Thornton Wilder.

Mr. Wilder, by the way, has left Chicago after his course of lectures at the University of Chicago and so society is minus one of its most popular "lions." Isn't it interesting how many young and attractive professors there are nowadays at the university and how socially important the university set has become since President Robert M. Hutchins and his charming wife came to town?

Mrs. Lobdell Atwater, who was entertaining a small party at the club yesterday for attractive Mary Servoss told me how ecstatic her youngest daughter, Edith, was at having the chance to play Freida Innescourt's part in "Springtime for Henry" on Broadway three times last week, for Edith who has a small part in the play and understudies both Miss Innescourt and Helen Chandler, had begun to fear that neither of the lovely ladies ever would be ill. Edith is a smart child for in addition to being on the stage she writes and gives children's stories over the radio.

Among others I saw at the Arts club yesterday were Mrs. Edward C. Crossett, just back from California, and very busy with preparations for Ruth's marriage, and Signora Giuseppe Castruccio, wife of the Italian consul, who also is busy with preparations but of a different sort. She is leaving on April 8 with her husband for a brief visit with friends in Pittsburgh—he was stationed there before he came to Chicago in 1928—and to sail on April 12 on the Vulcania for home and her four babies whom she has not seen in several months. They, Peter, Paul, Frances, and Micaela, are with Signor Castrucchio's mother in Genoa. Signor Castrucchio will join his family in Italy for a vacation in July.

Tea Will Open Exhibit Tomorrow.

In the absence of the chairman, Mrs. Potter Palmer, Mrs. Joseph Adams, the vice chairman of the reception committee of the Arts club, will head the informal receiving line at the tea tomorrow at the club from 4 to 6 o'clock that will open three exhibitions, the works of "The Blue Four," Edward Biberman, and Roger de la Fresnaye. The Russian artists, Wassily Kandinsky and Alexey Jawlensky, the Swiss, Paul Klee, and Lyonel Feininger, the German, are "The Blue Four," a group founded in Weimar in 1924. Most of the lay members of the club won't know much about this quartet of modernists until they hear Mme. Galka E. Scheyer's lecture on them next Tuesday morning at the club, I imagine.

Mrs. John H. Winterbotham and her daughter, Miss Rue Winterbotham, will depart today for a visit with Mrs. Winterbotham's mother, Mrs. J. D. Harrison, in East Orange, N. J.

Mrs. Charles H. Chadwick, who has been spending the winter in Palm Beach, where she has a beautiful new villa, is in town for a few days after a short stay at the Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore for observation.

Mrs. William D. McIlvaine has returned from a two months' sojourn at the Arizona-Biltmore in Phoenix.

News Notes of The Travelers.

Judge and Mrs. George A. Carpenter, after having spent a month in Phoenix, Ariz., are now visiting the Ralph Ishams at Santa Barbara. They are expected to return soon to Chicago.

Jarvis Hunt has returned to his winter residence in Phoenix after a brief visit in Chicago.

Miss Helen Schumway of Greenwich, Conn., and Miss Margaret McMillan spent the Easter week-end with the Andrew McNallys in Evanston and are now at the Drake with Miss McMillan's mother, Mrs. Marian McMillan, and her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Stuart Brown of New York. Miss Schumway and Miss McMillan have been in Canada for a program of strenuous winter sports and last week made a 32 mile ski hike from Banff to Camp Assiniboine. The trip took two days. They will be at the Drake until Friday.

The hard working guarantee fund committee members of the Friends of Opera will be guests of the chairman, Mrs. Charles King Corsant, at a weekly meeting and tea at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the Casino

A gymkhana and program of jumping for women and children equestrians will be held at 2 o'clock this

The pineapple on tomorrow's menu is presumably canned, but there are fresh ones on the market now. One of the best ways to serve fresh pineapple with a minimum of waste is to cut off the bottom, then stick a fork into the joint where two eyes come together. A downward pressure on the fork brings up a neat wedge of the fruit. After the first row is off the rest goes much more easily. These wedges are served on a plate with a pile of powdered sugar. They are taken in the fingers, dipped in the sugar and eaten, leaving only the outer skin, just as one might eat strawberries and discard the hull. And by the way, a combination of pineapple wedges and fresh strawberries with their hulls on, served on a little glass plate, with sugar in a large sized paper nutcup, makes a delectable course for a Sunday morning breakfast or a bridge luncheon.

Did you ever wonder where pineapples come from, and how they grow? Cuba, Porto Rico, and Hawaii send us most of our suplpy. Since, as with other fruits and vegetables, there is a premium for the first of the season, growers invent ingenious ways of hastening the maturation of their pineapples. In Hawaii they use miles of paper, spread between the rows to discourage the weeds and encourage warmth and dampness.

In Porto Rico they use another method. Quite by accident they found that the heat from a charcoal fire was effective in forcing growth. The man who found this valuable bit of information put his crop under canvas, gave it a good warming with fires, and as a reward for his efforts had his whole lot sold at top prices before his less enterprising neighbors' pineapples were anything like ready to harvest.

The fruit grows on spiney plants, in long rows. Because they are so sharp and stiff [as the top of the pineapple will show you] the men who gather the fruit wear leggings and gloves to protect themselves. They cut the fruit, and turn the cut ends up so that the sun will dry it and keep in the juices.

You may have heard your dealer talking about the 18's and 30's and such like numbers in reference to pineapples. These mysterious numbers mean simply the number of pineapples that are packed to a crate. Thus, the 18 is a larger and more desirable than the 30.

In buying ripe pineapples, choose a specimen that is bright brown in color, avoiding the greenish or purplish one. Men who are in the know tell us, too, that the shape counts, the square shouldered type being preferable to the sloping shouldered type. The eyes in a first class fruit are large. The stem of a thoroughly ripe pineapple can be pulled out easily, but beware of the fruit that is soft, for it is over ripe.

Navy Pier Made Into Garden for Flower Show

Record Entries to March Exposition.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Truckloads of soil, trees, shrubs, rocks, and floral beauties arrived at the Navy Pier yesterday. Club women in aprons and with hands in gauntlet gloves mingled with landscaping specialists and expert gardeners for the sixth annual spring flower show of the Garden Club of Illinois, which opens Friday night and continues to April 9.

Tons of rich earth, huge truckloads of peat moss, and natural rock were being transported and dropped into artistic arrangements. These were followed by a carload of pine trees from northern Wisconsin, alpines and other wildwood plants from Michigan, as well as thousands of potted plants from the greenhouses and conservatories of Chicagoland.

Forty Illinois garden clubs have entered their realistic amateur gardens, and the club committees were hard at work assembling the materials. The Garden Club of Illinois, a federation of 110 community women's clubs, has had hundreds of women at work for months preparing for the show.

Twice as many cut flowers will be shown as have ever been assembled at any Chicago flower show, according to Laurent Clody, secretary of the Allied Florists' association, in charge of commercial exhibits competing for $30,000 in cash prizes.

Orchids will be featured in the garden show this week-end. Special orchid arrays are being shipped from New York and San Francisco, as well as intermediate points. Chicago honors will be defended by Andrew Benson of Des Plaines, who is busy arranging his most extensive display in years of showing.

The Navy pier is especially suited to such a vast show as is now taking shape. As Franz Lipp, in charge of landscaping, pointed out yesterday, the high roof with profuse skylights and the windows extending well down the side walls, will become the roof of a mammoth conservatory.

The temperatures on the lake front also insure keeping a cool, moist temperature, he said, which would make it possible to keep the flowers blooming and fresh all summer were that necessary. Buds will be opening during the show as if it were June.

Mrs. George M. Kendall of the Glen Ellyn Garden club emphasized that her committee was extending an invitation to the public to attend the preview for society Friday night, but that advanced admission prices would prevail. All judging is to be completed Friday afternoon.

"Nationwide" Dinner of Y. W. C. A. Hears Talk on Friendship

Three hundred business girls attended the fifth annual nationwide banquet of the Y. W. C. A., last night in the Merchandise mart. At the same hour, similar banquets are being held throughout the country.

Miss Anne Guthrie, former executive secretary of the Chicago Y. W. C. A., now continental executive for the organization in South America, was the chief guest and spoke on "New Realms of Friendliness."

Official Contract

By Charles True Adams

(International bridge authority; author of "Official Contract at Sight")

All roads may lead to Rome, but some are unquestionably more popular than others. Yesterday's play-a-problem was played at duplicate, and there was a variation in the bidding of East and West at different tables, though all Norths and Souths bid the hands about alike. This was the hand:

♥—A,J,7,6,4
♦—A,9,8,7

WEST.	EAST.
♠—Q,9,8,7,6	♠—A,J,4
♦—Q,3	♦—K
♣—Q,9,8,7,2	♣—K,J,10,6,5

SOUTH.
♠—K,10,2
♥—K,9,3
♦—J,10,6,5,4,2

At the majority of tables the bidding went as follows: North opened with a heart. East overcalled with two clubs. South went to two hearts, West to three clubs, and North to three hearts. East passed. South bid four hearts and all passed.

A few tables, however, varied the bidding by West bidding two spades over South's two hearts in place of three clubs. In this case North went to three hearts as before, East to three spades, South to four hearts, and again all passed. Now if West does not show the spade suit but merely assists the club suit, the original lead on the part of East will be the ♣ J. Dummy will play the 3, West the 8, and declarer will take the trick with the A. Declarer then leads the ♣ 4, which Dummy trumps with the ♥ 3. Dummy leads back the ♦ J, West plays the ♦ Q, North the A and the K falls from East. Declarer then leads the ♥ 4, East ducks and plays the 2, dummy plays the 9, and West the 8. Dummy then leads back the ♥ K, which takes and follows by leading the ♦ 2, which East trumps with the ♥ 10. East then returns the ♣ K, which declarer trumps with the ♥ 7. Declarer then leads out the ♥ A, clearing the trump suit and follows with the ♦ 9. To the tenth trick he leads the ♦ 8, which Dummy overtakes with the ♦ 10. Dummy then takes the eleventh and twelfth tricks with the ♦ 6-5 and to the thirteenth trick leads the ♠ K, which Declarer trumps in his own hand with the ♥ J for six odd—the game and two extra tricks.

At the few tables, however, where West showed the spade, East opened the ♠ A and the play was as follows:

Having taken the first trick with the A, East then leads the ♠ J, which Dummy captures with the K, returning the ♦ J, which Declarer takes with ♦ A. Declarer then leads the ♥ 4, East plays low and Dummy takes the trick with the ♥ 9. Dummy then leads the ♥ K and follows with the ♥ 3, which Declarer takes with the A. Declarer then leads the ♥ 7, which East captures with the ♥ Q. East returns the ♣ 6, which Declarer takes with the ♣ A. Declarer then proceeds to take in the ♦ 9 and ♦ 8 and to the eleventh trick leads the ♦ 7, which Dummy takes with the 10. Dummy takes the next trick with the ♦ 6 and then leads the ♦ 5 which Declarer trumps with the ♥ J—North and South making five odd—the game and one extra.

In ordinary play the difference between the two bids and the consequent variation in play is trivial. Yet at duplicate it may make a difference between the top board and an average board. Here is tomorrow's play-a-problem:

Art Exhibition of Interest to Be Opened Today

BY ELEANOR JEWETT.

An exhibition of great promise and interest opens today in the Chicago galleries, 220 North Michigan avenue. Eight artists are represented. Although we are familiar with their names and the various kinds of paintings each produces, yet there is room for surprise, because the variety of the show is remarkable. It runs from the most conservative to the freest and most uninhibited work.

Possibly if one were looking for a single painter whose friendly canvases had made a large audience for his craft these last thirty or forty years, one could find no one better fitted to step into the rôle than Adam Emory Albright.

In the current exhibit he offers several charming and natural studies of children painted in tempora, a medium of which he is past master and which gives his work a veiled and tender beauty that oil sometimes lacks.

From him to the newest note, Macena Barton is a long step. Miss Barton is very much present, however. Two self-portraits, in one of which her own frail skin is her only protection from the intruder's eye, catch the attention.

The exhibit is well worth seeing. It will run to April 19.

What Virginia Hotel Served Opening Day

First Menu Card Story of Gala Event.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

Any number of important Chicagoans are reminiscing these days of bygone events at the old Virginia hotel—that near north side hostelry which has catered to city "fashionables" for two score years and is now about to submit to the wrecker's crew. There were the old square dances in the big ballroom, afternoon tea parties in the spacious lounges, and dinners and banquets in the handsome high "ceilinged" dining room.

Of particular interest in this connection is the menu card of the gala opening on May 3, 1891, produced the other day by Grover Cleveland, for many years resident manager of the Virginia. Mr. Cleveland who, by the way, traces his descent to the well known Democratic President, avows that his is the only menu card of this historic occasion still in existence.

Food and Drink of Opening Day.

From the "blue points in deep shell" through the seven courses to the "café noir" the menu printed on heavy white cardboard is replete with temptation. There was a choice between "cream of fresh artichoke" and "consummé Victoria" for the second course. Cutlets of lobster were the third with, of course, all the decorations in the "pommes sahra," "chow chow," radishes, olives, and cucumbers.

Punch or champagne followed the main course which offered a choice of roast beef, spring lamb, sweetbreads, or reed birds. All good standbys! Then roast Philadelphia squab and a dessert that might have been anything from "royale" pudding with port wine sauce to Rhine wine jelly.

So much for the food! As for the guests there were among them Leander J. McCormick, who was responsible for the building of the Virginia; Robert Hall McCormick, Mrs. Emmons Blaine, Joseph Winterhotham, Watson Blair, Mrs. Joseph G. Coleman, and Mr. and Charles J. Barnes.

Mr. Cleveland, a young lad when the hotel was opened, has supplemented his memories with stories told by his landlord and landlady, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Borgman, who came to live at the southwest corner of Ohio and State streets the year the Virginia was erected, and now, 41 years later, are still residents at the same address.

Word Used By Romans.

But still to him the menu card is best of all the memories or relics of the old hostelry—especially since he has something of a penchant for bills of fare. Mr. Cleveland owns a collection from all parts of the world, many of them given to him by Mrs. Van Schaick Rollo of Highland Park after her cruise around the globe.

A few words on the subject of menu cards! Presentation of this long cardboard by a waiter today is such an automatic gesture we never think twice about it. But there was a time when a written menu was unheard of and another day when it was a distinct indication of fashion.

Certainly no bill of fare was necessary when Jacob made the mess of pottage for Esau—it was a one course meal lacking even the simplest refinements. Neither did the early Romans follow a menu card in their choice of food, although the word "menu" itself is derived from the Latin "minutus," meaning "minute detail." [From this the deduction follows that "menu" is used to denote the particulars of the different courses of a meal.]

Indeed the term was used among the Romans, but the practice of entertaining both guest and traveler in the "domus" precluded the need for a written card.

Even the prevalence of inns and taverns in 13th, 14th and 15th century England and the American taverns of the 18th and early 19th centuries failed to produce the menu card. For still there was little need for it with all the travelers seated at one great table and the innkeepers' wife serving "victuals" of her own choice.

Used in First American Hotels.

The frivolous elegant styles of the second empire in France and the opening of the first American hotels about the middle of the nineteenth century brought the bill of fare. The United States hotel of Philadelphia, Foley's National hotel of Norfolk, Va., and the New York hotel of New York were the last word in fashion about 1850 with menus of long, narrow slips of poor paper, never cardboard, and the names of the dishes written in under printed headings.

Unique Movie Shows Life of Neanderthals

Directed by Dr. Paul Withington.
Presented at the Roosevelt.

By Mae Tinée.

Good morning!

Here's a strange movie!

You thought Neanderthal man an extinct bonehead of the dark ages, didn't you? So did I. What we didn't know was—that he's still with us. Lives in Australia—and his brow is just as low as it used to be when he was not much higher than the animals with which he contended for a living.

I: "It isn't. Read on!"

"The Blond Captive" was produced by the Northwestern Australian "Neanderthal" expedition and has been indorsed by the National Research Council of Australia. It thus bears a stamp of authenticity and, you will see for yourselves, the photography and types of humans shown could not have been faked.

The camera records the adventures of members of the expedition who penetrated the "backwash" of Australia in search of men who, they had been told, closely resemble the Neanderthal man of 50,000 years ago. Their search was rewarded with success.

As for the "captive," well . . . ! Of course this MAY be pure romancing, but, according to the film, the expeditionists discovered among the strange "Neanderthals" of today a white woman and a little blond boy—her son. The former, your are told, was shipwrecked on those shores many years ago and—but I'll let the movie unfold the rest of her story which may be true. One hates to be a doubting Thomas but the faking of an episode such as the one which occurs at the last of the picture COULD so easily have been accomplished. At any rate, don't pity the lady, for, if one is to believe what one sees and hears, she was perfectly content with her life and her wild man and happy in caring for the tow-headed child who is such a contrast to the gosh-awful looking little blacks who are his playmates.

Tinted Eyelashes Are Demonstrated at Beauty Exhibit

The lady who would be right in style will match her eyelashes to her gown. At least that is the advance information given out yesterday at the Midwest Beauty show at the Hotel Sherman.

The very latest thing in optical beauty was demonstrated, and models gazed out mysteriously from under green lashes that not only matched their gowns, but their finger tips and toe nails. There is a new metallic makeup for eye shadow, that comes in bronze flecked with gold, and is intended to give "life" to the eyes. The tips of the lashes are beaded with gold or silver.

The recommended combinations were green eye shadow, gold flecked bronze lashes, gold tipped. Another combination, intended to deepen blue eyes, was blue eye shadow with silver mica, blue mascara, and lashes beaded in silver.

"DIRTY FACE" Ends Happiness

Happiness that is born of social success. Self confidence. Attention. Admiring friends. A clean skin has a great deal to do with such happiness, yet only one skin out of a hundred is really clean!

Dirt clings tenaciously to the tiny openings of the skin, stretching them, inviting infection, robbing the skin of its loveliness, and its youth. Keep clean, really clean with Daggett & Ramsdell's two creams. Their price is within reach of every purse, and there are none better at any price.

● EVERY NIGHT use Perfect Cold Cream liberally to get rid of below-the-surface dirt. This marvelous cream provides the essentials every skin must have—lubrication, moisture, protection. Three groups of special ingredients supply them, all balanced properly of course. Famous for more than forty years.

● DURING THE DAY whenever your skin needs freshening, cleanse it quickly with the new Perfect CleansingCream (liquefying). Melts instantly upon application, its fine oils cleanse in half the usual time.

Each Youngster Needs Special Management

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

This subject of jealousy among children in the same family seems to be spinning itself out. Here we are on it again. But today it's in connection with the father and mother who, with the best intentions in the world, arouse it. If you should gently point out that they had done so, they'd feel very badly and would perhaps fly to their own defense with the logical remark: "How could they be jealous? I treat all the children exactly alike."

Well, that does sound like a perfect alibi. But is it? Yes, it may be—it might be if all the children were alike. But how many in a family are?

What holds true in regard to creating jealousy holds true in regard to the general management of children. A technique, if you like the name, that works perfectly with one child might not work at all with another.

Suppose a father prides himself on treating two children alike, as far as praise or blame for their report cards is concerned. One child may get an A in every subject, with little or no effort. The other may work like a day laborer at homework and barely achieve a passing mark. Now, if the children are treated consistently—that is, praised for good results and blamed for poor ones—in this case the child who got all A's would be praised and the one who got only C's or D's or E's would be blamed or scolded. Should these children be treated alike?

Or, perhaps, one child is timid, while the other loves the center of the stage. Should they be managed in the same way? Or one is sensitive and can be guided by a word, while the other may be of hardier stuff and perhaps needs lessons driven home by a sledgehammer, so to speak. Should one deal with both those children in the same way?

Sarcasm Drives Chap to Leave Girl in Anger

BY DORIS BLAKE.

"Heck" has a case against his girl. She is so sarcastic the wonder is he does not hand her one long sarcastic "Y-e-a-h" and "Good-by!" It's marvelous what some men will take from women, once they are in the throes of the grand passion. Heck can't open his mouth but his statement is greeted with a sarcastic comment. If he is guilty of a lapse in English, she asks him publicly about his schooling in sarcastic terms. When he drives the car, he is the victim of more fine sarcasm. An recently, when he refused to supply the gin for a party, he was treated to a volley of reproach that nearly made him stand on his ear.

Just why a young man doesn't stand on his ear and yowl loudly and properly, under circumstances of the sort, is one of those things we observers of mean-dispositioned women regret. But if a man will take sarcasm he'll get it—and probably deserves to get it. But the girl played her brand of cruel jesting once too often. It was in the presence of a superior officer of the firm with which Heck is associated. The girl plied her so-called wit over the bridge table. Heck, finally infuriated, threw his hand of cards right in her face, proving again that the lowly worm cannot be restrained from turning, eventually.

BUT here he is wanting to know how he can get back in the girl's graces again. He loves her. She's beautiful and she's the girl for Heck, apparently. So, all that can be said, under the circumstances, is that if he does go crawling back he'll be treated to more sarcasm unless he works his way back succesfully and then forms some sort of a pact ruling sarcasm out from now on. It may just be that that one turning will have the desired curative effect.

But why do girls revel in this sort of "public mastery?" That's all it is—a desire to show how much a man cares by the measure of what he'll stand for. Sarcasm never made a pretty girl prettier.

Catholic Editor Makes Statement on Tribune Story

Investigation of an article on leap year that appeared in THE TRIBUNE on Feb. 29, interpreted by many readers as an insult to St. Patrick, St. Bridget, and the Irish people, revealed no purpose on the part of THE TRIBUNE to cast aspersion on those saints, or otherwise to depart from an effort to maintain its traditions of impartiality dealing with such matters. This was the statement of the Rev. Timothy Rowan, news editor of the New World, made in connection with the widespread criticism of the story.

Father Rowan added, however, that the reporter who wrote the story "apparently had been blinded to canons of good taste, both in her selected subject matter and its manner of treatment, by an ambitious spirit. The readiness of THE TRIBUNE to set matters aright seems to me to indicate that no insult or injury to these saints venerated by Catholics was intended by THE TRIBUNE."

The Woman Hater

BY MAY EDGINTON

SYNOPSIS.

Faire Chapelle is the stepdaughter of "Ma" Chapelle, who owns Flaxen's Casino, a café of ill repute near the waterfront of Port Bai. Faire and Aya, "Ma's" daughter by her first husband of dubious color, assist in Flaxen's. The Chapelles are looked upon as outcasts by respectable island residents. Faire feels their attitude keenly, because her father was of unimpeachable antecedents. He had brought her as a little girl into these unsavory surroundings and left her there at his death. She has kept aloof from all that Flaxen's represents.

Sir Philip Persian is governor and commander in chief of the Tama islands, Bai and St. Rosario. His young secretary and ward, Robert Grand, is involved in an affair with Mira Worcester, a faded beauty. Her husband has become suspicious. Sir Philip is anxious to save the boy from scandal. Malise Bookes, the governor's aide de camp, forces Faire, through threats, to accept Mira's guilt. Sir Philip is furious when he learns what Bookes has done, and sends for Faire to try to make amends. He arranges passage for her to London, where her sister Sheba, now Lady Rosewood, a widow, owns a famous beauty salon. Sheba takes Faire into the business. Malise Bookes, who was a former suitor of Sheba's, is sent home to London. Mira Worcester, who has returned to London, spreads malicious gossip about Faire, which Faire will not deny because of her affection for Sir Philip and her promise to him of secrecy. An estrangement develops between the sisters. Among Sheba's many clients seeking the fount of youth is Mary Chevronne, recently widowed, with whom Sir Philip had had a youthful affair and feels honor bound to marry after his term expires. Sheba leaves town and Faire moves into an attic studio. Mary Chevronne is attracted to Faire and calls her to her home to give her treatments.

HEARTS BEATING IN UNISON.

"I don't want that!" And suddenly Mary Chevronne leaned forward away from Faire's ministering hands.

"My God! My God! I want the truth."

"Please lean back. You must cultivate——"

"Calmness! Another of your beauty salon maxims. But listen, my dear. I can't be calm inside. I've got to talk even to a thing as young as you. For you do understand. I see it in your eyes." She twisted on the dressing seat and grasped the girl's wrist. "What a lot you understand! Do you guess it's Philip Persian?"

Faire's voice was a whisper: "I guessed."

"I thought you did when you stood looking at his photograph. Why—what made you think——?"

Faire answered steadily: "I had seen your photograph, you see. Not only in Sheba's house, but——"

"Where, my dear, where?"

"On——" she touched her lips with her tongue before she could speak his name, "on Sir Philip's desk in Government house."

A cry of happiness, incoherent.

"He told me in his letters that he kept my portrait there."

"He does keep it there, Mrs. Chevronne."

"Tell me. I can bear it—frightened as I am. I'm not much like that portrait, now, am I?"

Faire felt as if her heart bled.

"I knew you from the photograph, Mrs. Chevronne."

It was a lie. She had not more than dimly sensed it. She had needed Madam Francois' confirmation for any certainty. But, meeting Mary Chevronne's frantic, anxious eyes, she added steadily:

"Looking over their heads. Contemptuous. I know!"

Mary Chevronne's tight grasp was still on her wrist.

"Tell me. When did you see it there? I've longed to ask you. Do you know him?"

"I saw it when once I had to go to Government house on business concerning my stepmother's café. I only met Sir Philip . . . in that way."

"Isn't he fine? Isn't he wonderful?" breathed Mary Chevronne.

"Yes. Every one there thinks him wonderful."

"He is coming home in January."

"So I have heard."

It seemed strange to stand behind this middle-aged woman lightly and expertly massaging her sagging face, meeting her eyes in the glass, feeling exactly the same fierce thrill as beat in the breast of fifty-five. And yet something else overlay this thrill and this love and desire. Pity. Pity and the chivalry of beautiful young woman for spoiled and ageing woman. The pity of strength for weakness, of life for death.

Mrs. Chevronne went on talking as women talk beneath the hands of masseuse or coiffeuse. It was patently not usual for her to talk thus.

"You don't know what it is, my dear, to make a loveless marriage and then meet the one man too late. I haven't had much real happiness in my life. But I was radiantly happy after I met him."

The massage went on; swift, light tapping, slapping. She could not laugh privately at this large, sad woman as the other girls laughed behind the scenes at their clients. For Mary Chevronne in this confessional was not ridiculous. She was in some queerly overwhelming way sorrowful and sacred. And the girl's hands must have communicated this in some way to the woman, for suddenly she felt tears under her fingers.

"O, my dear," Mary Chevronne sobbed, "if only you would tell me about him, what he looks like now, his life in the West Indies. I want to see him in my mind. I want to—I want to——"

Suddenly, as the sobbing voice broke off into incoherence, the girl was on her knees by the shaking woman, her lithe firm arms were about the soft, white, fat arms and shoulders and big breasts, her resilient strength held the heavier body tightly to her.

"You are a darling girl," came from Mary Chevronne by and by in a struggling voice.

Faire heard herself say: "Ask me whatever you want."

Then Mary Chevronne, tremulously: "Tell me how you first saw him."

Faire sighed to get her breath before she could reply: "It was in a riot at the harbor; just a little riot . . . there are never big affairs in Bai."

"Yes! Yes!"

"It was three years ago, or more. I know I was hardly nineteen. He had been governor for . . . I think . . . more than a year. But I think he had been mostly in St. Rosario, because of trouble there. After that he was always at Government house."

"Yes! Yes! But you're not telling me . . . "

"He was on a white horse. The natives were fighting with knives and sticks and stones and anything . . . there were some drunken sailors there, a trader had just called at Port Bai . . . I was standing on one side, looking. He . . . he just came riding down the hill and rode into the middle of them and pulled up; he hadn't any escort, and the native police had disappeared . . . too dangerous for them! Then the fight stopped."

A laugh of pride and ecstasy: "Yes! Yes! That's Philip. I see him. He hit out—he hit people!"

"Twice with his riding whip. You—you didn't notice the whip?"

"Tell me what kind of whip."

"I think a hunting crop with a very heavy horn handle, and there was a flash in the sunshine—it had a thick silver band round it near the handle."

"With his initials. I gave him the crop when he went away."

And Faire felt: I didn't know a heart would weigh so heavily as mine. Dead. Stone.

"And then, my dear? Tell me."

"The natives faded away. They always do. The sailors waited a minute, but he sat there on the white horse——"

"Looking over their heads. Contemptuous. I know!"

"Yes, it was like that."

She thought: And looking over their heads he saw me. The first time! The first look!

She said: "The mate of the trader came along and ordered them off. The governor rode back up the hill."

"The hill?"

"The town climbs from the harbor up to Government house."

"And Government house? It is like the photographs he sent me, I know; but . . . you tell me."

"It was an old Spanish mission. It is low, and long, and the walls are thick. It looks very austere. One of the governors made a fine ballroom at one end, without any rebuilding outside."

Mary Chevronne's face bent darkly towards her.

"O yes; I suppose there are dances and dinners? Women go to them. Women like Mira Worcester. Tell me!"

"Of course."

"Never!"

Gang Picture Has More Guns Than War Film

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., March 29.—Saw a studio preview of "Scarface" at United Artists today in the shape in which the picture will be released within a few weeks after undergoing repeated conferences with censors, with Hays' organization officials, and suffering many deletions and dialog and scene changes.

There are more machine guns in it, I believe, than in "All Quiet" and "Big Parade" put together. Of course, that's natural in a picture made under supervision and with the finances of Howard Hughes, young and enthusiastic oil-movie magnate who always shows more airplanes than any other aviation film, hires vamps who display more cuticle than any opposition studio vamps, and expends more time and money in making a picture than any other producer.

Some censors may not like so much bullet work as Hughes' "Antonio Camonte" played by Paul Muni performs, but there isn't a censor living who won't keenly follow the exploits of Angelo, illiterate secretary of "Scarface."

In fact, there are scenes supposedly highly dramatic in which interest veers from Muni the star to Barnett the boob, and one knows full well that the director didn't intend Barnett to steal those scenes.

It is the last of the gangster pictures and as such is worthy of comment chiefly because it is the most lavishly and diligently prepared. The Hays organization at one time had decided that nobody would be too pleased to have "Scarface" go before the public at all, but the film has been done with fidelity to actual incident as in the use made of certain much related Colosimo, Bugs Moran, Dean O'Banion, and Johnny Torrio episodes and, apparently, the powers that decide things in the movie industry finally concluded that the American film going public would find a liking for one more gangster picture so dramatically made.

The picture is introduced by a foreword to Mr. Average Citizen explaining that gangsters flourish because American government has been lax and suggesting that Mr. Citizen is the person who ought to get concerned about it.

Tears Holes in Stories Told by Witnesses.

BY WALTER FITZMAURICE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Muncie, Ind., March 29.—[Special.]—George R. Dale, mayor of Muncie, cocked his feet upon his desk, crammed a generous chew between his teeth, and tossed across the table a copy of indictment No. 5500, returned in the United States District court at Indianapolis March 4 against himself and twelve others.

"There," exploded Mr. Dale, "is an unwitting confession of the confoundest piece of knavery ever pulled by prohibition agents in Indiana. They set up camp in Muncie Y. M. C. A., conduct a Cossack investigation lasting eight months, and the net result is an indictment charging conspiracy against myself, a member of my board of safety, seven policemen and four bootleggers.

They Did Find 4 Vendors.

"They find four bootleggers in a town of 46,000 and hold that up as a felonious plot against peace and dignity of the United States. Now study the names of the bootleggers, and I'll tell you how each of these alleged coconspirators fared under my administration.

"First take Fred Kubeck. The indictment sets forth that he had conducted a blind tiger in his grocery store in the so-called red light district. He is charged in count 11 with having told another bootlegger, Robert Morgan, to work for Dale's election, if he [Morgan] wished to peddle whisky.

"Now take a look at the election returns. In the primary I got 30 out of 200 votes in that precinct. In the election I got 172 and my Republican opponent 232. If Kubeck was my man I certainly got double crossed."

The mayor then took up the case of bootlegger No. 2, one Corbett Johnson. "Under the previous administration Johnson ran a wide open tiger here in Muncie," he said. "When I took office he got his walking papers and set up a joint called the Pretzel farm in Blackford county. Business was dull, so he sneaked back into Delaware county, but stayed outside the city limits. His place was in Inlow Springs.

"It was the sheriff's job to suppress him there, not mine. But we got so many complaints from Muncie residents that I sent a squad ou. to get him. He was tried in City court, was convicted, and appealed to Circuit court.

Badgered by Agents.

Next on the list of alleged conspirators was Ernest Flatters, son of a one time Muncie gambler, Luther Flatters. The sixth count charges Flatters with carrying bribe money from one H. Vernon Walters to the mayor and to Police Chief Massey.

"The government dignified Walters by parting his name in the middle," remarked the mayor. "He's known here as plain Plug Walters and ran a downtown gambling joint. Flatters was his blackjack dealer until I took office and closed the joint."

Flatters, the mayor says, was summoned to the inquisitorial chambers in the Y. M. C. A. and badgered for four hours. Later, according to the mayor, Flatters came to his office and outlined the agents' method of procedure.

The indictment contains 23 counts. In the mayor's view the most ridiculous of them all is count 18, wherein the government sets forth that one Chauncey Stillson caused the discharge of Patrolman James Holcroft from the police force, because he refused to join the conspiracy.

"You may have heard of Stillson," the mayor said. "He went to Leavenworth along with Mayor Bunch and other city officials ten years ago for using the mails in a phony prize fight racket.

Recalls Campaign Talk.

"The story of Stillson's connection with my administration was a relic of the campaign. Republican straw vote takers, running into any one who proposed to vote for me, would tell my partisans that Stillson was to be the big fixer in my régime. The citizens of Muncie didn't believe it then and I am astonished at the stupidity of the federal agents, if they believe it now."

As for the discharge of Patrolman Holcroft, the mayor had this explanation: "I appointed Holcroft to the force, within a few months I learned he was hanging out with Billy Robertson, a gambler. I had him cited before the board of safety and he was discharged.

Mayor Dale laid all this and more before Attorney General Mitchell and his assistant in charge of prohibition, Mr. Youngquist, on his trip to Washington last Friday, he said. Mr. Mitchell, he added, had declined to start an independent investigation, but promised to forward an outline of the mayor's charges to United States Attorney George Jeffrey at Indianapolis.

Opinion Is Divided.

Local opinion is sharply divided on the civic benefits of the Dale administration. On the day he took office Dale fired all of the 46 men on the police force, from the chief to the turnkey. His enemies admit that his new force suppressed gambling and the hotel bellhops say that liquor has been harder to procure since Dale became mayor.

Not long after his inauguration Da' ordered cancellation of $300,000 in allegedly crooked paving contracts. He also discharged a number of members of the fire department. As a result of these activities the city has been made defendant in a number of civil suits which, his critics aver, will eventually cost more than the sums he may have saved.

he mayor shows that paving which formerly cost $2.44 a square yard is now being laid for $1.88. He cites the city controlle.'s statement showing $36,000 cash in the city treasury when he took office and compares it with the statement of last Jan. 1, showing $199,000 cash on hand. The tax rate has been cut twenty per cent.

The mayor was frank in admittting his income had more than doubled since he took office. His salary is $3,000 a year. The city printing, formerly done elsewhere, now goes to the plant of the mayor's weekly newspaper, the Post-Democrat, enabling that publication to show a yearly profit of $6,000 or more, he says.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: A Head for Business

Bare Girl's Charges Against Son.

A combination of despair and disgrace, with the seduction of a 20 year old schoolgirl as the chief factor, was disclosed yesterday as the probable motive for the Americanized hara-kari of Horace E. Coleman, Quaker missionary, and his wife and son.

Friends of the family, who ended their lives by carbon monoxide poisoning in a garage at 6610 Woodlawn avenue on Monday, told of their absorption of oriental philosophy as missionaries in Japan. Prof. William M. McGovern of Northwestern university, one of these friends, explained that this philosophy honors suicide as the quickest approach to the "better life."

Girl's Charges Revealed.

However, the immediate cause of the suicide was believed to be a warrant on file at the detective bureau charging Horace E. Coleman Jr., the 22 year old son, who was a student at the University of Chicago, with the seduction of Clara B. McGill of Bloomingdale, Ind.

Prosecutor Noel Montgomery of Parke county, Ind., said the girl made a complaint against young Coleman last Thursday. He had promised to marry her, she charged, but had failed to keep his promise when it developed that she was to become a mother.

Relatives said they believed the charge against young Coleman was unfounded, but ProsecutorMontgomery said the relations of the couple and the girl's condition were common gossip in the small town of Bloomingdale.

The girl was graduated from high school a year ago, but was unable to find work later, according to the prosecutor. Deserted by her father, she was left to shift for herself, and the Colemans took her in.

Missionaries for 32 Years.

Mr. Coleman Sr. and his wife traveled in their automobile, lecturing, while the son studied political science at the university. The parents for 32 years were missionaries in Japan for the World Sunday School association, a Quaker organization. They returned to Bloomingdale 2½ years ago, when their work was completed, the missionary activities being taken over by the Japanese.

At the inquest yesterday, Mrs. Costello Ingeborg, in whose house at 5473 Ellis avenue the youth roomed, testified that he frequently discussed suicide and worried over his studies, the possibility of failure in the coming examinations, and also about money matters.

No mention of the affair with the girl was made at the inquest, but interpretations of the parents' philosophy as given by witnesses raised the presumption that they joined their son in death, sharing his disgrace and leaving the world that held nothing more for them. The verdict was suicide for undetermined reasons.

Dr. Ellis D. Walker, a friend of the family for 25 years, testified that the elder Coleman embraced the theory that life should not be prolonged after the best part of it had been spent.

Relatives yesterday were making preparations to carry out the instructions for cremation left in the letter signed by all three of the Colemans. The ashes are to be sent to Tokio and scattered under the trees of the Coleman summer home in Karuizana.

TIPS OVER PHONE AND HOTEL CLERK SEIZES 2 BANDITS

Two youths, attempting to flee after tying up two guests of the Dorchester Manor hotel at 5226 Dorchester avenue, were arrested early today by a night clerk and another guest.

Edward Schaniel and Charles Chapman, the guests, had noticed the two robbers loitering in the lobby shortly before midnight and notified the clerk, J. J. Cudahy, of their belief that they should be put out. The bandits, joined by a third man, went to Chapman's room while the clerk was investigating.

There the trio tied the guests with neckties and took $10 and a suitcase of Chapman's. Chapman succeeded in turning over a telephone and Cudahy, suspecting that a robbery was in progress, knocked at the door of the room, on the first floor, and then ran into an alley outside.

With the aid of John Spears, another guest, he forced the two youths to surrender when they leaped out a window. They are Austin Haymer, 20 years old, of Odell, Ill., and Anthony Mendoza, 17 years old, 1659 Monroe street. Haymer said his father formerly was a Chicago policeman. The third man escaped with the loot.

Oak Forest Family Flees Fire; Home Is Destroyed

Nearly 200 women, members of the national W. C. T. U., lifted their voices yesterday in praise of prohibition. To the tune of "Illinois," they swung into verse and chorus acclaiming the crusade, winding up with the admonition to "Carry on, carry on" for the eighteenth amendment.

The praise for prohibition came from a gathering of W. C. T. U. leaders representing five central states, the majority from twenty-five counties in Illinois, who met in the Cameo room of the Morrison hotel for the last of a series of regional conferences. With Mrs. Ella A. Boole of Brooklyn presiding the major objective of the conference is to lay plans to elect dry delegates to the national conventions and to put dry planks in the platforms of both parties meeting here in June. The closing sessions will be held today.

Hoover Is Indorsed.

Because "so far as we know, he is the only dry candidate in the field," as Mrs. Boole put it, President Hoover was indorsed for the Republican nomination for president. John N. Garner, speaker of the house of representatives, has left his exact status on prohibition ambiguous, but remains the only possible hope to date of a Democratic representative for the drys, Mrs. Boole said.

"We insist that a man who expects to get the vote of the W. C. T. U. must not only say he is dry but he must live 'dry.' And it is imperative that every dry in the country be qualified to vote in the spring elections."

"A Good Investment."

The total cost of prohibition enforcement for 1931, according to Mrs. Boole, was but 4 1/5 cents per capita for the country. She listed expenditures as $9,416,846, and added that since fines, penalties, sale of seizures, and forfeitures amounted to $4,138,211 and was returned to the treasury, the net cost remained at $5,278,634.

"Surely," she added, "this is not only not burdensome, but is an investment in good government. Even this much would not be necessary were it not for the activities of organized wets."

Alonzo E. Wilson, director of the American Business Men's Prohibition Foundation, in a speech last night asserted that the resolution adopted recently by the Chicago Association of Commerce favoring the repeal of prohibition was passed through "trickery of the wets." He said a prominent member of the association, whose name he withheld "for obvious reasons," told him this.

"The resolution never was discussed even by the board of directors or the important committee on civic affairs," said Mr. Wilson, "and was adopted without the slightest opportunity for expression by the membership individually or as a whole."

NAGEL ATTACKS 'MOVIE REFORM'; WOMEN APPLAUD

The film board of the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs, organized two years ago to "improve motion pictures," held a meeting yesterday in the Hotel Sherman. The purpose of the meeting was "to provide a better understanding between the movie industry and its critics." Conrad Nagel, veteran film actor, addressed the women at the invitation of Mrs. Richard M. McClure, chairman.

After Mr. Nagel had spoken for a half hour, principally about "women who run around saying, 'O, aren't motion pictures terrible'," there was an indication that the meeting had accomplished some of its purpose. For in spite of his criticism of reformers and reform organizations, including the W. C. T. U., his listeners applauded him vigorously.

Hits "the Irresponsibles."

"There are lots of irresponsible speakers thrilling audiences with stories of their contacts with motion picture people," Mr. Nagel said.

"The W. C. T. U. is a great and noble organization, but I can't understand a woman like Mrs. Maude Aldrich, chairman of the national W. C. T. U. committee on motion pictures, who in a meeting in Cleveland recently made the grossest misrepresentations concerning motion pictures. Her statements were all generalities, unsupported by a single fact.

"If the reformers, so strict with the motion picture industry, are really sincere, they would carry on to more necessary fields. Instead of getting gangsters off the screens, why not put them off the streets?

"America today presents an amazing array of inconsistencies. We have a prohibition law, yet bootlegging is one of the greatest industries. We have gambling laws, yet the lack of good banking laws results in the loss of millions of dollars.

"Reform groups should learn from the experiences of the past that goodness cannot be legislated or we will have ten hypocrites where we had one before."

Another motion picture star introduced by Mrs. McClure was Louise Fazenda. She and Mr. Nagel are appearing in loop theaters.

TURATI, DUCE'S ARCH ENEMY, DIES IN EXILE

PARIS, March 29.—(AP)—Filippo Turati, former Socialist deputy in the Italian parliament, and leader of the political Italian emigres in Paris, died last night of pneumonia. He was 74 years old. Turati had resided in Paris since he was exiled from Italy in 1927.

Turati became a Socialist deputy in 1906 and slowly rose to leadership of the intransigeant Socialist parties after the war, until in 1921 he became the arch political foe of Benito Mussolini, just then rising to power. The Socialists then had 125 seats in parliament while Mussolini's Fascisti had only 28. Deputy Turati was reëlected by the largest plurality given any candidate, 250,000 votes, with the sole exception of Mussolini.

When Mussolini marched on Rome in 1922, and bent the chamber of deputies to his will, the two clashed. Late in 1926 Turati fled secretly from Corsica with a little band of enemies of Mussolini like himself, in fear of possible imprisonment for his outspoken tactics. Soon he appeared in Paris. In 1927 he began to publish a paper in Paris, and his comrades who assisted his escape were put on trial in Italy. He was sentenced in his absence to six months in prison by an Italian tribunal in September of the same year.

FEDERAL JUDGE WHO QUIT ON EVE OF U. S. QUIZ DIES

New York, March 29.—[Special.]—Former United States District Court Judge Francis A. Winslow of the southern district, who resigned from the bench in April 1929, to resume his private practice on the eve of a congressional investigation into the alleged "bankruptcy ring," which he was accused of heading, died of pneumonia today at his home in Yonkers.

Winslow resigned on the ground the charges developed against him had impaired his usefulness as a member of the judiciary.

The congressional investigating commission was in session in the office of Isidor Kresel, its local counsel, on April 1, 1929, the day Judge Winslow submitted his resignation to President Hoover.

The proposed investigation was subsequently abandoned by the house judiciary committee in view of the resignation of the judge.

HOME GAS HEATER EXPLODES; FOUR IN FAMILY KILLED

Detroit, Mich., March 29.—[Special.]—Oliver Stewart, 45, his wife Mamie, 40, and two children, Mamie, 5, and Thomas, 2, were killed early today when a home made gas heater exploded, wrecking the interior of their home in Lincoln Park, a Detroit suburb, and firing the building.

Gas, which had accumulated in the rooms during the night, was set off by an explosion from the heater. Most of the roof of the building was blown off. The Stewarts had no chance to escape. From the position of their bodies it is believed that only Thomas was awake at the time of the explosion.

Neighbors and police were unable to enter the house. Firemen extinguished the flames ten minutes later.

Stewart was a gasoline station attendant and had manufactured the heater for his home by utilizing used oil drawn from automobiles in the station. It is believed the oil dripped into the stove too rapidly and formed a gas deposit which blew up when the coal fire flared.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., March 29.—The Cubs' return today to major league competition was like the morning after. They hit fairly well in spots, but that was all. In the field they gave indications of having forgotten all their baseball lessons and Pat Malone was fairly deluged with clean and flukey base hits. Under the conditions the Detroit Tigers had a gay old time winning the first of a two day exhibition series, 8 to 3.

KIKI CUYLER.

Malone's intention was to determine how good he might be over the nine inning route, but with everything breaking in behalf of the Tigers it didn't take the big speed baller that long to get his answer. He departed at the end of the seventh with ten hits and all of the eight runs marring his performance.

In the way of balm for the trimming Manager Hornsby had four double plays and a few other things to think about. One of the latter was Barton's hitting against Vic Sorrell, the bespectacled Tiger, who went the distance.

Barton drove two terrific singles into right and exploded two other drives of similar potency, but the latter were flagged through some agile outfielding by Johnson.

Cuyler Hits One Over Fence.

The Cubs started off nicely on a homer over the right field screen by Cuyler, but the advantage dwindled in the second inning. The ponderous Alexander copied Cuyler's homer by boosting one over the wall in distant left center. The next two batters were disposed of, but Richardson scratched a slow bounding hit to Hack. Hayworth hit a two base fly which Stephenson couldn't get under and Richardson tore for the plate. He'd been out by yards, but Hartnett let Jurges' perfect throw get away.

Malone suffered a slight jolt in the third. Johnson drove a two bagger against the brick wall behind Stephenson and moved over to third on an infield grounder by Rhiel, who had relieved Gehringer. Walker sailed a long fly to left, and Johnson ran home without attracting a throw.

Hartnett Atones for Error.

Hartnett atoned for his previous error by contributing the hit which enabled the Cubs to bring on a 3 to 3 tie in their half of the fourth. Barton singled to right and Stephenson's out put him on second. After Jurges, playing in English's place, had fanned, Grimm punched a hit into center to score Barton. Hartnett then drove one against the center field wall and the ball bounced back into right field before being captured. Grimm scored easily and Gabby pulled up at third. He was still there when Malone fanned.

There was just a trace of luck attached to the two runs picked up by the Detroiters in the fifth. Hayworth started the fuss with a single, which bounced over Hack. Malone gave a pass to the hostile pitcher, always a fatal maneuver. Johnson filled the bases with an infield hit, which bounced high in the air. Rhiel was called out on strikes, but Walker slashed a single to center, scoring Hayworth and Sorrell. A double play ended the agony.

Three More Tiger Runs.

The Detroit sixth began with Rogell's single. Lawrence bunted to Malone, who wanted to throw to second, but finding the base uncovered Pat held the ball. Richardson bunted past Malone to fill the bases. Hayworth grounded straight at Herman, but the ball bounced high for a single, Rogell and Lawrence scoring. Richardson went to third on this and registered while a double play was mopping up Hayworth and Sorrell.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Shreveport, La., March 29.—Such grizzled batting experts as George Sisler, George Harper and Aaron Ward and their associates on the Shreveport Sports of the Texas League today were powerless to halt the victory rush of the Chicago White Sox, which now has reached the total of nine straight victories. The tally today was Chicago, 5; Shreveport, 1.

The Sox pitching pretty near accomplished the season's first shut out, but Milt Gaston relaxed after two were out in the eighth inning and a double by Eggert and a single by Ward broke up the goose egg strip on the score board. Ted Lyons pitched the first four innings and allowed only two hits, one an infield scratch by Cox in the second inning and the other a bona fide smack to center by Nicholson in the fourth. Gaston pitched five innings and all were hitless except the eighth, when the Sports got three safe ones.

Campbell Gets Rest.

The Sox were not as lusty with their bats as heretofore, but such hitting as was done was accomplished in timely fashion. The first four Sox runs were driven in by Carey Selph and the other one came in on an error. Blue got a triple and Appling a double.

Bruce Campbell, counted upon to give the Sox their big punch, was benched in favor of Fothergill in the sixth inning. Bruce hadn't made anything that resembled a hit in 17 trips to the plate and it was figured that a short rest might give him an opportunity to regain his composure. Bruce's batting mark for the nine games of the exhibition season to date is a modest .222, but no one has lost confidence in his talent at this early date.

Selph Starts Scoring.

Selph delivered a single with the bases full and two out to give the Sox a two run lead in the first inning. Anderson pushed off with a single to left, lingered while Hayes flied to Cox, and took second while Ward was throwing out Watwood. Campbell was hit by a pitched ball and Blue walked, filling the bases. The count then ran to three balls and two strikes on Selph before the young man sent a liner into left which scored Anderson and Campbell. Hollerson then threw out Appling.

Two singles and a double were good for only one run in the Sox third. Hayes singled to center and stopped at second when Watwood also singled to center. The runners moved up on Campbell's roller to Sisler, but when Hayes sought to score on Blue's bouncer to Ward he was retired. Selph dropped a wind blown double back of second, scoring Watwood, but when Blue sought to score also, he was out, Cox to Windle to Rowland.

BOXING AFTERMATH.

NEW YORK, March 29.—[Special]—Strictly from the viewpoint of future Chicago-New York Golden Gloves boxing tourneys it probably was better that New York evened the count in the intercity series at two each with one drawn. Although we hoped for rather than expected victory, that philosopic viewpoint is not entirely comforting, especially when we think 10 to 6, or even 9 to 7, in results more adequately represents the relative merits of the two squads than the 12 to 4 recorded—a margin only exceeded last year when Chicago downed New York 13 to 3.

Let us start on the premise that New York had the better team and also allow for the fact we no doubt were prejudiced in behalf of Chicago—for the Wake doubts whether any one can associate for a week or more with a set of earnest boys giving their best and not be partisan—then see what conclusions may be drawn.

Looking back in cold after-thought, it is difficult to figure how we could have won without breaks contrary to the law of averages or without breaks to which we were not entitled. Gotham's amateur mitt pushers, especially in the lighter weights, were more experienced, showed better generalship, and especially knew how to protect themselves on the breakaways. They had been taught to be aggressive, a vital factor in short amateur bouts. So had our boys, but even those who pursued or tried to pursue such tactics found themselves leg-weary and arm-weary before the end of the nine minutes' actual milling. The Wake does not ascribe that so much to worry over not making weight, which had been of some concern, as to the general handicap of being on a trip. We noted this factor when New York visited us a year ago, and their boys spoke of it then as ours do now.

So then, acknowledging defeat, where could we have done better and why do we think 10 to 6 or 9 to 7 more reflects our skill and stamina than 12 to 4? New York obtained a psychological advantage by starting off with a rush which ran to nine bouts before Chicago broke through and obtained whatever consolation there was in actual decisions by taking four of the last seven bouts.

In the second bout Albert Soukop upset his opponent and in the judgment of our party had two of the three rounds against Louis Salica, one of New York's best. Salica received the decision. Yet in the fourth bout, Leo Rodak, Chicago captain and previous stranger to Golden Gloves defeat, stepped into a chin popper for a trip to the canvas. Conditions were somewhat similar to the Soukop fray in that he finished strongly. He lost the decision. He had been counted on as an almost sure winner, and this break was morale destroying. With neutral officials from cities other than New York or Chicago, probably those decisions were correct, although it would have been possible for us to have had the Soukop verdict.

Many of our crowd thought Geno Salvatore should have had the award over the New York Negro, Sedgwick Harvey, in the 126 pound class. It was a close one with Harvey perhaps finishing stronger.

One of the bouts which our party felt we won, although admitting partisanship, was that in which Bill Celebron pushed Barney Smith all around the ring. Another was Adam Smith's heavyweight fray with Jerry Wright, colored, in which the latter was tired and hanging on. If there were poor decisions, as we think, that was the poorest of the evening.

Lest this comment be construed as criticism or the wail of poor losers, please remember it is only for home consumption, to tell followers of our boys, the home folks, just how game and how willing were boys who tried all they knew and among all of whom there was not one indication of quitting.

Summarizing, then, there were two decisions which from the viewpoint of our party should have gone our way, four other close ones which went to New York, perhaps correctly. New York thought two of our four decisions were close enough to have gone either way. So friends and followers of Chicagoland boxers, your representatives were vanquished in these fifth inter-city bouts. None of us in the party accompanying them has any criticism to offer of their courage. That's as high a compliment as one may pay to a losing squad.

Only Golden Glovers' Noses Are Hurt; Feelings Are O. K.

BY FRENCH LANE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 29.—There is a sore nose or two and a black eye here and there in the camp of our Chicago Golden Glovers today, but our boys are not maimed or wounded anywhere near the extent which might be indicated by the 12 to 4 whipping they received at the hands of New York last night.

Dr. Lewis K. Eastman, the Chicago team's physician, was disappointed because there was so little work for him to do when the boys woke up on the morning after the night before. In fact, he had so little to do that he hurried over to the New York camp where the team which fought so nobly for old Father Knickerbocker was disbanding.

Winners Punched Up, Too.

"There are just as many puffed eyes, scratched ears and split lips among the New Yorkers as there are in our camp," was his cheering report.

And this report sounds fairly plausible, for, with the exception of the knockout Charles Niego suffered, the Chicagoans were not badly beaten. They carried on so well and lost by such narrow margins that the neutral judges and referees were in hot water at the end of almost every decision.

They returned few verdicts which satisfied everybody. The spectators showed fine sportsmanship and the Chicago boys got just about as many cheers as the New Yorkers. While disappointed, as any fellow who gets licked naturally might be, the Chicago kids forgot about it today. They broke training and went out to see New York.

On to Washington.

They spent most of the day on the sightseeing tour and tonight were guests at a Broadway revue. Soon after the show they boarded their special train again and moved along toward Washington. They will spend all of tomorrow and Thursday visiting various historical points of interest in and about the national capital.

The Chicago party will leave Washington early Thursday evening and will arrive in Chicago late Friday afternoon.

Albert Poensgen Takes First Place in 18.2 Series

New York, March 29.—(AP)—Albert Poensgen of Germany, defending title holder, tonight took undisputed possession of first place in the world's amateur 18.2 balkline billiards championship tournament at the New York Elks club by defeating Gustave van Belle of Belgium, 400 to 206 in 25 innings.

In the other night match, Jean Dommering of Holland, who had lost six games in a row, finally broke into the winning column at the expense of Alfredo Ferraz of Portugal, 400 to 258 in 26 innings. Ferraz has won two games and lost five.

Tony Cancella Stops Cohen in Seventh

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 29.—(AP)—Tony Cancella, 187½, Tampa, scored a technical knockout over Sammy Cohen, 187, of Cleveland, in the seventh round of a slow fight tonight. Joe Lohman, 188, Toledo, beat Cracker Jack Webb, 190, of Lakeland, in 10 rounds.

Rip Collins, Too Sick to Pitch, Turns Ranger

Austin, Tex., March 29.—(AP)—Rip Collins of the St. Louis Browns has chucked his pitcher's glove for a Texas ranger's pistol. W. W. Sterling, adjutant general, announced Collins' appointment to the state's picturesque law enforcement arm today. Collins and Sterling were classmates at Texas Agricultural and Mechanical college. The hurler developed an illness similar to Malta fever several weeks ago, and on advice of physicians decided to forego baseball at least one season.

Jack Delaney Stops Cowboy Willis in Third

Stamford, Conn., March 29.—(AP)—Jack Delaney, former world's light heavyweight champion, who recently returned to the ring, won a technical knockout in the third round of a scheduled 10 round fight tonight over Cowboy Frank Willis of New Jersey. Delaney weighed 184 and Willis 174.

Report Dr. Spears Ready to Accept Wisconsin Post

Portland, Ore., March 29.—(AP)—The Morning Oregonian in a copyrighted story tomorrow will say that Dr. Clarence W. Spears, University of Oregon football coach, has decided to accept a position as head coach at the University of Wisconsin.

ARLIE MUCKS.

The decision was made tonight, the Oregonian will say, after a conference with Artie Mucks, associate professor in the college of agriculture of Wisconsin. Mucks was sent here by the Wisconsin officials in an effort to persuade Spears to accept the post, the paper will say. Mucks is a personal friend of Dr. Spears.

Dr. Spears said, as quoted by the Oregonian, that it was with "sincere regrets" and only after long study that he decided to leave Oregon.

The newspaper will say Spears will submit his resignation to Oregon officials tomorrow or Thursday and ask that it become effective immediately. He intends to move to Madison in time to head spring football practice.

EXPECT ANSWER TODAY.

Madison, Wis., March 29.—[Special.]—The University of Wisconsin still is seeking the services of Dr. Clarence W. Spears, University of Oregon football coach, it was learned today.

Dr. Spears has rejected several offers to coach the Badgers, but new inducements are reported to have been made. Arlie Mucks, member of the Badger agriculture faculty, has gone to Oregon to confer with Dr. Spears.

It is said that the Badger athletic board now is offering him a yearly salary of $10,000 to come to Wisconsin. The last offer which Dr. Spears turned down was reported to have been $9,000.

President Glenn Frank, however, insisted there was nothing to the report that Dr. Spears had reached an agreement with Wisconsin.

"Where such a story came from I don't know," said President Frank, "and really I'm the one person who ought to know about this matter. However, you can say one thing, the coaching matter will be settled once and for all here tomorrow."

RANGERS SNARE LEAGUE TITLE BY 5 TO 2 VICTORY

End Canadiens' Two Year Reign.

New York, March 29.—[Special.]—The New York Rangers won the championship of the National Hockey league tonight when they defeated Les Canadiens of Montreal, 5 to 2, in the final game of the first place playoff round at Madison Square Garden. A crowd of 15,000 attended.

Ott Heller, youthful defense player, who spent most of the season just ending with the Springfield Indians of the Canadian-American league, was the scoring hero of the night, just as he was on Sunday when his tally proved the margin of victory over Les Canadiens in the third game of the series. Heller crashed through in the second period for the first Ranger score, which also was the first of the game, and repeated less than four minutes later.

End Canadiens' Reign.

The defeat ends the two year sway held over professional hockey by Les Canadiens, who ascended to the world's championship in 1930 by defeating a great Boston team. Last year the Flying Frenchmen of Montreal conquered the Chicago Blackhawks to take the title for the second successive season.

Against the Rangers, the Canadiens were unable to exhibit the blinding speed and flashy passing plays that have characterized their game this season. Pete Lepine was unable to play because of a broken leg and Aurel Joliat, regular left wing, was handicapped by a badly bruised leg. Although Joliat appeared on the ice for a few minutes, he was far from the Joliat who helped to give the Canadiens two titles.

Win Three of Four Games.

The triumph gave the New Yorkers three of the four games in the series, which was played on a three out of five basis.

WIDRIG, OFFICIAL OF CINCINNATI BALL CLUB, DIES

New York, March 29.—[Special.]—Pneumonia, which developed while he was recuperating from burns suffered in a fire in his room at the Commodore hotel last January, today caused the death of Louis J. Widrig, treasurer of the Cincinnati club of the National league.

Widrig came to New York on Jan. 19 to attend the National Baseball Writers' association annual banquet. He suffered serious burns in a fire which broke out in his room after the banquet and was under a physician's care since. The body was sent to Cincinnati.

Syracuse Discontinues Contracts for Coaches

Syracuse, N. Y., March 29.—(AP)—The athletic coaching staff at Syracuse university, including the coach of football, Vic Hanson, today had definite word from the chancellor, Charles Wesley Flint, there will be no more contracts. Hereafter coaches will be department heads, appointed just as any other member of the faculty. Salaries will be agreed upon on an annual basis and an appointment once made will be upon that definite basis.

Montreal to Play Toronto; Winner Meets New York

NEW YORK, March 29.—(AP)—The New York Rangers, Toronto Maple Leafs, and Montreal Maroons tonight clinched their preliminary National Hockey league playoffs leading to the Stanley cup series.

The Maroons and Toronto now will play a home and home series, total goals to count, for the right to meet the Rangers for the Stanley cup. This final series, involving the Rangers and either Toronto or the Maroons, will be on a best three out of five basis. The first game of the Maroons-Toronto series will be played in Montreal Thursday and the second game at Toronto Saturday.

Maroons Nip Falcons, 2-0; to Meet Leafs

MONTREAL, Que., March 29.—(AP)—Winning the second game of the series, 2 to 0, the Montreal Maroons tonight captured their National Hockey league playoff series from the Detroit Falcons by a margin of three games to one. The teams played to a 1 to 1 tie in Detroit Sunday night.

It was a cleanly played game in which the Maroons took full advantage of opportunities, and at the same time presented an airtight defense.

After a scoreless first period, Jimmy Ward sent the Maroons one up two minutes before the close of the second period with an unassisted goal that beat Connell.

The Maroons sat back to protect that advantage and all through the third period they turned back one fierce Detroit charge after another. All the Falcons' efforts to even the count were fruitless, and with 31 seconds to play in the final period Hooley Smith clinched the victory with an accurate shot in the Detroit net after taking a pass from Baldy Northcott.

DR. COOKE TAKES CRISLER'S PLACE TEMPORARILY

Minneapolis, Minn., March 29.—(AP)—Dr. L. J. Cooke, for 35 years connected with the University of Minnesota athletic department, will be acting director of athletics when Fritz Crisler goes to Princeton this week to start spring football practice. Crisler will return later to permanently relinquish the directorship for the head coaching job in the east.

Associates of President L. D. Coffman said he was playing virtually a lone hand in going over the list and that he probably would make a personal recommendation to the board of regents.

Two years ago, when Crisler was selected, a committee of students and alumni took part and two alumni members resigned, claiming they were ignored. The president's associates said he sought to avoid similar difficulty by taking the initiative.

TORONTO, Ont., March 29.—(AP)—The Toronto Maple Leafs defeated the Chicago Blackhawks, 6 to 1, in the second and final game of their second place Stanley cup series tonight, eliminating the Chicagoans from the world's championship playoffs by 6 goals to 2. The two game series, which opened in Chicago Sunday with a 1 to 0 Blackhawk victory, is decided on total goals scored.

CHARLES CONACHER.

The Leafs' relentless attack, initiated with the opening faceoff, never let up until the game was safely won. An unusual burst of speed and the steady pressure wore down the Hawk defense, leaving the back checking Chicago forwards exhausted.

Leading the Leaf marksmen was Charlie Conacher, leading National league scorer, who scored two goals. Joe Primeau, who leads the league in assists, made the plays for both of Conacher's goals, a perfect pass in each case paving the way. Happy Day's lone handed effort accounted for another goal, while Bob Gracie, Frank Finnigan and Harold Cotton completed the Chicago rout.

Play Clean but Hard.

Play was remarkably clean, though tension was high. It was evident early the Leafs were determined to get goals, and the Hawk defense wilted under the sustained pressure. After the Leafs' two goals in the first period, the Hawks could get nowhere, and left Gardiner with little protection as they went out after goals in a futile effort to stay within distance of victory. A near capacity crowd of 13,030 saw the game.

Happy Day then took the puck the length of the ice, weaving through the entire Hawk team, to open the scoring, his beautiful angle shot lodging in the corner of the net. Continuing their speedy offensive, the Leafs went two goals up a minute later when Primeau fed Conacher a perfect pass, the latter holding his shot till Gardiner made his move and then lifting the puck over him.

Lowrey Nearly Connects.

The Leafs went short handed when Bailey was benched for tripping Gottselig and the Hawks were on a hair raising offensive. Lowrey, Holmes, and Coulter put on some dangerous rushes and Lowrey tried another floater from outside the blue line in an effort to duplicate his scoring feat of Sunday. It almost worked.

Chabot caught the puck in his pads and was skating to the side when the it dropped to the ice unnoticed by the goalie. Tearing in after the puck, Holmes was just checked in time by Horner.

The first minute of the second period saw both forward lines checking each other at center ice. Then Finnigan shifted down the right side with a baffling change of pace to give Jack Kearns, manager of Mickey Walker, yesterday agreed to a 5 per cent cut in a contract he signed for a bout against King Levinsky at the Chicago Stadium April 29. Last week Kearns signed a blanket contract for the former middleweight champion to engage in five matches for the Stadium.

Start Drills Next Week.

A hitch in the Levinsky-Walker bout developed when Kearns signed a contract calling for 35 per cent of the net receipts, as Mrs. Lena Levy, sister manager of the King, had signed with the understanding that the Chicago fighter would receive as much as Walker. The Stadium corporation does not give windup fighters more than 60 per cent between them and Kearns was talked into a 5 per cent cut.

Levinsky will start training Monday at Trafton's gymnasium for the ten round bout. Kearns will leave Chicago tomorrow for New York, where he will meet Walker. Then they will go to Orangeburg, N. Y., and Walker will start training there for a bout before the Levinsky encounter.

Comes to Chicago April 22.

After the tuneup match the Elizabeth fighter, who gave up the middleweight championship to meet Jack Sharkey, whom he held to a draw, will leave for the loop. He will reach Chicago about April 22 and also establish himself at Trafton's gym.

Steve Pajdo, Trinity High school lightweight boxer, battles Hank Kastman, north side Golden Gloves qualifier last year, in the main event of the amateur show at the Medinah Athletic club tonight. Matt Dour, north side light heavyweight, and Diamond De Tore meet in the semi-final encounter. Six other matches will be arranged.

The ten round encounter between Johnny Baima, Lawndale middleweight, and Young Stuhley of Kewanee, Ill., at White City next Monday night, will be a test for both boxers. Stuhley is undefeated as a professional boxer and recently won a ten round bout from Kid Leonard at Davenport, Ia. Baima has been on the verge of recognition as a middleweight leader several times. Following his knockout by Ray Tramblie last December he knocked out Jimmy Murphy and defeated Freddy Eiller decisively. Baima is training at the Arcade gymnasium and Stuhley will arrive in Chicago Friday to finish preparation.

Phil Heinz, north side suburban featherweight champion, will fight Joey Rozina of Kewanee, Ill., in a feature bout on the amateur card at the Belle Plaine Athletic club tomorrow night. Nestor Burggman will battle Ray Leiss in the semi-final combat at 135 pounds. The match between Vic Petracca and Rocky Cisino appears to be the best of the six supporting encounters.

Jackie Fields, welterweight champion, left Chicago last night for Boston where he meets Leslie Baker of Watertown, Mass., in a nontitle match Friday. After the Boston bout Fields will go to Dayton, O., to fight Peewee Jarrell of Grand Rapids, Mich., ten rounds at 148 pounds next Tuesday.

Midnight tonight is the deadline for submitting entries in the Olympic tryouts and Central A. A. U. championships at Loyola university gymnasium, April 5 to 8. Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota boxers who are eligible to compete can mail their entries before midnight tonight and they will be accepted by Capt. Roy E. Davis, chairman of the local boxing committee, at 538 South Clark street.

Tony Herrera, local junior welterweight, signed yesterday to battle Jimmy Owens of Oklahoma City, Okla., at Fort Worth, Tex., next Tuesday night. Herrera will leave for Fort Worth tomorrow. The match is set for ten rounds at 142 pounds.

Henry Firpo, Chicago middleweight, will file an answer this week to a $15,000 suit a former manager, Larry Keough, has brought against him in Chicago. Upon filing the answer, Firpo's attorney, W. W. O'Brien, will ask for a date in the Municipal court. The suit is the third filed by Keough. He also has suits against Firpo in Boston and Milwaukee.

MAT AMATEURS INVITED TO ENTER C. A. A. U. MEET

Amateur wrestlers from playgrounds, athletic clubs, Y. M. C. A.'s, universities and colleges in the Chicago district are being invited to participate in the Central A. A. U. Association's annual championships, April 8 and 9, at the Interfraternity club, 106 South Wabash avenue. All amateur wrestlers in the states of Illinois, Minnesota, and Wisconsin are eligible for the meet. Entries for the meet will close Wednesday, April 6.

The competing weights will be 112, 118, 123, 134, 145, 158, 174, and 191 pounds, and heavyweight. A one second pin fall instead of the customary two or three second fall will be used. One-half pound overweight will be allowed on Friday and one pound on Saturday.

Ada Epinard Pays $100.15 at St. Johns

Bayard, Fla., March 29.—[Special.]—Under the feather of 100 pounds C. A. Grande's Morvich filly Morden, won the Atlantic coast line purse feature at St. Johns Park today. Running in front from start to finish of the 5½ furlongs, and piloted by Donald Meade, Morden defeated Everytime by a length with Donny Johnny a head farther back in third position.

Morden was fifth choice in a field of seven and returned $15.50 for $2. She was in a drive at the end and finished the distance in 1:08-1-5. Back of the placed horses came Coots, Prince Fox, Bess Cloi, and Sultry with Coots the public choice.

Rough on Favorites.

The day was a bad one for favorites, all seven going down to defeat, although several got in the money. Coots, choice in Morden's race was off slowly and in sharp contrast to Morden's winging start. Meade sent the filly right along. In a short time she had five lengths the best of the nearest of the others.

Everytime was in closest pursuit and made a strong bid through the stretch. There might also have been a break here from Coots, but he was carried wide by Donny Johnny.

Meade, finding that his mount was shortening stride, had to go to a drive to hold Everytime safe. That 6 year old son of High Time ran a good race to force the pace as well as he did. Donny Johnny came on strongly at the end and would have been closer but for losing so much ground.

Ada Epinard Pays $100.15.

Long prices prevailed in several of the races, $100.15 for $2 being paid in the second event, when Ada Epinard got home first by a head. Weatherproof was second, a nose before Bogan. The winner was the outsider in a field of 13.

The curtain raiser saw Principality, the favorite, beaten by a length by Toy Town, which was the second choice in the betting. Danger Zone got the show, another length back of Principality.

Noajoyce, a son of Noah and Joyce, which has been noted for early speed, but not for the ability to hang on, was winner of the third at $11.10 for $2.

BOXING RULERS TELL BATTALINO TO TAKE REST

New York, March 29.—[Special.]—Efforts to match Bat Battalino of Hartford, Conn., with Tony Canzoneri for the lightweight championship of the world at Madison Square Garden May 9 were brought to an end today by the boxing commission.

The governors of boxing in a statement suggested that Battalino accept no engagements for at least 60 days so that his usefulness as a boxer shall not be impaired, presumably on account of the punishment he took from Billy Petrolle at the Garden last Thursday night.

In addition to that the commission ruled that the bout did not end in a knockout so far as the records go, as the customary 10 seconds had not been counted over the Connecticut battler, who was still on his feet.

The statement on these two points reads:

"So that his future usefulness as a boxer shall not be impaired, the boxing commission suggests that Bat Battalino refrain from accepting ring engagements for at least 60 days, as doing so may injure his health. For the record, Battalino was not knocked out. The referee stopped the contest while Bat was still on his feet and the customary 10 seconds were not counted."

SPECIAL TO TAKE 100 HORSES TO AURORA TRACK

A special train containing more than 100 thoroughbreds will leave the Fair Grounds, New Orleans, this weekend for Exposition park, Aurora, where the Illinois Turf association's summer racing season opens on May 2. This movement marks the first big shipment to the Aurora course, where more than 100 racers already are quartered.

Owners represented in the shipment are: William Schmidt's Superior stable of Chicago, numbering 16; Tony Pelleteri of New Orleans with 16; Johnny Theal's Lone Star stable, numbering 16; John Hughes of Chicago, 14; the Knebelkamp and Morris string of half a dozen, and Trainer Tommy Root with 10. The horses will be unloaded Sunday or Monday.

Hunter's Leg Broken as Auto Strikes Tree

The automobile, which Hunter was driving alone, was completely wrecked. It was impossible to tell whether the steering gear had locked, but this was considered likely, for at the time the car was going up an incline and there was no defect in the road to cause it to make an abrupt turn. The car struck a hydrant, then crashed into a tree. The trunk of the tree cut the car almost in half.

Hunter was at his best in 1927, when among American tennis players he was ranked second only to Tilden. Last year he cast his lot with Tilden as a professional in exhibition play.

THURNBLAD TO PLAY IN SPECIAL BILLIARD MEET

Arthur Thurnblad, winner of the 1931 world's championship three cushion billiard tournament, will see action in the all-star three cushion tournament which opens at the Kieckhefer Recreation on Monday afternoon. The other players enrolled are Augie Kieckhefer, present champion; Willie Hoppe and Welker Cochran. At least one more player is expected to enter.

Thurnblad took part in the five handed tourney at Kieckhefer's a few weeks ago and finished fourth, trailing Kieckhefer, Jay Bozeman and Hoppe, but leading Cochran. Thurnblad finished in a tie for second in the 1932 world's championship tournament with Otto Reiselt, but lost in the playoff.

SIXTH IN A. B. C. DOUBLES GOES TO NEW YORK PAIR

Detroit, Mich., March 29.—[Special.]—Bob Irish and Irvin Kelly, Albany, N. Y., took sixth place in the doubles of the American Bowling congress tournament here today in the only change among the leaders. Kelly scored 637 and Irish 631 for a total of 1,268.

James Felhoeler, Louisville, Ky., scored 666 to lead the singles entrants today. Felhoeler had games of 237, 239, and 190.

Iowan Named Captain of Michigan Mat Team

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 29.—[Special.]—Blair Thomas of Cresco, Ia., tonight was elected captain of the 1932-'33 wrestling team of the University of Michigan. Thomas, a junior, was a member of the team in 1928 and this year and runnerup in the Oympic trials in 1928.

Armour Meet Attracts Best of Big 10 Field

The Armour Tech relay games at the University of Chicago fieldhouse Saturday night will bring together many of the athletes who completed in the record breaking Western conference championships three weeks ago. The meet also will give a large field of athletes from the smaller colleges their first opportunity of the season to compete against the Big Ten stars.

Henry Brocksmith, Indiana miler, will run in the individual mile event and in the distance mile relay. His 4:12.8 mile in the conference meet broke the record by 8.8 seconds, and was the fastest mile ever run in the central states.

Other stars who helped Indiana win the Big Ten championship also will compete. Charles Hornbostel, 880 yard champion, will be in the half mile, and in either the two mile or distance medley relay. Ivan Fuqua, sophomore quarter miler, may have to run three 440 yard races before the evening is over.

Indiana's chances of maintaining supremacy over Big Ten schools probably will depend upon the way Coach E. C. Hayes shuffles his star middle distance runners for the three major relays. Brocksmith, Hornbostel and Fuqua may be called upon to run three races apiece in an attempt to keep Michigan, Chicago, Wisconsin, Purdue or Northwestern from taking the relay races.

In the individual events, the Big Ten athletes will have to run against star performers from twenty smaller colleges. This is the only time during the indoor season that athletes of smaller colleges will have a chance to gain wide recognition for the Olympic games, and some of them may push the better known conference men to the limit.

The meet, sponsored by the Armour Tech Athletic association, will start at 3:30 in the afternoon with preliminaries in the 70 yard dash, 70 yard high and low hurdles, and the 880 yard relay. The evening program is scheduled to begin with the finals of the dash at 7:30, and the first university relay event will start at 7:45. John L. Griffith, commissioner of Big Ten athletics, will be starter and referee. Proceeds will be donated to the Chicago Olympic fund.

COLLEGIAN BEATS VINES, NATIONAL NET CHAMPION

Houston, Tex., March 29.—(AP)—Ellsworth Vines, national singles champion, was eliminated from the Houston invitational tennis tournament this afternoon by Mertin Buxby of Texas university, 4-6, 6-2, 7-5. It was a second round match.

The Californian, who had been regarded as a certain member of the 1932 United States Davis cup team, was erratic. Many of his shots went outside and his placements were poor.

Going into the last game of the match Vines was serving. Buxby took the first point on the Californian's double fault. Vines' sharp volley won the next point, and it stood at 15 all. Vines won another point when Buxby drove outside, but double faulted to make the count 30 all. Vines drove into the net and it was 30-40. He drove outside to lose the last point and the match.

Junior Coen of Kansas City, seeded No. 5, advanced without difficulty to the third round, defeating Leslie Coleman of Houston, 6-4, 6-1. Coen drew a first round bye.

STANFORD TRACK STAR TRAINS TO BEAT 880 MARK

Stanford University, Cal., March 29.—[Special.]—Ben Eastman of Stanford university, who Saturday cracked the world's 440 yard record, started training today for an attempt to better the half mile mark and amazed spectators by running 660 yards in 1:21 flat.

Had he completed the last 220 yards and run the distance in 29 seconds his time would have been 1:50. The 880 yard world's record is 1:51.6, held by Dr. Otto Peltzer of Germany.

In a meet with the Los Angeles Athletic club, Eastman ran the 440 in 46.4 seconds to clip a full second off the record established in 1916 by Ted Meredith.

CHICAGO CRICKET ELEVEN TO PLAY AUSTRALIA TEAM

Antipodes Champs Will Make American Tour.

BY BETTY ECKERSALL.

The internationally known Australian cricket team will play a Chicago team July 23, 24, 25, and 26 at Grant park. This will be the first Chicago visit of a representative team from the antipodes in nearly twenty years.

The series of games will be played under the auspices of the Illinois Cricket association, which has appointed a committee to select an opposing team of eleven players from the ten member clubs of the association.

Bradman Is Star.

Don Bradman, the 21 year old star who will head the Australian team, is the greatest all time attraction known to the game. He is the Babe Ruth of cricket. Bradman, although virtually a newcomer, holds practically every batting record in the game, and recently in Australia broke all international test match records by scoring five consecutive centuries, three of which were double centuries, against the South African team. His best effort was 299 runs, not out.

Other well known players on the Australian team are Woodfull, Ponsford, Kippax, McCabe, Grimmett, and Mailey. These men were all members of the Australian cricket champion test match team which defeated the English players last year.

Makes Canadian Tour.

The team will reach Vancouver the latter part of May and will then set out on a tour of Canada, playing in most of the important Dominion cities. It also will play in New York and Detroit.

Members of Chicago's official family and the 1933 Century of Progress exposition committee have been asked to participate in the official welcome to the Australians.

Armour Tech's Track Team Beats Crane, 54-50

Booth Receives Eighth and Last Letter from Yale

New Haven, Conn., March 29.—(AP)—The award to Albert J. Booth, diminutive football and basketball captain of the minor "Y" for basketball, his eighth and probably last athletic letter, was announced today by the Yale Athletic association.

The letter was awarded in recognition of his captaincy in spite of the fact he spent the first part of the season in a sanatorium recovering from a lung infection and sat on the sidelines the rest.

Booth has received three major letters in football, two in baseball, and two minor "Y's" in basketball. Although he is recovering rapidly, it is considered unlikely he will play baseball this year.

New Coaching Lineup Greets Ohio Grid Men

Wesley Fesler, assistant back field coach last year, is serving as assistant line coach, paying particular attention to the ends. He also will be assigned the duties of kicking and passing coach for the back field men.

Don Miller, former Notre Dame star, who was back field coach last year, has indicated acceptance of a pay cut and is expected to arrive tomorrow to sign his contract and take over his duties in the spring sessions.

These changes give the Buckeyes a lineup of alumni coaches with the exception of Miller and Stahl. Godfrey played end at Ohio State for three years, 1915 being his last season. He coached at Wooster and Wittenburg before coming to Ohio State in 1929.

BRAVES BEAT A'S, 4-3, TO WIN THREE GAMES OF SERIES

Orlando, Fla., March 29.—(AP)—A home run by Berger, Boston center fielder, and four errors by the Philadelphia Athletics enabled the Braves to defeat the A's, 4 to 3, here today.

Berger's homer, with Maranville on base, came before Ed Rommel had his bearings in the first inning. In the sixth, the Braves put two more across when Art Shires got the second of his three hits and Bishop dropped Urbanski's fly. A double by Knothe sent in both men.

The victory gave Boston the series with the A's, three games out of four. Score:

Philadelphia [A.]	000	100	200	3	9	4

YANKS WHIP REDS, 9-7.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 29.—(AP)—Jumping into a seven run lead in the first three innings, the New York Yankees pounded out a 9 to 7 victory over the Cincinnati Reds today.

The Yanks put across three runs in the second inning and added four more in the third when Earl Combs and Jack Saltzgaver hit successive home runs. Babe Ruth failed to get a hit in the six innings he played.

Pipgras and Allen, who divided the Yankees' pitching assignment, were wild but managed to hold the Reds at bay with the exception of the fourth, sixth and seventh innings. Larry Benton and Hilcher pitched for the Reds, Benton being charged with the defeat. Score:

Cincinnati	000	303	100	7	7	2

SENATORS TROUNCE ORIOLES.

Gulfport, Miss., March 29.—(AP)—The Washington Senators, through consistently good hitting and nice pitching on the part of Rookie Bob Friedrich, defeated the Baltimore Orioles today, 10 to 3.

Friedrich, who in previous exhibition performances had shown a tendency to wildness, allowed only three hits in six innings and saw one run made off him. He walked seven, however.

BUNT BEATS BROWNS.

Fort Lauderdale, Fla., March 29.—(AP)—George Werber Buffalo shortstop, stole a ball game from the St. Louis Browns, 3 to 2, here today.

Beating out a bunt, he took a big chance and stole second. Bengough's throw was bad so Werber promptly stole third. Here he was again aided by a break. Storti permitted Bengough's throw to get away from him and Werber scored the winning run. Score:

St. Louis [A.]	200	000	000	2	5	1

GIANTS LOSE TO SEALS, 9-4.

San Francisco, Cal., March 29.—(AP)—Blasting out six runs off Carl Hubbell in an eighth inning rally, the San Francisco Seals defeated the New York Giants, 9 to 4, today to even up their exhibition series at one all.

For five innings Hubbell was invincible, holding the Coast leaguers to four hits and no runs. The Seals found the range in the sixth for three runs to tie the count and sewed up the game two innings later. Score:

New York [N.]	020	110	000	4	8	3
S. Francisco [P.C.L.]	000	003	06*	9	12	1

PHILS WIN AGAIN, 7-3.

Atlanta, Ga., March 29.—(AP)—The Phillies made it two straight today at the expense of the Atlanta Crackers, winning by 7 to 3, and for the second straight game Chuck Klein clouted a mighty homer.

The home run came in the ninth inning and started a rally which saw Hurst hit the fence for a double, Lee dump another double into left, and Bartell score them with a single. It was Bartell's third hit of the day. Score:

Tap! Tap! Tap! Woodpeckers Come to Call

BY BOB BECKER.

With April at hand bird fans in Chicagoland may expect to hear the spring songs of several new birds, because April speeds up migration. In an average year the redheaded woodpecker can be expected to check in the first week in April. The rolling tattoo of this bird hammering on a post, tree or the roof of a house adds considerable to the atmosphere of early spring.

One of the most fascinating features of this spring migration is the way that a few species come out of the south with a watchful eye on the thermometer so that they won't get ahead of spring, while others far in the majority, migrate so rapidly that they outstrip spring and get ten jumps ahead of warm temperatures.

Goose It Watchful Waiter.

Of course, the Canada goose is the most notable exponent of "watchful waiting" among our migrating birds. He waits until the thermometer says 35 degrees and then he moves northward. But he won't go beyond the line where the temperature reads below 35. So the honkers and the isotherm of 35 degrees are pals on the spring migration. The pintail is another migrant that takes it slowly, moving northward with spring. The same holds true for the redwing blackbird.

The majority of our birds which spend the winter way south of the United States travel much faster than spring. Some of them loiter in South America until late in April and then they step on the gas as they move northward, arriving in Alaska and the far north so quickly that they run into comparatively low temperatures.

A Warbler from the Tropics.

A good example of how some of our song birds outstrip spring can be found among the warblers. For example, there is one that comes up from the tropics about April 5, reaching New Orleans about that date.

Down there the average temperature is 65 degrees early in April.

Ordinarily one would think that the warbler would slowly come northward to keep in warm weather. But he doesn't. From April 5 on he hustles. In a month the birds cover 1,000 miles, reaching Minnesota to find a temperature of around 55 degrees. Continuing northward the birds gain another 5 or 10 degrees traveling a territory in 15 days that takes spring 35 days to cross

FISH FOR SALE! CANADA OFFERS LAKES, RIVERS

FREDERICTON, N. B., March 29.—(AP)—The only public auction of its kind in the world, whereby trout and salmon fishing privileges on 688 miles of rivers and 26 lakes will be sold to the highest bidder, will be held in the Parliament building April 7.

Heretofore, the leases have been for five years, but now they will be sold for 10 years and international sportsmen from Canada, Great Britain and the United States are expected to attend in person or by proxy.

The auction involves 57 stretches along such famous salmon rivers as the Restigouche, 50 miles of which has been controlled by a group of financial notables for years, the Kedgwich and the Matapedia.

Applications indicate syndicates are being formed to bid for the stretches, a circumstance that leads to the belief numerous new fishing clubs will be formed.

BRUINS ENLIST WICKHORST FOR ALL-STAR GAME

Coach Ralph Miller of the Chicago Bruins figures that one way to beat the Purdue All Stars next Sunday night at the Rainbo Fronton is to match speed against speed. That's why the Bruin management announced yesterday the signing of Mike [Whitey] Wickhorst, one of the Bruin stars of last season.

Wickhorst was signed to match the speed of Johnny Wooden, Western conference scoring champion, this season. Wickhorst started practice with the Bruins yesterday.

He was injured late last season and until two weeks ago did not attempt to play.

The All Stars will use Stretch Murphy, Johnny Wooden, Herman Boots, Glenn Harmeson, and Dick Porter.

Leafs Defeat Hawks, 6 to 1, in Series Final

Scores Come Fast.

The Hawks appeared bewildered by the Leafs' speed at this stage and seldom got over the Toronto blue line. A typical play by Primeau and Conacher brought the Leafs' their fourth goal. Primeau carried the puck to the defense, passed to Conacher, and Charlie coasted in, pulling Gardiner to one side before slipping the puck into the net.

The veteran Boucher made Chicago's next effort and through excellent stick handling beat his way in close. Levinsky dumped him here before he could shoot and then Finnigan got away again to give the Leafs another goal. He eased past the defense and shot. Gardiner took the first shot, but Frank pounced on the rebound to beat the goalie in 16:06.

Gottselig got in close for Chicago and fed Couture a nice pass, but the latter's shot bounced off the goal post. Ripley had a crack at the rebound but shot wide. Chicago was tiring visibly from the tremendous speed and player changes were frequent.

The Hawks got a respite from the Leafs' attack in the third period when Horner was penalized for tripping Abel. They pressed hard but could not score, Cook drawing a penalty to even the sides. A second later Thompson and Cotton crashed at the Toronto blue line and Cotton was carried off the ice.

Coulter Scores.

The pace slowed down as the teams began to feel the effect of bruising body checks. Chicago finally broke into the scoring column when Coulter went down the right boards slowly, feinted at the defense and then drilled a hard shot to the corner of the net from twenty feet out.

Bailey missed an open net after taking Clancy's pass inside the defense when the Leafs returned to the offensive and Clancy drew a penalty for boarding Gottselig, putting the Leafs back on the defense immediately.

March and Thompson were penalized within seconds of each other and this led to Toronto's sixth goal. Bailey and Cotton went down together, Bailey taking Cotton's pass and driving a hard shot at Gardiner. Gardiner jumped out on his knees and blocked the shot. Cotton, circling near, gathered in the rebound and lifted it into the net.

Johnson Again Held Unfit for Boxing Matches

Los Angeles, Cal., March 29.—[Special.]—Jack Johnson and Jess Willard, former world heavyweight champions, appeared in person before attachés of the California state athletic commission today in support of pleas to be allowed to take out boxing licenses.

In Johnson's case, his plea was a personal appeal for revision of an order recently handed down which bars him from all rings in California as physically unfit. The board again ruled against the colored ex-champion today.

In Willard's case, the man who won from Johnson was instructed to present his request in writing and submit it to the ring board in that form, after which he would be informed on the decision affecting him.

Woman Fight a Man! Indiana Balks at That

Indianapolis, Ind., March 29.—(AP)—The state athletic commission today ruled that boxing contests between women or between a woman and a man shall not be permitted.

The rules were amended to prohibit such exhibitions after it was learned that a match between a woman and a man had been staged in Vincennes. The bout, it was declared, was held without the sanction or knowledge of the commission.

James H. Hammond, a Vincennes promoter, told the commission that the event was staged before his club while he was in New York and that he had no knowledge of it until he returned home.

MICHIGAN HOLDS FIRST OUTDOOR FOOTBALL DRILL

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 29.—[Special.]—Coach Harry Kipke took the Michigan football squad out of doors for spring practice for the first time today. He put the candidates through a long scrimmage.

Spring training usually is an orientation period for freshmen, but a large number of last season's—and, probably next season's, regulars were in the workout today. Nearly all of the returning men were on hand with the exception of those who are on the baseball and track squads. Backs included Everhardus, Fay, Westover, Newman, and Schmidt, while in the line at various times were Purdum, Marcovsky and others who have become familiar on South Ferry field in the last two years.

INDIANA NINE BEATS MIAMI U. IN OPENER, 11-9

Bloomington, Ind., March 29.—[Special.]—Indiana defeated Miami university of Oxford, O., 11 to 9, here today in the opening baseball game for both teams.

Getting off to a 4 to 0 lead in the first inning, the Crimson led all the way, but were threatened in the last inning. Miami scored runs in the seventh after Gery had replaced Gatti on the mound for Indiana.

a triple to right center and scored on Selph's fly to Nicholson. Applin doubled to right and scored when Eggert picked up Grube's grounder and threw the ball away. Gaston fanned and Anderson popped to Windle.

The opportunity for the season's first shutout was dissipated in the eighth in the following manner: O'Neil fanned and Bolton rolled out to Blue. Eggert then doubled and came home on Ward's single to right. Sisler also singled, but Gaston threw out Nicholson to end the inning.

Manager Lew Fonseca tonight announced that Pitcher Joe Bartulis and Infielder Jack Ryan had been sent to the Buffalo International league team on option. Bartulis was a junior at the University of Illinois when he signed with the Sox. Ryan, signed after he had captained the Holy Cross baseball team in 1930, was with Atlanta last year. The players were ordered to report to the Buffalo team at Fort Lauderdale, Fla.

NO wonder every man-jack of us hemmed and hawed at the cigar counter! Saying "WHY... UH-H" was just a way of working up the old courage to take another stab in the dark. Brand after brand had its fling—and stayed flung.

In a word—or a couple of words—the world has been waiting for New Bachelor. New Bachelor takes the five cent cigar smoker out of the fog and gives him a bosom companion.

New Bachelor says good morning in a smooth, mild manner that makes the sun shine brighter. It keeps you in a mellow mood all day long and bids you good night with a guarantee of pleasant dreams. The perfectly balanced blend makes it repeat day after day.

INSULL GROUP'S MIDDLE WEST PROJECT WINS

New York Lawyer Hits at Management.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

Debentures of the Middle West Utilities company rallied sharply yesterday on the New York Curb as stockholders met in Wilmington, Del. There they approved the proposal put forth by the Insull management which enables the company to issue stock and stock rights to outside interests. Heretofore stockholders have had prior subscription rights on new stock issues and warrants.

It is believed that the additional authority granted the management will be exercised in carrying out a propram to meet the company's refinancing problem. On the strength of this supposition buyers bid up the price of the company's debentures.

1932 Notes Advance.

The 1932 note series, maturing in June, reached a high price for the day of $42 and closed at $40 with a net gain of $5. Recently this issue had sold below 30 when prospects for redemption looked poor. Other maturities were also in good demand yesterday with each series advancing around $5.

The action taken yesterday was in the form of an amendment to the company's charter giving authority to directors to issue common stock now held or hereafter authorized in payment for "services received" or property. It will not be necessary to offer the new stock to shareholders first as was required under the company's charter heretofore. Under the new ruling common stock also may be issued in exchange for preference stocks or for funded obligations of the company. Rights and options for the purchase of common stock may also be issued in return for "services received."

Under the terms of the amendment the directors could issue "rights" or stock to a banking syndicate aiding in the carrying out of a refinancing program.

Insull Group Controls Proxies.

The Insull management held a substantial majority of the proxies at yesterday's meeting with approximately 75 per cent of the common and 72 per cent of the preferred under its control. All sitting directors were re-elected.

A motion that the meeting be adjourned without action in order that stockholders might have an opportunity to study the recent financial report of the company was overwhelmed by the votes of the management. The delay in action was proposed by Harry K. Hock, city solicitor of Wilmington, who held proxies for 1,000 shares.

Criticism of the management was voiced by Benjamin Mahler, New York attorney. He charged that responsibility for the company's present condition rested with the management. Judicious direction of the company's affairs would have enabled a continuance of dividend payments, he declared. He specifically censured the management for widening its activities in directions not connected with the utility field. Mahler cited the company's investments in the New England paper and textile industries.

Replying to the criticism, Samuel Insull, chairman of the board, who presided, granted that he did not consider himself infallible and that he was willing to accept his share of blame for the mistakes which had been made. He thanked Mahler for his criticisms.

Stock Unaffected Here.

The company's stock was unaffected by the events of the day in the trading on the Chicago exchange. About 32,500 shares were traded between $1 and $1.25 a share, little changed from the previous price. The market generally was irregular with moderate gains predominating in the closing price list. Preferred shares of Public Service of Northern Illinois made partial recovery of recent losses. In the main net price changes were small.

Asks Higher Rates.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 29.—[Special.]—Close on the heels of the recent merger of the Wabash Valley Electric company and the Attica Electric company into the Northern Indiana Power company, Insull interests today filed a petition with the public service commission asking an increased return on the merged properties and proposing higher, uniform rates for 185 cities and towns served by the system.

It is alleged there is an important necessity for higher and uniform rates because stated earnings of all the electric, water, ice, heat, railway, and gas properties of the consolidation are not more than a 1.49 per cent return on a "conservatively appraised value" for all useful property. Electric properties of the consolidation earned only 3.14 per cent return, the petition avers.

Raises Old Issue.

The request for a general investigation of Insull "north system" rates again raised the issue of whether utility systems or consumer localities, such as cities and towns, are the units for the regulation and fixing of utility rates in Indiana. The United States District court here recently decided by interlocutory decree in the Martinsville case that the city is the utility rate making unit in Indiana.

Today's petition in form and plea is a counterpart of one filed several months ago by the Public Service Company of Indiana, another Insull utility, asking for "adjustment" of rates in a "south system" of Indiana serving seventy-six cities and towns.

With the assertion that it cannot continue to give adequate and continuous service, "no matter how essential the service may be, unless gross revenues and income can be increased," the Northern Indiana Power company, following the "south system" example, has asked the commission for an application of "uniform rates" throughout the territory.

Wants "Uniform" Rates.

The Northern Indiana Power company asks permission of the public service commission to prepare and file a "uniform" schedule of rates, applying to all 185 communities in the "north system," representing its idea of what could be called "sufficient and reasonable rates."

The Insull "south system" proposals of uniform rates, first offered were rejected by the commission, but later a revised schedule was approved temporarily.

INSULL TURNS TO AFFAIRS OF PEOPLES GAS

Cites Rumors; States Long Record.

BY O. A. MATHER.

Samuel Insull, chairman of the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company, yesterday issued the second of three analyses concerning the financial situation and investments of the principal Insull public utility operating companies. Last Monday Mr. Insull offered an initial statement dealing with the Commonwealth Edison company, the present analysis concerning Peoples Gas and a third statement dealing with the Public Service Company of Northern Illinois will appear in the near future.

"In the present state of the security market," Mr. Insull says, "the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company has had its share of attention from whisperers and rumor peddlers. Nothing is happening to the company except the obvious effects of the times, which shorten the industrial demand for a minor part of its product, make collections a little slower and add something to its share of the civic or community burden that is imposed on all strong institutions by current economic circumstances.

Within Company's Strength.

"These incidents of the times are well within the reserve strength of the Peoples Gas company or any other like it. The three and a half millions of people in Chicago are still cooking their food and take baths and getting the family wash done and keeping warm—with gas.

"Gas companies have been among the most reliable dividend payers (although never extravagant payers in boom times) through more depressions than anybody now alive can remember. The Peoples Gas Light and Coke company is one of the great gas properties of the world. There is no reason why its regular dividends should not be earned and paid in 1932.

"The only financing the company has to do in 1932 is to provide for the retirement of $15,000,000 of its 3½ per cent notes due July 30. Arrangements for taking care of that are on the way. Meanwhile, neither the parent company nor any of its subsidiaries has any bank loans, and it has over $7,000,000 of cash in the bank. If a favorable bond market should develop during the year the company probably would sell some $16,000,000 of bonds of the Natural Gas Pipe Line Company of America that are among its assets. But the arrangements for the retirement of the notes due July 30 do not in any way depend on the sale of these pipe line company bonds.

Like Other Investments.

"The investments of the Peoples Gas company in its subsidiary companies are like the investments made by many distributors (distributors of groceries, meat, shoes, or dry goods) when they acquire interests in canning factories, packing houses, shoe factories, textile mills, and the like. They are in no way speculative investments. They are in enterprises directly related to the operation, growth, and development of the company's business. They have been made expressly for that purpose—to facilitate the operation, growth, and development of the company business—and their value to the company is measured by that and not by the ups and downs of stock market quotations.

How They Are Listed.

"NATURAL GAS AND UTILITY INVESTMENTS, $27,055,058 and 57.8 per cent of the total. This includes ownership of a little more than 26 per cent of the Natural Gas Pipe Line Company of America, which brings natural gas from Texas to the Chicago district; an interest in the Midland United company, which is an outgrowth of the Peoples Gas company's interest in the Indiana gas situation, dating from acquisition of the Chicago Economic Fuel Gas company in 1897 and of the Indiana Natural Gas and Oil company in 1906; and a substantial amount of bonds of the last named company.

"COAL INTERESTS, $1,548,541 and 3.3 per cent of the total. The Peoples Gas company has for many years protected its future fuel requirements, this protection in recent years being represented by an interest in the Peabody Coal company, which owns and operates coal properties in Illinois and West Virginia that produce coal of the quality necessary for the efficient operation of the Peoples Gas company's coke oven plant and other plants.

"RAILROAD INVESTMENTS, $352,430 and .8 of 1 per cent of the total. To insure prompt delivery of coal and oil at its principal production plant, the Peoples Gas company sev-

Taylor Takes Morgan Post in U. S. Steel

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 29.—Myron C. Taylor, a lawyer turned industrialist, assumed today the full executive direction of the United States Steel corporation following his election as chairman of the board to succeed J. P. Morgan, banker.

Mr. Morgan relinquished the chairmanship in accordance with an agreement made at the time he accepted the office in 1927 following the death of Elbert H. Gary, who was for a quarter of a century the chief executive officer of the corporation.

Mr. Taylor who previously has held only the office of chairman of the finance committee, now becomes the directing head of the world's largest industrial enterprise with full title to the authority.

Irvin to Be President.

As far as authority is concerned Mr. Taylor replaces a triumvirate that was set up in charge of the corporation's affairs following Mr. Gary's death. That triumvirate consisted of Mr. Morgan, Mr. Taylor, and James A. Farrell. Mr. Farrell, who is president, will retire next month, to be succeeded by William A. Irvin, now a vice president. Mr. Irvin will rank next to Mr. Taylor, but he will be concerned mainly with operations.

Mr. Morgan assumed the chairmanship in 1927, at the request of his friend, George F. Baker, since dead, and then chairman of the First National Bank of New York and the largest individual stockholder in the steel corporation. The understanding was that the chairmanship was to be shorn of all executive functions and that he was to act as presiding officer at directors' and stockholders' meetings. His banking interests made a more active part in the steel corporation's affairs impossible.

The reorganization of executive personnel made necessary by the retirement plan is one of three major projects on which Mr. Taylor has been engaged. The first of these projects was financial and resulted in the retirement of all the steel corporation's bonded indebtedness and a large decrease in such indebtedness of the subsidiary companies. The bonds of the latter still are being retired. The third feature of his program was the overhauling of plants and property where necessary. That work has been under way for several years.

Born in New York.

The new chairman was born in Lyons, N. Y., Jan. 18, 1874, and was graduated from Cornell in 1894. Although educated in law, his chief interests have been in business. He became interested in the textile industry in New England and was for many years a leading figure in various large enterprises.

He attracted the attention of Mr. Baker, who later made him a director in his First National bank and a trusted associate. Mr. Taylor still is a director of the First National of New York as well as of the New York Central, the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, and a number of other larger companies. He is a trustee of the Mutual Life Insurance company.

RECEIVERSHIP FOR MO. STATE LIFE IS BALKED BY COURT

St. Louis, Mo., March 29.—(AP)—Temporary receivership for the Missouri State Life Insurance company, largest insurance firm west of the Mississippi river, was averted for an indefinite time late today. The Missouri Supreme court at Jefferson City ordered that no further action be taken in the receivership filed in St. Louis a few hours earlier, until the court rules in the case.

Circuit Judge Robert W. Hall had appointed Joseph Thompson, state commissioner of insurance, and Montague Lyon, St. Louis attorney, as temporary receivers on application of Jerome Duggan, a small stockholder.

Duggan's petition alleged mismanagement by officers of the company and cited the purchase of $2,000,000 in securities from Caldwell & Co., defunct banking firm of Nashville, Tenn., in 1930, as evidence of mismanagement. The securities, the petition said, now are "practically worthless."

The company has $1,200,000,000 in insurance in force and its gross assets are listed at $160,000,000.

Allen May, vice president and general attorney for the company, said tonight the firm's assets are "more than ample, in all events, to take care of all policyholders." The company's report last Dec. 31 showed it held assets more than $8,000,000 above all liability to policyholders.

Income Tax Collections Run Way Below Year Ago

Washington, D. C., March 29.—(AP)—Income tax receipts continued to decline on March 26 when they amounted to $683,090, as compared with $1,851,614 on the similar day a year ago. For the month income tax collections have been $190,624,156, as compared with $329,116,991 for the same number of days of last March. For the fiscal year the collections have amounted to $848,745,498; against $1,500,548,016 last year. Government receipts from all sources for the fiscal year have amounted to $1,586,379,987, as compared with $2,421,267,336 last year, while expenditures have totaled $3,429,625,850, against $3,016,802,443. On March 26 the government had a deficit of $1,843,245,862.

PHONE WORKERS' HOURS AND PAY BOTH REDUCED

The Illinois Bell Telephone company last night announced a reduction in the working hours of all employés with an equal reduction in pay. Effective April 16 all officials and employés, who have not already taken a reduction in working time, will be cut by a minimum of one-half day per week.

The reduction will be in addition to the regular day off allowed employés. Officials stated that the half days would not in all cases be continuous with present days off. The reduction will be staggered so as not to hinder service efficiency.

Approximately 50 per cent of the employés are now working on a reduced hour basis, officials said.

Total sales for this year to date were $57,655,175, compared with $70,031,267 in the corresponding period last year, a decrease of $12,376,092, or 17.7 per cent.

DOLLAR RALLIES IN NEW YORK; STERLING DROPS

All Foreign Moneys Also Lower.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 29.—A rally in dollar exchange set in today. It was based on profit taking by European traders who had made speculative sales Saturday and Monday and on indications from Washington that congress was making renewed efforts to balance the budget. The rise virtually counteracted the gains made by leading European exchanges on the first day of the week.

In the case of sterling, a net decline of 5½ cents to $3.77 left that exchange 1 cent under Saturday's closing level. The franc, however, retained nearly half of Monday's gain, closing at 3.93 11-16 cents, down 9-16 point, while the guilder reacted only 2 points to 40.42 cents, against a net rise of 13 points on the two preceding trading days and the Swiss franc lost only 2½ points to 19.40 cents, against a rise of 12½ points on Saturday and Monday.

Belgian francs were down 2 points to 13.96 cents and lire down ¼ of a point to 5.18½ cents, the drop in each case exactly canceling Monday's gain.

Marks Lose Four Points.

Marks lost 4 points of the 5 points gained on Saturday and Monday. The Scandinavian exchanges, moving in concert with London, dropped 20 to 59 points, against advances of 20 to 40 points on Monday.

The bulk of the day's business again came out of London, which was selling sterling all day. The British exchange followed a downward course from the start save for a momentary rally in the first hour of business. Advices from London indicated that the authorities there were disturbed at the sharp gains of recent days which were ascribed largely to the transfer of French funds from New York to London.

A reflection of the renewed European mistrust of the dollar appeared in the daily gold statement of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York khich showed an increase of $1,402,100 in the amount of gold earmarked for foreign account.

Europe's Fright Decreases.

Last week a trend toward reduced earmarkings appeared, which was taken to indicate that European central banks which earlier in the year sought to safeguard their dollar balances by converting them into earmarked gold had sufficiently recovered from their fright to reverse the process by converting earmarked gold into active dollar balances.

Int'l Nickel Saves Cash by New Methods

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 29.—Completion last year of the $50,000,000 modernization program started in 1924 by the International Nickel company was revealed by Robert C. Stanley, president, in his address to stockholders today.

As a result of new equipment in actual operation many economies already are being realized, he declared, and with the resumption of reasonable industrial activity the company's large capital expenditures will not only have provided the necessary facilities for mining, smelting, and refining ore, but will enable the management to show great economies in metallurgy when contrasted with methods formerly used.

Says Condition Is Strong.

It was interesting to note from Mr. Stanley's remarks that in the completion of the modernization program some $17,000,000 was expended in the last two years of depression, "yet your company has been fortunate in having been able to provide for this extraordinary financing in addition to its current operations without recourse to borrowing."

"It had been hoped that business conditions," he said, "would permit the payment of a dividend on the common stock for the first quarter of this year, but your directors determined that in view of the decreased demand for your company's products in January, and especially the demoralized state of the copper market, the question of a declaration of a dividend should be held over. The payment of dividends in the last year of acute depression evidences the desire on the part of your directors to provide income to shareholders and gives assurance that dividends will be resumed as soon as such action is deemed prudent.

Shown by Recent Report.

"From the figures submitted in the report (annual report, issued on March 15 last) it is apparent that financing of capital expenditures, retirement of debenture stock, and purchase money notes, and disbursement of dividends, occasioned the withdrawal of $4,652,356 from working capital, and that this amount closely approximates the $4,679,435 expended for capital account.

"As there appears to be no probability of large expenditures for capital account for some time to come, increased earnings, when attained, will be more readily available for dividends than during recent years."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 29.—The share market was in a somewhat more hopeful mood today.

The firm stand by President Hoover against additional bonus legislation and the fresh efforts being exerted by leaders of congress to provide wherewithal for balancing the national budget gave the trading community a better slant on life and brought the first show of sustained support for the general list in nearly a week. Prices plugged ahead rather stubbornly for most of the day, but an early spell of weakness combined with a burst of "precautionary" selling toward the last to keep them within bounds.

Not Much Change.

On the average the closing figures did not represent much change from those of yesterday. Probably a majority of the so-called wheelhorse issues, such as American Can, New York Central, General Motors, Western Union, Consolidated Gas, United States Steel, Case, and the like, were either fractionally higher or unchanged, but elsewhere in the list minus signs held the ascendancy. Several preferreds were down 5 to 10 points or so.

Trading was again extremely dull, the turnover coming to only about a million shares.

Heavy Selling in I. T. & T.

Heavy selling in International Telephone and Telegraph, which broke out about mid-morning, provided a touch of color to the proceedings. The drive carried the stock to new record low levels on a drop of 2¾ points, about half of which was later recovered.

Wall street did a lot of guessing in an effort to arrive at a reason for the stock's sudden lapse from popular favor. Attempts were made to connect it with the Kreuger & Toll situation, but they were not entirely successful. When the International company acquired a working interest in L. M. Ericcson Telephone from Kreuger & Toll last summer it was recalled the last-named company became the owner of 400,000 shares of International, but just what the posi-

CALL FOR BONDS ON BUILDING IN RIVERSIDE DRIVE

Gotham Property Defaults Interest.

If you have a defaulted real estate bond and haven't been able to get the desired information regarding it from the bondholders' protective committee or from other sources, The Tribune may be of assistance to you. Write to "The Tribune Real Estate Bond Service, Chicago Tribune." Don't ask for information regarding more than one issue at a time. Give name of underwriter and full title of the bond. Inquiries must be accompanied by a stamped, self-addressed envelope for personal reply.

Owners of first mortgage sinking funds bond certificates, series A, secured by the twenty-four story Riverside Drive and 103d street building, New York City, were sent requests yesterday to deposit their securities with the Chicago Title and Trust company, the Atlantic National bank of Boston, or the City Bank Farmers' Trust company, New York City.

FRANK W. BLAIR.

This call for bonds was issued by the committee for the protection of the holders of first mortgage bonds sold through the American Bond and Mortgage company.

The committee is composed of Craig B. Hazlewood, vice president of the First National bank, Chicago, who is chairman; Frank W. Blair, president of the Union Joint Stock Land bank, Detroit; Frederick G. Curry, H. K. Hallett, Dayton Keith, Joseph E. Otis, Walter J. Sugden, and Charles W. Weston. George L. Wire is secretary.

Houses Roerich Museum.

This Gotham property, at the northeast corner of Riverside drive and 103d street, is unusual in that the lower three floors of the building are occupied by the Roerich museum, while the upper stories contain 294 one room apartments and forty-eight two room suites.

All of the bonds of the original $1,925,000 issue, which was underwritten by the American Bond and Mortgage company, are still outstanding. A large percentage of the issue was subscribed for by middle westerners.

The present earnings of the property are insufficient to meet interest, amortization, and tax requirements. The owners are now in arrears to the extent of approximately $36,000 in their payments under the first mortgage, and it is anticipated that the June 15, 1932, interest coupon will not be paid.

Taxes in Arrears.

Part of the taxes for 1930 and 1931, aggregating approximately $102,000, are also in arrears. Proceedings to secure tax exemption on the ground that the building is used for educational purposes are pending.

Pursuant to an agreement with the bondholders' protective committee dated March 1, 1932, the net income from the property is being deposited for the benefit of the first mortgage bondholders with the Manufacturers' Trust company, as successor corporate trustee.

REALTY NOTES

Realtors will be shown how the "lie detector" operates at luncheon today at the Chicago Real Estate board. Charles W. Hat Blocking company, Adolph N. Kleinman, Daniel Wolf, Louis Barnett, Lucky Bridal Veil company, Value Hat company, Lowette Hats, Inc., Aaron W. Altmeyer, Aragon Hats, Inc., and Louis Weinberg Textile corporation.

Estimated receipts at Chicago today: Cattle, 8,000; hogs, 14,000; sheep, 8,000.

Another sticky market developed yesterday when a meager supply of fresh hogs, estimated at 13,000, was augmented by a generous holdover from the previous unsatisfactory session. Trading was listless throughout the day and closed on the bottom, with 7,000 to 9,000 estimated still unsold. The extreme top at $4.50 paid sparingly showed 10c loss, while the general average was also off 10c at $4.10. However, late in the day it was difficult to dispose of stock at less than 15@20c decline and most bids at the finish were 25c under the general selling Monday. The sluggish wholesale market for fresh pork loins the last two days has effectively checked buying by smaller local houses and city butchers.

Warmer weather was also a factor, and buyers proceeded cautiously to avoid running over their short orders. There is no dependable outlet for fresh pork lately.

Near Low Winter Mark.

Loins are half way back to the low spot of the winter. Yesterday's range of 7@11c, the lowest since March 2, shows a decline of fully 5c per pound since the high point two weeks ago. Chicago wholesale prices have drifted 1@2c lower than eastern markets. Two weeks ago loins were being ringing that much more than in the east. However, conditions at eastern distributing centers are almost as distressing. Outside buyers withdrew from the hog market early yesterday with less than 2,000 head for eastern slaughter. In view of all these depressing factors, the light supply lost its influence. Arrivals at leading markets during the first two days of the week are far below normal, showing 22 per cent decrease compared with 1931 and 31 per cent decrease compared with two years ago.

Trading in hog futures showed an uneven trend again yesterday. Buyers and sellers were farther apart in their views. May offers in light weights were raised to $5.25, while bids in that month were lowered 50c to $4.50. July contracts were offered at $5.00. Heavy grades for September remained $5.00 bids.

Cattle Prices Decline.

Cattle values slipped down another notch on yesterday's draggy trade. Moderately large receipts, coupled with the fact that beef carcasses in the last two days have declined to a new low since the middle of last summer, pulled the prices of live cattle down mostly 15@25c further yesterday. There is an acute shortage of highly finished beef steers and outstanding kinds are still quotable above the $8.00 line, though none in yesterday's arrivals were good enough to sell above $7.75. Almost 100 head averaging 1,184@1,486 lbs reached that figure, and compared with a peak of $8.75 the previous Tuesday when quality was better. Offerings lately carry a large number of good quality cattle showing long feeding, but lacking high finish that sell at $6.00@7.00. Many fleshy steers are available as low as $5.00 and stock with a fair "kill" frequently sell at $4.50 and below. Only ill bred steers are quoted at $4.00 and under. Buyers were out to cut costs in butcher stock also, and most cows and heifers registered a 15@25c decline. It was difficult to get $4.00 for choice cows that sold readily up to $4.50 at the close of last week. Butcher heifers cashed at $4.00@5.00, while 697 lb yearling heifers reached $6.50. Calves slumped sharply when offerings exceeded expectations.

Spring Lambs $9.00.

The limited number of spring lambs sold at steady prices yesterday, with large local packers the principal buyers. Medium to good grades sold at $8.00@9.00, with selected light weights to individuals as high as $9.50@10.00. Buyers attempted a drive on prices of aged wool lambs early yesterday, but did not get far. Sellers stood pat until late in the day, when reports of scant supplies in sight for today brought larger houses on the market again with fully steady bids.

The clearance was made late in the day on that basis, packers paying $7.00@7.40 for good to choice grades. Shorn lambs sold at $6.65 and aged sheep at $4.25 and below. Buying of replacement stock continues to lag. Traders attribute the lack of demand to the difficulty in obtaining loans from country banks. During three weeks ended March 18 twelve markets moved only 33,170 into seven states.

BETTER RUMORS FROM CONGRESS BOOST WHEAT

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Reports that congress was making an effort to balance the budget was construed by the grain trade as a bullish factor. More attention was also given to unfavorable crop reports from the southwestern winter wheat belt. The pessimistic feeling which has prevailed for some time past showed evidence of vanishing. While the wheat market fluctuated in a most erratic manner there was a good class of commission house buying on the breaks.

Buying of wheat during the day was regarded as of a better class than the selling, and the latter was readily absorbed. An early dip in sympathy with Liverpool was followed by a closing advance which lifted prices 1⅛@1⅜c over the early low and the finish was at the top, with net gains of ⅝@¾c. March closed at 52⅛c; May, 54⅛@54½c; old July, 56¼c, and old September, 58⅜@58¾c.

Dust Storms Cause Damage.

Dust storms were reported over a wide area in western and parts of central Kansas during the day and numerous claims of damage to the new winter wheat crop were received. The trade generally believes the period has arrived when the outlook for the new crop both here and abroad will become the main influence in shaping the trend of the market. It was very noticeable during the day that there was aggressive buying on the dips, while the offerings were readily absorbed, even on the minor upturns. Outside interest showed evidence of increasing.

In commenting on the change in sentiment which has been noticable of late, Fred Uhlmann, head of the Uhlmann Grain company and who has been talking bearish for several years, said: "We think it well to consider chiefly the size of the crops and the actual conditions and forget all about the farm board. If our figures on the probable carry-over are correct there will be a total of 435,000,000 bu, of which 355,000,000 bu would be free, or almost 4½ times the amount the farm board will have."

To Pay for Free Wheat.

"This free wheat," said Mr. Uhlmann, "will have to be financed by the grain trade, banks, etc., the same as before. We believe the wheat trade has been able to hold its own financially in these distressing times when they had to compete with the farm board, while the latter was using up its appropriation of $500,000,000.

"Therefore, the grain trade will be in splendid position financially to compete with the farm board, and probably business will be done again in a legitimate, normal way which ought to be a wonderful help to the farmer.

"Possibly one year after the agricultural marketing act has been repealed we may look forward to sound conditions."

Reopening of European wheat markets after the Easter holidays failed to bring the expected keen demand for North American cash grain, and sales in all positions were reported as only moderate and mainly Manitobas. Liverpool finished ⅞@1⅛c per bu lower, with May at 54⅝c, or about 1⅝c over Chicago. Winnipeg was unsettled, but turned strong toward the last and finished ⅞@1c higher, with May at 61¼c in Canadian funds. The latter were quoted around 10 per cent discount.

An embargo against imports of wheat from Canada, Argentine, and Australia has been imposed by the Greek government. This was construed by the grain trade as holding out hope of a liberal business in domestic hard winter wheat, and there were intimations that the farm board might be able to sell around 7,000,000 bu on credit. The department of agriculture estimates supplies of wheat in the United States, Argentina, Australia, Canada, and afloat on March 1 at 900,000,000 bu, or 30,000,000 bu less than during the same period last year.

Corn in Firm Close.

The corn market showed a firm undertone a good part of the day and closed ⅝c higher, the action of wheat having considerable influence. May finished at 36⅝@36¾c; July, 39⅝@39¾c, and September, 41⅜@41½c. Country offerings to arrive increased somewhat as the result of the advance, with 3,000 bu booked to arrive. Oats finished ¼@⅜c higher with corn, with May at 23⅜@23½c and July 24¾c.

Foreigners were reported as on the buying side of rye futures and there were further claims of export business having been put through at the seaboard. Monday's sales were placed at 100,000 bu. Closing trades were at net gains of ½@⅞c, with May 46½c and July 47c.

MARCH BUTTER FIRM

March butter fell off sharply on liquidation near the opening on the Chicago mercantile exchange yesterday, but rallied to close ⅜c higher for the day. Other deliveries were unchanged. Egg futures were ½c lower, and potatoes unchanged to 4c lower. Selling was active in March butter at the start, but support developed at mid-session and the market climbed steadily to the close. The storage figures were fair, but exerted little or no influence in the most distant contracts. Egg reports again showed a very light inward movement of supplies as compared with a year ago. Stocks were moderate in October. Sales: Butter, 115 cars; eggs, 35 cars; potatoes, 15 cars. Deliveries: Butter, 16 cars. Prices follow:

A LITTLE HEDGING IN LARD

Weaker hog markets, with packers hedging their products, filled up the early demand, which seemed to be fair sized, and prices advanced in sympathy with grains. The price range, however, was small, and futures closed 2½@5c lower, the latter on May. Bellies were unchanged to nominally 2½c higher on September. Liverpool lard was 1s lower on spot and 1s 9d@2s 3d lower on futures, as compared with Thursday's prices. Hogs were in larger supply than a week ago, but materially less than last year. The market was 10@20c lower at the close. Prices follow:

NEW LOW ON COTTON

Trading in cotton was liberal, the action of the market erratic, with prices at one time sharply lower than the previous day's low, May in New York touching 6.11c. Liquidation with short selling from the south, as well as from Europe, more than offset the big buying on a scale down by professionals who were thought to be covering shorts, were the big features. The weekly trade review as a whole was not unfavorable.

Domestic mills continue selling textiles in subnormal volume, selling less goods but maintaining higher activity. French and Polish mills find yarn cloth demand broader.

There is a feeling in the trade that cotton prices are very low, but caution should be used in buying, and more attention should be given to the crop situation, which, with the reduced use of fertilizers, may result in a smaller production. The latter would be welcome owing to the supplies carried over from the previous year.

At the close futures in Chicago were 4@6 points lower and in other markets 5@9 points lower. Spots declined 10 points to 6.20c in New York, New Orleans, and Galveston, 6.15c, and Houston, 6.10c. Liverpool closed 40@41 points net lower. Prices follow:

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, March 29.—(AP)—New low records were established in the raw sugar market today under increase offerings of nearby and trade forces. Prices declined 2 points on the basis of 2.69c for spots, with sales confirmed of 43,000 bags of Porto Rican at 2.70c and 5,000 bags at 2.69c. Price changes in futures were irregular, with not much change in either direction, final prices being 1 point lower to 1 net higher. The market early was steadier on covering and some buying of distant positions by commission houses. Sales were 19,000 tons. Prices follow:

Refined sugar was unchanged, but the decline in raw seemed further to restrict buying to nearby needs. Prices were quoted at 4c for fine granulated by all refiners.

COFFEE.

NEW YORK, March 29.—(AP)—Coffee was higher today on covering stimulated by advances in Brazilian exchange and the cost and freight market. No. 7 contracts opened 2 higher and closed to a higher. Commonwealth Customers—Pay LESS-for-LOANS

$2.93 is the average Monthly Cost of a $225 loan under COMMONWEALTH'S Reduced Rate. This allows 25 months for repayment. There is no lower cost than this in Chicago.

THE personal property which nearly every family owns and the signatures of husband and wife enable one to secure any amount up to $300 quickly and easily.

NO FEES. You get full amount of the loan and up to 25 months to repay. Interest at the Reduced Rate is charged only while you keep the money.
